HOSTILE SHIPS SHELL NEWPORT

Night Attack Is Made on the Famous Summer Resort.

Two Cruisers and Three Battle Ships Run the Guns of Forts and Hold City at Their Mercy—The Battle Raged for an Hour.

Newport, R. I., September 5.—Two cruisers and three battleships of Admiral Higginson's fleet ran the guns of Forts Adams and Wetherill tonight, getting within broadside range for all their guns before they were picked up by the searchlights of the forts. The fact that the Brooklyn got to the mouth of the harbor before it was picked up by the searchlights is considered by naval men here to be a victory for the fleet.

When, afloat and ashore, the cannonading was at its height, the scene was one of grandeur. The racket woke up Newport as it was never aroused before. The gunners in the forts, after working the big guns for a few minutes, had to desert them and quickly manned the secondary batteries. The rapid firing guns made as great a din as the big ones, and if anything made the picture a livelier one. The five vessels kept in almost under Fort Adams until within short range of the torpedo station, and then they appeared to anchor. The firing stopped, and it was supposed the great battle was ended. In half an hour the ships suddenly steamed out of the harbor in the same order as coming in, the Brooklyn leading.

Broadside from Forts.

The ships did not fire a gun, but Fort Adams gave them a few broadsides, and when the Brooklyn and Olympia were abreast of Beaver Tail light Fort Greble opened for the first time tonight. The fleet escaped, if such was the idea, toward Block island.

During the battle the smaller craft were in squadron formation to seaward and did not attempt to enter the harbor. The Puritan and Indiana were not seen.

As there was not time for communication between the shore and the ships the maneuver of the fleet was mystifying. The army claims that not only would its guns have swept the ships, but its mines would have wrecked some of them in the narrow channel, so the escape would have been impossible for any that reached the harbor.

Nearly the entire fleet under Rear Admiral Higginson's command made a demonstration this afternoon against the army defenses on Narragasett Bay, but did not attempt to come into close quarters with any of the forts. A landing was effected, however, at Price's Neck, where the searchlight and range station on which the mortars at Fort Adams are sighted and fired, were put out of action for an hour. During that time the battleships Kearsarge and Alabama engaged Fort Wetherill, the cruisers Olympia and Brooklyn hammered Fort Greble in the west channel, while the battleships Massachusetts and Indiana and the Monitor Puritan destroyed a signal station at the entrance of Seakonet river. After two hours of fighting the fleet drew off shore.

The main point of the afternoon attack was at Price's Neck, the object being to put that station out of action before the mortar batteries could be fired more than once or twice. This would give the larger vessels a chance to come up and engage the regular batteries.

Task a Hard One.

The task was a hard one in any case, but today it was doubly so, for the air was like crystal and the movement of the fleet could be watched at a great distance off shore. But, under the rules, Admiral Higginson was obliged to engage the Narragansett Bay forts just as earnestly as he had those in Long Island sound and at New Bedford. The blue jackets held Price's Neck for one hour and then returned on board the Montgomery.

The training ship Newport, with a party of congressmen on board, was in the thick of the fight, but took no part.

The fleet was all the forenoon assembling about 8 miles north of Block island and when all the vessels had arrived there was a council of war on board the flagship. About 2 o'clock the ten largest vessels of the fleet separated into four squadrons and leaving the tugs out to sea, the attack was begun. The movement was spectacular and was witnessed by a large number of the social colony of Newport as well as those at Narragansett Pier.

The gunboat Peoria came in today under a flag of truce, and an officer from Fort Adams boarded her. It was said afterwards that the Peoria came in to pick up counter mines placed last night, as they were a danger to navigation. At army headquarters the placing of counter mines is declared to have been an unnecessary move, as no mines had been placed in that particular locality.

The battle tonight is considered by unofficial observers here to be a decided victory for the navy. The chief point is that the Brooklyn was able to reach the mouth of the harbor before it was picked up by a fort searchlight. It is said, with the fleet within such close range, that it had the two forts at its mercy, and to emphasize this fact it is pointed out that the gunners on Fort Adams were obliged to desert their big guns within a few minutes after the battle opened.

War Balloon on Rampage.

Point Judith, R. I., September 5.—While the war balloon was being removed from its hiding place, inland, to the station at the point today, a gust of wind struck the partially filled bag and swept it across fields and stone walls. The men who were in charge were dragged unceremoniously in its wake and a halt came only after a great hole had been torn in the canvas, letting out the gas.

It was nearly noon before the hole had been repaired and the work of filling recommenced.

War Game Is Over.

New London, Conn., September 5.—With the night attack on Fort Adams closed the warlike maneuvers in the game which has been played in the New London and Narragansett districts. The grand finals will be witnessed tomorrow afternoon, when the ships will pass in review before the forts which have been attacked, beginning at Fort Rodman and ending at Fort Terry.

Although hostilities do not cease until noon tomorrow, it was thought at the headquarters of General MacArthur tonight that the war was over and that the morning would be utilized in getting rested and ready for the review. The rules governing the maneuvers have been so changed that there will be no exchange of salutes as the ships pass by Forts Rodman, Wetherill, Greble, Mansard, Wright, Michie and Terry. The review will end off New London harbor and it is quite likely that most of the vessels will remain in this vicinity for several days.

General MacArthur and Admiral Higginson will probably exchange courtesies either before or after the review, and tonight it was understood that the ceremony would take place at New London.

ROOSEVELT SPEEDS TO THE SOUTHLAND

President Leaves Washington for His Visit to Chattanooga and Other Points--He Is Still Looking a Little Disfigured.

Washington, September 5.—Smilingly bowing in acknowledgment of the enthusiastic and prolonged cheering of an assemblage that fairly crowded the Baltimore and Ohio station here, President Roosevelt tonight began his southern tour with Chattanooga, Tenn., as the objective point.

The president was in the city exactly one hour and twenty minutes. He arrived over the Pennsylvania road at 6:12 o'clock this evening on a special train of two cars made up at Philadelphia this afternoon during the stop there en route from Oyster Bay. Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock, Chief Wilkie, of the secret service; Assistant Secretary to the President Barnes and a number of other officials and white house attaches met him at the station. The president appeared a little disfigured as a result of the Pittsfield accident, but apparently had quite recovered from the shock. He stopped to shake hands with those who pressed about him to congratulate him on his escape. "Poor Craig," he frequently repeated in expressing his thanks to his well-wishers.

Through Cordon of Police.

Through a cordon of police the president was escorted to carriages in waiting and was quickly driven to the Baltimore and Ohio station. Secretary Hitchcock, Commander Cowles, the president's brother in law and Secretary Cortelyou rode in the carriage with him.

The special train of seven handsomely equipped coaches was in readiness and the president immediately entered his car, merely lifting his hat in response to the greeting from the crowd. He spent most of the time before his departure in conversation with Civil Service Commissioner Garfield, and with others who entered the car to meet him.

To a number he described the accident at Pittsfield. He said it was not the first time he had had so providential an escape and referred to an accident in the battle of San Juan, when gun shots struck down two men close beside him. The president told the Pittsfield story to the group in the car with feeling and emphasized it with gestures. He said he felt in normal condition again.

The train was just two minutes late when it pulled out of the Baltimore and Ohio station at 7:32. It was in charge of Pullman Conductor W. M. Johnson, who has been assigned to the presidential specials for a long time past. The personnel of the president's party is the same as that on his New England trip, except for the addition of B. Hege, the general agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and Colonel J. S. Brown, the general agent of the Southern railway. The president took dinner on the train shortly after his departure.

Trip Will Be Hurried.

The Southern trip will be a somewhat hurried one, and no stops will be made at points other than those announced in the itinerary already published, namely, Wheeling, W. Va.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Knoxville, Tenn., and Asheville, N. C. The immediate object of the president is to attend the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, in whose work he always has shown a deep interest.

The train will reach Wheeling tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock, and will arrive at Chattanooga the same hour Sunday morning.

Sunday will be spent at Chattanooga quietly and without public programme. The party will visit the battle grounds during the day and the president will attend church in the evening. He will attend the firemen's convention Monday morning.

The president and party will reach Washington on the return trip over the Southern railway at 6:20 o'clock on the morning of September 10 and will leave half an hour later in a private car attached to a regular train over the Pennsylvania railroad for Jersey City, en route to Oyster Bay.

In a statement issued by the white house today it was announced that the local committees of the four cities at which stops are scheduled on the southern trip will be received at the places they represent, the limited accommodations of the train rendering it impracticable to take them on board in advance.

Roosevelt in Maryland.

Cumberland, Md., September 5.—The president's train arrived at Cumberland at 11:25 p. m. Notwithstanding the late hour, a large crowd had gathered at the station, but the president had retired. The run from Washington was uneventful.

At several of the stations along the route crowds had assembled, who cheered as the train passed. At Washington junction, where the train stopped a few minutes for water, quite a crowd had gathered, and at Martinsburg, which was reached at 9:30 o'clock, there was a large turn-out of people. In response to their cheers the president appeared on the rear platform of his car and bowed.

Firemen Are Gathering.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 5.—The local committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen received a telegram this morning from T. V. Powderly stating that he will arrive here Sunday morning to attend the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. It is estimated that the attendance will be over 700 delegates and from 200 to 300 friends of the order. The special train conveying the main body of delegates from the north and east will arrive here Sunday morning. The entire forenoon of Monday will be devoted to the entertainment of President Roosevelt and the business session of the convention will begin Monday afternoon.

President Carefully Guarded.

New York, September 5.—The president left Jersey City at 1:14 p. m. for Washington. Chief of Police Murphy, of Jersey City, and forty uniformed men, besides a score of detectives, were on duty at the ferry house and railroad station, and a careful guard was kept over the president until his train departed.

Before boarding the train Mr. Roosevelt shook hands with the station master. In response to the latter's inquiries, the president said he was feeling quite well. Secretary Cortelyou said he was feeling fairly well and had about recovered from the effects of Wednesday's accident.

King Edward to President.

Oyster Bay, L. I., September 5.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Kermit Roosevelt left Oyster Bay for Jersey City this morning on the Sylph. Mrs. Roosevelt and Kermit were bound for New York.

President Roosevelt has received from King Edward, of England, the following message:

"London, September 5, 1902.—To the President of the United States: The news of the accident caused me the deepest concern. I earnestly trust to receive further assurance that it has not resulted in serious consequences to yourself.

"EDWARD, R. and I."

Additional messages of congratulation from abroad to the president are as follows:

"Yildiz, September 4.—His Excellency, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States: I have learned with great sorrow of the automobile accident that has befallen you. Happily, the accident has been attended with no serious consequence to your excellency. I express to you my delight and congratulations therefor. ABDUL HAMID."

"Villa Vloosa, September 4.—The President of the United States: Have just heard of accident. I express to you my full sympathy and most sincere wishes for your complete recovery.

"KING OF PORTUGAL."

"Guatemala, September 4.—President of the United States, Washington: I regret the accident and am glad that it was not grave. M. ESTRADA C."

Cuba Congratulates Roosevelt.

Havana, September 5.—The house of representatives has sent the following telegraphic message to President Roosevelt:

"The house expresses the satisfaction which it feels that the life of the illustrious combatant of the hills of Santiago and the generous defender of reciprocity and the prosperity of Cuba has been saved from the great danger which threatened it. PELAYO GARC

REMEDY AT HAND SAYS ROOSEVELT

President Discusses the Great Strike in Anthracite Regions.

Grieved Beyond Measure by Trouble, and Says the Republican Leaders of Pennsylvania Can Effect Settlement—Will Not Interfere.

Philadelphia, September 5.—The Record tomorrow will print an interview on the coal strike with President Roosevelt, who passed through this city today on his way to Washington. The president is quoted as follows:

"I am grieved beyond measure at the difficulty in Pennsylvania and other coal producing states over the wage and kindred questions."

"What remedy is at hand?" he was asked.

"There is a remedy," said the president.

"Do you mean that the government of the United States can interfere, other than a law preserving body?"

"No," replied the president, emphatically.

"What can be done?" was then asked.

"I would refer you to the men at the head of the republican party who are in control of affairs in Pennsylvania. I am sure that their conservative opinion of the difficulties rampant will ultimately result in an amicable settlement of this great question. Of course, politics does not enter into the mining problem, yet I sincerely hope that the republican principles, which are framed alike for high and low, will level the problem to an equity."

RIOT AND MOB VIOLENCE IN ANTHRACITE REGION

Harrisburg, Pa., September 5.—The following general order was issued this afternoon from headquarters of the national guard of Pennsylvania:

"The sheriff of Carbon county having advised the governor of his inability to preserve order and to protect life and property, and the governor being satisfied, upon investigation, that tumult, riot and mob violence does exist, the major general commanding the division, national guard of Pennsylvania, will make such disposition of the troops now on duty in Schuylkill county, or will place such additional troops on duty as in his judgment is necessary to properly assist the sheriff of Carbon county in restoring and maintaining peace and order."

The non-union men in the Panther Creek valley again went to work today without an escort. Major Gearhart, in command of the troops, says that so long as the strikers do not interfere with the non-union men he will not send any of his soldiers out on patrol duty.

TWENTY THOUSAND MEN STILL OUT IN VIRGINIA

Wilkesbarre, Pa., September 5.—T. L. Lewis, vice president of the United Mine Workers, arrived here tonight from Virginia and had a conference with President Mitchell. He will return south tomorrow. Mr. Mitchell said Mr. Lewis' visit was with reference to the strike in Virginia.

President Mitchell says 700 men are affected by the settlement of the strike in the Pocahontas region. They were granted a semi-monthly pay day, which the chief officer of the United Mine Workers thinks is a very important concession. About 20,000 miners are still out in the Kanawha, New River and Fairmont districts.

So far as the anthracite region is concerned, President Mitchell says there is no change in the situation. The district officers continue to report that the strikers are remaining firm. At the offices of the coal companies it is claimed that the number of applicants for work is increasing every day, and that the output from the washeries and mines in operation this week will be the largest since the strike began.

Men Flocking to Mines.

Bramwell, W. Va., September 5.—Many of the miners who have been on a strike in the Flat Top and Elkhorn coal fields appeared at the mines this morning ready for work, stating that they did not care to wait until Monday, the day agreed upon to begin. Probably 1,000 men went to work today. The Norfolk and Western is fast ordering out its equipment for a dozen or more train crews, which have been idle since June, will go out on regular runs tomorrow. A report has reached here from a reliable source that the strike on both the New and Kanawha rivers will be over by Monday, the basis of settlement being the same as that agreed on by Norfolk and Western miners at Keystone yesterday.

The fire of the West Pocahontas mines continues, but the three connecting mines on the West Virginia side are not seriously damaged and will be operated when the strikers resume work next Monday. The entrance from the Virginia side, however, is still the scene of active work in the endeavor to subdue the conflagration.

Strikers Are Weakening.

Charleston, W. Va., September 5.—The news that the strike in the Pocahontas region has been declared off is having big effect in the Kanawha and New River fields. Information that there will be no "black list" will go a long way toward weakening the strike here.

Adjutant General Baker reported to Governor White this morning from Elkhorn that the strike is over there and all colleries are employing all the old men who apply for work.

Change in Management.

Roanoke, Va., September 5.—A change is announced in the management of the Pocahontas colleries company, which owns and operates the coal mines at Pocahontas, the largest coal and coking plant in the Flat Top field, including the Baby mine, West mine, Silver Ridge and Nos. 1 and 2 East mines. The company is also operating 8,500 acres of coal lands and running 600 coke ovens. By the change W. B. Campbell is succeeded as president by Charles S. Thorne. The head offices will be in Philadelphia. The new owners of the company are mostly New Yorkers.

House Wrecked by Mob.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., September 5.—The house of Lawrence Tarwoski, a non-union mine worker at Hudson, 6 miles south of this city, was wrecked by a mob tonight. Every window in the house was broken. Tarwoski was not at home at the time and his wife fled in terror from the place. The strikers at Hudson engaged in a march tonight and carried a number of banners, on which were inscriptions threatening non-union men who are at work at the mines.

JUDGE GOBER IS CHOSEN FOR THE SUPREME BENCH

JUDGE GEORGE F. GOBER, OF THE BLUE RIDGE CIRCUIT, Who Was Yesterday Appointed Justice of the Supreme Court Pending the Election of a Success or to Justice Hal T. Lewis.

Was Named Last Night To Succeed Justice Hal T. Lewis.

HON HIRAM P. BELL MAY SUCCEED JUDGE GOBER

Race for the Long Term Has Now Narrowed Down to Candler and Hammond—Chairman Brown Calls Meeting of Executive Committee.

Governor Candler last night appointed Judge George F. Gober, of Marietta, to succeed Judge Hal T. Lewis on the supreme bench.

Although the appointment was deferred until last night, Governor Candler had practically decided on it earlier in the day and to those who stand closest to him it does not come in the nature of surprise.

While at no time did Judge Gober state openly that he was a candidate for the appointment, his friends have been in close communication with Governor Candler ever since it was first learned that Judge Hal Lewis would resign, and they have urged that he be named.

Governor Candler had repeatedly stated that he would not name any one for the ad interim term who was a candidate for election before the people. The general impression seemed to prevail for some days that Judge Gober would make the race, and on this account he was thought to have been eliminated from consideration for appointment. Early yesterday morning, however, Judge Gober called on Governor Candler by special appointment and stated emphatically that he was not a candidate before the people and would not be. This statement removed any doubt that Governor Candler may have had and the appointment was practically decided on at that time.

In the event of Judge Gober's acceptance of the appointment his resignation from the judgeship of the Blue Ridge circuit will leave a vacancy to be filled. He was nominated for another term of four years at the last primary and would have been elected on October 1.

Senator Hiram P. Bell, of Forsyth county, senator from the thirty-ninth district, is prominently spoken of as Judge Gober's successor and there is a consensus of opinion that he will be appointed. Any appointment at this time would be for two years, or until the next state election.

Sketch of Judge Gober.

Judge George F. Gober, of Marietta, is one of the best known lawyers and judges at the Georgia bar and for over twenty years has been prominently before the public in various official capacities. He was graduated at the University of Georgia in 1875 and immediately began the practice of law in Marietta. Shortly after being admitted to the bar he was elected solicitor general of the Blue Ridge circuit and served in that capacity with credit and distinction for twelve years. Eight years ago he was elected judge of the superior court of the Blue Ridge circuit and at the recent primary was re-elected for another term of four years.

Were Many Candidates.

Although the ad interim term to which Judge Gober was last night appointed is but very brief, being not quite two months, the honor was coveted by many prominent lawyers throughout the state, either for themselves or for their friends. There was a mass of available timber from which to select, and the governor

BOERS ON TRAIL OF WEB DAVIS

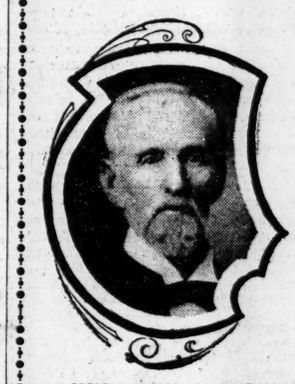

They Demand That He Contribute $50,000 to Relief Fund for Stricken.

ALLEGED THAT KRUGER PAID TO DAVIS $250,000

Baron Ginzberg, Claiming To Be Agent of the Boers, Creates a Scene at the Home of Davis in Kansas City.

Kansas City, September 5.—(Special.)—A man who claims to be Baron Henry Luckenblat DeGinzberg and who says he was the former chief of the Boer secret police has created quite a scene at the home of Webster Davis, former third assistant secretary of the interior, by demanding a subscription of $50,000 to the relief fund for stricken Boers. Mr. Davis refused to contribute and ordered the man from his home.

Baron DeGinzberg has been holding street meetings at which he made the charge that in 1900 Mr. Davis had received £49,000 sterling from the Boer government for his influence and he now threatens to make public documents proving the charge unless Mr. Davis produces the fund. Mr. Davis denounces the statement as false.

HON. HIRAM P. BELL, Senator from the Thirty-ninth District, Who, It Is Expected, Will Be Appointed Judge of the Blue Ridge Circuit to Succeed Judge Gober.

OIL AS FUFL FOR STAMERS.

Report Made to Navy Department by Lieutenant Winchell.

Washington, September 5.—The report of Lieutenant Ward Winchell, United States navy, the expert detailed by the navy department to observe the installation and efficiency of the oil fuel system as fitted to the Oceanic Steamship Company's Mariposa, has been received at the navy department. The report contains matters of great value to the shipping and naval world.

The report says the Mariposa's gross displacement was 3,160 tons and her average horsepower with oil about 2,481, giving her a daily average of 354 knots and a mean speed of 13.58, with 278 barrels of oil per day. This was 50 per cent less in weight than would be required of coal, for 1 1-2 pounds of oil sufficed to produce a horsepower. An important advantage in the oil fuel was the reduction of the engine room force from thirty-six to twenty men.

The ship used only twelve of her eighteen furnaces, burning crude oil in two burners in each furnace by means of an air compressor of a capacity of 1,000 cubic feet per minute at 30 pounds' pressure. All of the burners were not used except at short intervals.

NUMBER OF BANKS INCREASES

About One Thousand Organized in Last Two Years.

Washington, September 5.—A statement prepared by the comptroller of the currency shows that from March 14, 1900, to August 31, 1902, 1,141 national banks, with aggregate capital stock of $65,534,500, were organized.

The number of active banks has increased from 3,617 on March 14, 1900, to 4,616 on August 31, 1902; authorized capital stock from $616,308,095 to $707,774,695; bonds on deposit as security for circulation from $244,611,570 to $322,941,680, and bond secured circulation from $216,374,795 to $319,407,586.

NO MORE LIGHTNING RUNS.

Pittsfield Will Regulate Speed of Trolley Cars.

Pittsfield, Mass., September 5.—The accident to the presidential party has resulted in the board of aldermen of Pittsfield and the select men of the several towns connected with this city by trolley coming together to discuss the matter of the rate of speed at which trolley cars shall be run. The aldermen tonight adopted an order regulating the rate of speed at which cars may be run in the city.

The city council adopted a resolution deploring the accident.

MAN TO BE SOLD ON THE BLOCK

Kentucky Negro Is Ordered Into Servitude by Decree of Court.

Shelbyville, Ky., September 5.—Fisher Million, a negro who was indicted in 1901 for vagrancy, and who has been at large since, has been captured in Lawrenceburg and tried before Judge Davis in the county court. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at being sold into servitude for a period of twelve months, the highest penalty. He will be put on the block and sold into servitude by the sheriff if a purchaser can be found. The officials hardly know what to do in the event of no sale.

LITTLE TEDDY SCATTERS SHOT

Gun Goes Off Accidentally and Member of Party Narrowly Escapes Death.

Redfield, S. Dak., September 5.—(Special.)—The pleasure of the hunting party of Northwestern railway officials, of which Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., is a member, came near being marred by a serious accident yesterday.

A gun in the hands of young Roosevelt was accidentally discharged and a part of the charge pierced the clothing of A. C. Johnson, general traffic manager for Minnesota and the Dakotas, and tore away his coat on the left side. Fortunately none of the shot penetrated the skin and the affair did not interrupt the hunting.

BOIES IS GOING FOR HENDERSON

Democratic War Horse Will Run Against Speaker for Congress.

Des Moines, Ia., September 5.—A special from Waterloo states that members of the congressional committee and local leaders of the party announced today that former Governor Horace Boies will be nominated for congress against Speaker Henderson at the third district democratic convention at Dubuque next Thursday.

It had been expected that his son, Louis Boies, would be named, but the latter declined because of professional engagements, and the leaders turned to the former governor, who showed his vigor and ability as a leader at the recent state convention, where he led the fight against the reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform.

NEW DEFENDER FOR THE CUP.

New York Yacht Club Is Negotiating with Herreschoff.

Bristol, R. I., September 5.—The members of the New York Yacht Club have opened negotiations with the Herreschoffs with the purpose of placing an order for a defender of the America's cup. One conference between John Herreschoff and representatives of the syndicate being formed with J. Pierpont Morgan at the head has been held and another meeting is planned for New York in a few days. It is learned that the new craft will have speed in excess of either the Columbia or Constitution. There is already considerable activity about the Herreschoff shops. New buildings are soon to be constructed, one of which is to be used as a bending room where the frames of the new boat will be shaped. From this shop it is intended to erect a covered passage through which the frames are to be conveyed to the boat shops across the street.

GOBER TO GET SHORT TERM

Hon. Hiram P. Bell Will Probably be Appointed To Succeed Him.

APPOINTMENT IS FOR TERM OF TWO YEARS

Executive Committee Will Meet Next Monday To Consider the Advisability of Holding a Primary Before the October Election.

was besieged on all sides to appoint various men.

On Thursday night a large delegation from Macon visited him in the interests of Hon. Washington Dessau. The committee was acting for the Macon bar, which had put forward Mr. Dessau's name without his knowledge, so it is learned.

Pressure was also brought to bear to secure the appointment of Hon. Joseph R. Lamar, of Augusta, but he declined to allow the use of his name. A delegation was expected last night from Rome, but at a late hour Governor Candler was telephoned that the matter had been reconsidered and no candidate would be suggested.

Lamar Will Not Run.

It is now certain that Hon. Joseph R. Lamar, of Augusta, will not run for the long term. He telephoned Judge Candler yesterday afternoon from Augusta that he had never authorized the use of his name in that connection and would not do so under any circumstances. He stated that he would support Judge Candler for the place and would do all in his power to secure his election.

This leaves but two avowed candidates in the field—Judge John S. Candler and Judge William R. Hammond. Others may enter the field in the next few days, but thus far they are the only ones who have openly announced.

Judge Candler wishes to correct any impression which may have gotten out that he was a candidate for the ad interim term. He stated yesterday afternoon that he had never at any time been a candidate and would not have been under any circumstances.

MEETING CALLED BY BROWN.

Executive Committee Will Meet Monday To Pass on Question of Primary.

The question of holding a primary to nominate a candidate for the supreme bench will be decided at a special meeting of the democratic executive committee which will be held at the Kimball house at 12 o'clock.

On yesterday Chairman Edward T. Brown issued the following call for the meeting:

"Atlanta, Ga., September 5, 1902.—A vacancy having occurred in the supreme court of this state by the resignation of Associate Justice Henry T. Lewis, a meeting of the state democratic executive committee is hereby called for the purpose of considering the method by which a democratic candidate shall be nominated to fill said vacancy, and also for considering any other business which may properly be brought before the committee.

"The committee will convene at the Kimball house, in the city of Atlanta, at 12 o'clock, on Monday, the 8th day of September, 1902. E. T. BROWN,

"Chairman State Democratic Executive Committee."

Just what the committee will decide on is problematical. There are thirty-nine members, and their views are apparently split up between a nomination by the committee, a primary and letting the matter go direct to the general election.

The chief objection to the primary that is being urged is the expense which it would entail. Those who oppose the primary do not place any faith in the idea of a populist or republican candidate.

JUDGE LEWIS IS VERY ILL.

His Condition Was Yesterday Reported as Very Much Worse. He Is at Greensboro.

It was yesterday currently reported that Judge Hal Lewis' health had been rapidly declining for the past several days, and that grave fears were entertained by the attending physicians that he could not recover. No direct word was received from Greensboro, but those who are familiar with Judge Lewis' condition are inclined to give credence to the report.

It's School Shoe Time.

SCHEME TO BLACKMAIL GREAT STEEL COMBINE

Lawyers for Trust Declare That Suit To Prevent Issue of Bonds Is a Blackmailing Scheme and a Conspiracy.

Newark, N. J., September 5.—Vice Chancellor Emery gave a hearing today in the suit brought by J. Aspinwall Hodge and others for an injunction to restrain the United States Steel Corporation from carrying out its plan to retire $200,000,000 of preferred stock and to issue $250,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds.

R. V. Lindabury, of counsel for the defendant, moved for an order directing the complainants to come into court to be cross-examined as to what prompted them to bring the suit, as to who was back of it, and as to the motive of the suit, and to be cross-examined on questions touching their stock holdings.

Mr. Lindabury also moved for an order to have the case stricken from the records of the court as an imposition. He declared that he and his associate counsel, William D. Guthrie and Charles H. Corbin, were prepared to show by their own affidavits that the suit was a blackmailing scheme and a conspiracy, with David H. Lamar as chief conspirator.

Mr. Lindabury then presented an affidavit of Joseph E. Corrigan, a clerk in the office of Guthrie, Cravath & Henderson, reporting a conversation he had with James H. Lancaster, who had made an affidavit when the suit was brought in regard to the valuation of the steel plants. Lancaster, Corrigan averred, told him that he had received $100 for the affidavit, not knowing it was to be used in the suit against the steel corporation. According to Corrigan, Lancaster claimed that Lamar told him that he would pay him $250 per week to keep quiet, and $10,000 when the suit should be settled, not later than November 1, 1902.

R. H. McCarter, in replying to Mr. Lindabury, characterized the strictures regarding the good faith of the complainants as unwarranted and uncalled for. He then read an affidavit by James H. Lancaster, filed August 29, in which denial was made of the allegations in the Corrigan affidavit.

Vice Chancellor Emery withheld decision until next Tuesday.

SEEKING TRADE OF THE WORLD

American Manufacturers To Send Ship Loaded with Goods on Tour.

Seattle, Wash., September 5.—A large ocean-going steamer, the Oregon, is now being fitted up here for the purpose of taking a party of American manufacturers with exhibits on a six months' cruise, commencing November 15, to Russia, China, Japan, the Philippines, the Straits settlements, India, Mauritius, South Africa, Australia and the Hawaiian islands.

This, it is said, will be the forerunner of greater expansion to America's commerce, being a unique and practical opportunity for buyers and sellers to become personally acquainted and discuss the exhibits and methods of packing and preparing goods for the various markets and establishing agencies, effecting sales and ascertaining the financial responsibility of interested parties.

The United States consuls invariably report that personal solicitations and samples are absolutely necessary to bring about an expansion of business. In this floating exposition American manufacturers will have all classes as buyers, from the coast, from the cities as well as the interior, brought to view the latest up-to-date ideas as well as native merchants and exporters desirous of selling their products and raw materials.

The exposition is under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, boards of trade, manufacturers' associations and the consulates of the various points visited and committees will discuss methods for the betterment of trade relations between the United States and the other countries.

KELLER IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

By the Association of National Letter Carriers.

Denver, Colo., September 5.—The National Letter Carriers' Association elected officers today and chose Syracuse, N. Y., as the next meeting place. President J. C. Keller, of Cleveland, Ohio, was reelected, as was also Secretary E. J. Cantwell.

Resolutions were adopted indorsing the salary bill now pending before congress; indorsing every union label, and appropriating $300 for the aid of the striking anthracite coal miners.

Riot Speech in Croatia.

London, September 6.—A dispatch to The Daily Chronicle from Vienna says the anti-Servian disturbances are spreading over Croatia, but that the movement has been deprived of its seriousness and is soon expected to collapse. An encounter with the police has occurred at Sissek, Croatia-Slavonia, in which two persons were killed and several injured.

STICK TO BRYAN AND OLD PLANKS

Democrats of Idaho Indorse Nebraskan and the Kansas City Platform.

Pocatello, Idaho, September 5.—The democratic state convention today nominated Joseph H. Hutchinson for congress. The convention adopted a platform which indorses the Kansas City platform and William J. Bryan; deplores the assassination of President McKinley; opposes anarchy; condemns the republicans for failure to enforce the federal anti-trust laws; opposes the Fowler currency and banking bills; opposes government by injunction; favors government ownership of railroads, telegraphs and telephone lines; favors the initiative and referendum and favors the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

The convention tonight nominated the following ticket:

For governor, Frank W. Hunt.
For lieutenant governor, John Adams.
For supreme judge, F. F. Fogg.
For secretary of state, C. J. Bessett.
For auditor, John C. Callahan.
For treasurer, E. P. Coltman.
For attorney general, F. C. Culver.
For superintendent of public instruction, Miss Permeal French.

LYNCHERS CHEAT HANGMAN.

Kill a Man in Wyoming on Eve of His Execution.

Omaha, Nebr., September 5.—A Kemmerer, Wyo., special says it is reported there that John J. Keffer, the condemned murderer, who was to have been executed today, but who obtained a stay of execution, was taken from the jail at Lander and lynched tonight. No confirmation can be obtained because of the distance between the two points.

RAVAGES OF THE MISSOURI.

Fleet of Government Barges Trying To Stay River.

St. Joseph, Mo., September 5.—The ravages of the Missouri river just north of this city on large tracts of fertile bottom lands has reached such an alarming stage that a fleet of government steamers and barges has been brought into requisition for immediate action. A sand bar is forming rapidly in such a manner that the main channel of the Missouri river will eventually cut a new channel, leaving St. Joseph and a steel railway bridge, costing $500,000, high and dry.

IRISHMEN WILL MAKE PROTEST

Great Anti-British Meeting To Be Held in Dublin.

Dublin, September 5.—At the public meeting held here today, convened by the lord mayor of Dublin to protest against the recent proclamation of the crimes act in five Irish counties, it was resolved to hold a demonstration in Phoenix park September 14. The voting of this resolution was received with shouts of "We shall be bludgeoned, as in 1891."

John Redmond, leader of the Irish party in the house of commons, and chairman of the United Irish League, denounced the proclamation of the crimes act as a gross and wicked outrage issued at the whim of a despot and a gang of absentee landlords.

PUTTING LEAD IN MARRIOTT,

Beale and Williams Are Arraigned at San Francisco.

San Francisco, September 5.—When the case of Truxton Beale and Thomas Williams, charged with attempting to murder Frank Marriott, publisher of The News-Letter, for printing an article in that journal reflecting on the character of a young woman of this city, was called today, counsel for Mr. Marriott addressed the court, stating the condition of his client was such as to prevent him from appearing in the case at this time and asking a continuance until Thursday next. The motion was granted.

Mr. Marriott's physicians are very hopeful for the recovery of their patient.

Trust Company Declares Dividends.

New York, September 5.—The Mexican Trust Company bank has declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent out of its earnings for the quarter and has carried forward 2 per cent as undivided profits. The statement of condition submitted to the directors showed the bank's net earnings to have been equivalent to 4 per cent on its stock since July 1. The Mexican Trust Company bank has a paid in capital of $4,000,000, and the earnings were on that amount.

BIG TAX STEAL IS UNEARTHED

Conspiracy Discovered To Mulct Chicago Out of Thousands.

TRUE BILLS ARE FOUND AGAINST FOUR PERSONS

Alleged That Officers of the Masonic Temple Engineered the Conspiracy and That Forgery Was Practiced—Bribes for County Officials.

Chicago, September 5.—Indictments were returned in Judge Chatalain's court today against four men implicated in the Masonic Temple Association tax fixing scandal, which has taken up the time of a special grand jury all week, and which county officials believe will result in unearthing a conspiracy to mulct the county out of hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxes annually. The men against whom true bills were returned are:

Luke Wheeler, charged with forgery and conspiracy to defraud.

Captain Edward Williams, manager of the Masonic temple, charged with uttering a forged instrument and with conspiracy.

James B. Foy, conspiracy to defraud.

John L. Hay, Jr., conspiracy to defraud the county.

According to the testimony given before the grand jury, it is supposed that Wheeler was the leader in the alleged conspiracy. Some time ago it was discovered that an entry of "paid" had been forged opposite an item of nearly $27,000 on the tax warrant book of the county treasurer.

Michael G. Walsh gave testimony before the grand jury to the effect that the Temple association wished to issue several hundred thousand dollars' worth of new bonds to improve its financial condition, but that because the building had been sold once before for taxes the trust companies would not float the bonds unless the property was free from liens. It is alleged that bribes were offered to county employees to make the forged entry and that Luke Wheeler was the go-between. Wheeler at present is missing.

Captain Williams was arrested last Saturday and gave bond for $5,000 for his appearance. The grand jury, in connection with the Masonic temple case, has investigated a number of alleged forged notes put out by Wheeler purporting to come from influential business firms of this city. Testimony before the investigating board was to the effect that Wheeler had said he received the notes for "taking care" of property interests before the state board of equalization when that body made tax assessments.

MOR ETROUBLE FOR NEELY.

Attempt Will Be Made To Make Him Disgorge.

New York, September 5.—Edward K. Jones, special assistant attorney general engaged by the United States to conduct proceedings against Charles F. W. Neely and other officials and employees of the United States government, is quoted today to the effect that the representations by Neely that the Cuban government has decided to abandon its claims for the recovery of the moneys charges to have been embezzled, was entirely erroneous.

Mr. Jones furthermore said that, on the contrary, the Cuban government, in conjunction with the government of the United States, intended to proceed with the most active measures against Neely to compel restitution of the funds that the amnesty guaranteed by the Cuban government related only the criminal offense, and relieved Neely merely of the consequences of his conviction and did not in any way affect his liability to restore the funds.

Mississippi's New Capitol.

Jackson, Miss., September 5.—(Special.) The Mississippi capitol commission met in regular monthly session today and allowed the estimate for work performed on the new million-dollar capitol building during the month of August, amounting to about $30,000. At the present rate of progress the new state house will be ready for occupancy about the 1st of next March. The commission has not yet taken up the question of arranging for the corner stone ceremony, and it is not likely that the building will be dedicated until it is occupied by the officials.

She Was from Rutledge.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—A press dispatch from Ardmore, Ind. T., says an unknown woman, supposed to be Miss Barbara Bates, of Knoxville, was found dead beside a Missouri, Kansas and Texas track near Caney, Ind. T., a few days ago. Investigation here reveals that such a woman left Rutledge, Grainger county, Tennessee, recently to go to Texas, and it is presumed the Miss Bates found is the Rutledge party. It is expected that the remains will be shipped back to east Tennessee.

Iglesias Is Liberated.

San Juan, P. R., September 5.—The libel case against Santiago Iglesias, president of the Federation of Workmen of Porto Rico, which resulted from his pamphlet criticising and attacking the insular authorities, has been pigeon-holed and Iglesias liberated.

SIBERIA VERY RICH IN ALL MINERALS

By David A. Ruffman.

THE Yakutsk territory is rich in gold, silver ore, iron, lead, graphite, coal, and soda, but the statistics of the explorations and workings of that territory are very meager. The gold mining is chiefly carried on along the rivers Vitim and Olekma and their tributaries. In 1899 there were 91 claims in work, while in 1898 there were 108; the yield of gold (placer) was 560 poods, or 294,000 ounces, which is 114 poods, or 59,580 ounces, less than in 1898.

The mineral wealth of the Amur territory (eastern Siberia) is of a various character; there is alluvial and quartz gold, silver-lead ore, iron, coal, marble, white and green clay, amethysts, and other minerals. With regard to exact details of all these minerals, except gold, there is not much to be said at present, for very little has been done yet by either private individuals or the government in the way of explorations. One cannot help remarking that the mining industry of the Amur territory suffers not only from the lack of capital and energetic prospecting, but also from the scarcity of technical men.

Iron and Coal.

Coal of very good quality has been found along the Amur river, between the river Aldai and the post station Tchernaievo, also along the Zeya and Bureya rivers, tributaries of the Amur, but so far nobody has begun to work these mines; perhaps because wood is so cheap. Near the source of the Zeya, silver lead ore is deposited, while along the Amur (near the station Ermakova) beautiful gray and white marble has been found. Good authorities have calculated that there are some twenty million poods of iron in the Samara valley alone (Amur territory), not to speak of the rich coal beds near Nikolaievsk, in the gulf of St. Olga and the gulf of St. Vladimir, where, however, nobody has yet done anything to open up that industry. Only gold seems to attract attention, which is proved by the fact that, since 1868, when gold mining was commenced in the Amur territory, the industry has grown to such an extent in that country that it ranks second among all gold-producing territories of the Russian empire. Between 1868 and 1892 the Amur territory produced more than 6,500 poods, or 3,412,500 ounces of gold, and for the years 1896, 1897 and 1898 1,154 poods, or 605,850 ounces. The mines are all placer.

"The Republic of Zheltuga."

In former years the richness of the Amur territory in gold, the absence of railways, the impenetrability of the Amur forests, and the presence of a very limited number of officials and authorities there naturally made the country very attractive to a good many ramblers and rovers, who occupied themselves in rapaciously working the gold mines. These rovers are called in Siberia "chishniki" (ravishers or robbers), but they object to this title, and style themselves as "volnyie starateli" (free endeavorers). It can easily be understood how the mines were worked by these "free endeavorers;" needless to say that they only picked out the best spots and richest gravels, leaving behind tailings that could be worked to great advantage by proper management. These "free endeavorers" very often worked in parties of seven or fourteen men, but sometimes their number would increase to such an extent that they formed a whole company, more or less organized, on the basis of "rules" and "statutes" drawn up by themselves. One of these national companies, under the so-called title of Republic of Zheltuga, was the most daring undertaking in the history of Siberian gold mining. This company of "free endeavorers" got hold of some very rich gold claims on the Zheltuga, a tributary of the Amur, on the right bank, belonging to China. This company consisted of subjects without a passport—convicts who had escaped from prison, exiles of all ranks, and Chinamen. Among the exiles were people who formerly held positions of importance, but here they worked shoulder to shoulder with an escaped convict or a yellow Chinaman-coolie. All told, they numbered 4,000 men and divided the company into three sections, one consisting of escaped convicts, the second of free exiles, and the third of Chinamen; each section was managed by a "secretary," and all were under the chief administration of a "president." Their statutes were short, but severe. In 1885, for instance, those who had a word in the matter sentenced five escaped convicts—members of the company—to be hanged for killing a party of explorers; only two were executed, while the other three were pardoned, but they were to received 1,000 strokes instead! The more enlightened "citizens" of the republic, however, petitioned the "president" to reduce the sentence to 500 strokes, which request was complied with; but the fate of the guilty "gentlemen" is not known. Very likely they died, for after the strokes of the Zheltuga Republic very few remained alive.

And Its End.

During two years of existence the republic of Zheltuga got 500 poods, or 362,500 ounces, of gold, of which they had nothing left at the end of that term, nor has one of the members of that company improved his position, for the simple reason that the money (in gold) was given to those who sold victuals at the mines. The prices were enormous: For biscuits, for instance, 18 roubles (£1.16s.) per pood (36 pounds) were paid. If the republic had had the chance perhaps it would have regulated affairs later on, the same as they did in former days in California and Australia, where the gold mining was in the hands of convicts and adventurers. Nevertheless both in California and Australia things took a favorable turn, and in the end there was glory for everybody; but in "Siberian California" it was different. The Chinese government, on finding out that a company of rovers was working on its territory, without any right or permission, simply sent an army with instructions to destroy the republic of Zheltuga, which orders were promptly executed, and so an end was made to that company of "free endeavorers."

A Model Mining Camp.

Several years after the Zheltuga republic, a new rich find was made by the "chisniki" on the river Gilljui, tributary of the Zeya, where some rich gold was discovered and quickly a new company of "free endeavorers" was formed in 1896 for working the claims, which they christened by the name of Free Creek. The workings and results developed daily on Free Creek, and to such an extent that they established there hotels, markets, shops, baths and gambling houses, not to speak of public houses. Disputes, thefts and fights were hardly heard of, for the regulations were strict. Offenders were to receive so many strokes and to be expelled from the company forever. The chief of the company (with his assistants) had the administration of affairs entirely in his own hands. To decide important affairs he called a meeting of certain "members" of the company. It was he who looked after the commercial part of the business, fixed the prices for articles of absolute necessity, collected a certain tax from the gambling houses, and so forth. They obtained about 2 poods or 1,050 ounces of gold every day, and with this they paid for victuals and vodki. How much gold they actually mined it is difficult to say, for the gold obtained in Siberia in an unlawful way is mostly smuggled to China, without the Russian government knowing anything of its quantity. It is estimated, however, that the value of the total output could not have been less than 1,000,000 roubles. Somehow or other, the authorities found out the "chisniki," and tried to clear the place of them. But the company was strong in numbers and offered a strong resistance, which lasted until the arrival of several hundred soldiers from Blagovieschensk. So the fate of Free Creek was not much better than that of the republic of Zheltuga. Now these claims, officially and legally, belong to the Gold Mining Association of Gilljui, which renamed the mines by the title of Millionny, but not much gold was left behind by the "free endeavorers."

HUNGER COMES IN WAR'S WAKE

United States Minister to Venezuela Pleads for People of That Country.

BUSINESS IS PARALYZED AND PEOPLE ARE STARVING

In Caracas the People Can Gain Only One Meal a Day, and Hundreds Are Unable To Obtain That—Appeal for Aid Is Made.

Washington, September 5.—United States Minister Bowen, at Caracas, has forwarded to the state department, under date of August 24, a plaintive plea for the poor in that capital who are suffering great misery as the result of the protracted war now in progress. The special plea is made by Rev. T. S. Pond, the senior American missionary in Caracas, and Mr. Bowen has undertaken gladly to receive any contributions.

Mr. Pond says business enterprises are paralyzed and the rural districts are in a state of desolation.

"The people are actually starving" he writes, "and are rapidly invading the city in the hope of obtaining something to do, or at least something to eat.

"At least half the families of this city can gain only one fair meal a day. Hundreds cannot obtain even that. The price of necessities of life is very high and rising still, owing to war panic and the prolonged hostilities."

Rebels Move on Castro.

Barcelona, Venezuela, September 5.—General Matos, the revolutionary leader, has ordered all his military chiefs to concentrate in the direction of Alta Gracia, whence the troops will move later on Caracas. Consequently Generals Riera, Batalla, Mendoza and Sanchez with about 12,000 men recently left San Carlos, distant 150 miles from Alta Gracia, but they cannot reach the latter place within a fortnight, and the decisive battle cannot take place for some time to come.

President Castro is still inactive near Ocumare.

OTTO MAYA BY HALF A LAP.

He Wins an Exciting Bicycle Race at Boston.

Boston, September 5.—No better 25-mile motor-paced race has been seen at Charles River park this season that that which Otto Maya, of Erie, Pa., won from Will Stinson, Basil DeGuichard and Joe Nelson tonight. Most of the distance the fight was between Stinson and Maya, as the Frenchman's chain broke in the fourth mile, setting him back a little. Nelson hung close to the leaders. Maya took the lead, but was passed by Stinson in the seventh mile. At 15 miles the latter barely held the advantage. In the twentieth mile Maya went to the front and finished a half lap ahead, Nelson was third. Time, 35:07 1-4.

New York, September 5.—John E. Madden has purchased from J. W. Schorr the 2-year-olds Anatas and Judith Campbell and the 4-year-old filly Lady Schorr, paying $30,000.

Tipman and Lyon Draw.

Baltimore, Md., September 5.—Joe Tipman, a local featherweight, sparred twenty hot rounds with Harry Lyons, colored, to a draw tonight. The men fought at catch weights. Both were strong at the finish.

Sieloff Bests Duffy.

Chicago, September 5.—Otto Seiloff was given the decision over Martin Duffy, of this city, after six rounds of hard fighting tonight. The decision of Referee Carroll was hissed by the spectators, who believed the honors should have been given to Duffy.

Berbers Attack a Town.

Madrid, September 5.—A dispatch to The Imparcial from Tangier, Morocco, says the Berbers have again attacked Mekines, a town 35 miles from Fez, with the result that Mohammed, brother of the sultan of Morocco and pretender to the throne, has been released. Mohammed was imprisoned in Mekines.

Kaiser Leaves Posen.

Posen, Prussian Poland, September 5.—Emperor William, the empress and the crown prince, Frederick William, started at noon today for Potsdam. They were everywhere heartily cheered.

RUDDY HEALTH.

A YOUNG WOMAN AND HER ENVIABLE COMPLEXION.

Some Sensible Hints on How to Procure a Good, Natural Color May Be Gained from Her Experience.

A good complexion depends upon good health. An enviable woman in this respect is Mrs. Ella Chapin, of Claremont, N. H., who says:

"From long and constant caring for my sick mother my system became all run down and in the fall of 1897 I realized that I was in a very poor state of health. I was nervous and my blood was thin and poor. I had dizzy spells and severe headaches, had no appetite and became so weak that I was unable to do anything. The slightest exertion made me short of breath and faint.

"This state of affairs continued for a year and I grew constantly worse. My uncle heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People at Springfield, and was told of some remarkable cures they had accomplished, so he got me a supply. I began taking them and in less than two weeks I could see a change for the better. I continued their use and in a short time was cured."

Mrs. Chapin suffered from anaemia, a disease caused by an actual deficiency of the blood and a watery and depraved state of that fluid. It is characterized by a pallid complexion, pale lips, dull eyes, tongue and gums bloodless; shortness of breath upon slight exertion—especially upon going up stairs; palpitation of the heart, feeling impending death, weakness, loss of appetite and ambition. If left to itself it is apt to result in decline and death.

The one remedy that has proved itself a specific for this disease is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. These pills, taken in increasing doses, will never fail to effect a cure if used persistently for a reasonable length of time.

At all druggists, or direct from Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., fifty cents per box; six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents.

PANIC IN NAPLES CHURCH

Caused by Explosion of Gas—Many Persons Injured.

London, September 6.—A special dispatch from Naples says the entrance of a lamplighter into the sacristy of the Church of Santa Lucia was followed by a terrible explosion, caused by escaping gas. A panic ensued and people in the church rushed to the doors. A portion of the massive roof was blown off and the lamplighter was killed. Several persons were injured.

It is reported that others were killed by falling debris.

ENDLESS ROTARY MOTION.

Inventor Doesn't Call It Perpetual, but He Thinks It Is.

New York Times: Mr. James Houlehan, who, we learn from—or at least read in—a Toledo dispatch published by The Cincinnati Enquirer, is "an inventor of note and invented the automatic device for calling 'Central' now used on all telephones," is destined to thunder down the ages with more noise than any other mortal ever made. He is, that is, if one can believe the rest of the dispatch. For it says that Mr. Houlehan has found out how to turn the energy of a permanent magnet into the production of continuous or rotary motion—and he has patented "a form of permanent magnet in which there is no zero point or dead center." That is not quite clear, or at any rate is not quite scientific, but perhaps Mr. Houlehan was not quoted correctly. He says—or is said to have said—in explaining his invention: "A horseshoe-shaped piece of steel can be magnetized in a few seconds by an electric current of a few amperes from a battery or a dynamo. And the amount of electrical energy used is ridiculously small, but the magnet so made can lift many pounds of iron in contact or a less without contact; and, stranger still, the exercise of this power strengthens the magnet. This mystery of the magnet has never been solved. All that I claim is that I have discovered a method whereby its 'pull' on a piece of iron can be made to produce rotary motion. By this means it is possible to use the magnet's force in the driving of machinery or other application of power. It is not a storage or reacting device like a steel spring which, when it is wound up, gives back approximately the force required in winding, but no more. The magnet resembles a spring that when you wind it keeps wound up giving out its force indefinitely." That is most enjoyable, and its most pleasing feature is Mr. Houlehan's careful avoidance of the words "perpetual motion." Not one of the innumerable geniuses who, in the past, have invented springs that did work and still remained wound up has shown such self-restraint as this. In their glee at performing the impossible they have always used the fatal phrase, and after that they were heard no more. Mr. Houlehan is different. He has not discovered "perpetual motion;" he has only turned the pull of a magnet into continuous and endless rotary motion. He is a great man—if he has done it.

PROFESSOR VIRCHOW PASSES FROM EARTH

World's Greatest Medical and Scientific Authority Dies in Berlin.

Berlin, September 5.—Professor Rudolph Virchow, the pathologist, died here at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The evening papers here publish glowing eulogies of the dead professor, classing him as the world's greatest medical and scientific reformer, and saying that no other man had so deeply influenced modern science, and that no other had such a worldwide reputation and so many followers in all lands. The papers also praise his humanitarian activity in improving the Berlin hospitals and other sanitary institutions.

Like so many great minds of the world, Virchow sprang from humble stock.

Virchow's great work on cellular pathology laid the foundation for a new science. In his own language the basis of this work is "Man is a cell state, in which every cell represents citizenship, the tissues, the muscles and bones represent different layers of society. Sickness is merely a conflict in this state between the citizens, who should work together."

Virchow's Universal Interests.

Like all great geniuses, Virchow has always taken a great interest in affairs and matters of the world outside of his own science. For many years he was the president of the Berlin Anthropological Society. He was the first one to approve the excavations made by Schliemann at Hisslarick, Greece, and personally visited the place to study the matter. Virchow's versatility is well illustrated by the following: A traveler, visiting the temple of Isis at Hilae, Egypt, met an old Arab. While conversing with him he was told by the latter that only a few days before he had escorted a gentleman who was able to read the hieroglyphics. The Arab took some visiting cards out of his burnouse, and as he was unable to read had marked the one belonging to the versatile visitor. On the card were the words, "Rudolph Virchow." Among numerous other subjects, Virchow was always greatly interested in cremation. He expressed the opinion that in time of great epidemics cremation is an absolute necessity, as heat is most effective in destroying infectious germs. He believed in the establishment of crematories for cities, as cemeteries are a great menace to the health of communities.

Virchow's Opposition to Haecket and Koch.

Virchow has been severely criticised for his opposition to the theories of Haeckel and Koch, but future science will have to demonstrate how far he was right in his opposition. He said of the Darwinism as taught by Haeckel: "I do not say that it will never be possible to classify psychic occurrences, but at present we have no right to put it forth as a scientific principle."

Of Koch he said, after the former had proclaimed the fact at the London tuberculosis congress that the disease was not transmittable from animals to human beings: "Koch is not Rome, and he has not as yet proved his conclusions." Recent events seem to prove that so far as Koch's theory is concerned Virchow is not so entirely wrong in his opinion.

PROF. RUDOLPH VIRCHOW.

Virchow, unlike many other scientific men of the Berlin university, never obsequiously bowed before the present kaiser. On the contrary, as a member of the reichstag, he was one of those who refused to vote for an increase of the kaiser's civil list. In justice to the kaiser it must be said that in spite of this fact, the former several times has paid tribute to Germany's great scientist. The kaiser bestowed on him the gold medal for achievements in science and also the high order of Pour le Merite. What is more, when Virchow celebrated his jubilee his majesty said in his message of congratulation: "You engraved your name forever on the tablet of medicine, and your fame has gone beyond the German fatherland."

Virchow's Reputation Abroad.

As Virchow's books have been translated into all languages, and as thousands from all parts of the world have sat at his feet, it is but natural that he is known by every man of medicine. When Virchow was in England in 1898, the foremost medical authorities of London gave him a banquet at the Hotel Metropole. Lord Lister, presiding, addressed Virchow as our beloved master, the father of pathology.

Virchow became first known in America by Frank Crane's translation of his great work on cellular pathology, published in over seven editions. Virchow also became very popular by his friendly praise of our sanitary achievements during the civil war. When asked at his jubilee if he ever would come to America, he laughingly answered, "When I am 90."

BALLOT ASKED FOR THE WOMEN

Suffrage Resolution Adopted by the Trades Union Congress at London.

London, September 5.—The Trades Union congress at its session today passed a resolution introduced by the general union of Weavers' Union to the effect that the time had now arrived when in the economic interests of women the franchise should be extended to them on the same terms as it is or may be to men.

A naturalization resolution, presented by the Manchester Jewish Tailors' Union, was adopted. It asks for a reduction of the naturalization fee so that it may be within the reach of every workman who has been a member of the Trades Union for a period of five years and with the approval of such a trades union he may apply for naturalization.

The congress also adopted a motion favoring the payment of members of parliament in order to allow all sections of the community to be adequately represented in the house of commons. It was also voted that the parliamentary committee be instructed to introduce a bill in the house of commons to prevent any children under 15 years of age being employed in any textile or non-textile factories.

The Cigar Makers' Mutual Association introduced a resolution aimed against "capitalistic combines," which was unanimously adopted. It was recorded as follows:

"That in the opinion of this congress the growth of gigantic capitalistic trusts, with their enormous power of controlling production, is injurious to the advancement of the working classes, as by such combination the prices of commodities are raised, the standard comfort of the people can be reduced, the workmen's freedom endangered and national prosperity menaced."

The speakers contended that the time had arrived when if the state did not control the trusts the latter would control the state, and that the only permanent solution of the difficulty rested in national ownership and control of these monopolies.

At the instance of the Navies and General Laborers' Union the following resolution was passed:

"That this congress of British trades unionists place on record its unqualified disapproval of the war against the Orange Free State and the Transvaal republic, believing that the question of extending the franchise and the protection of industry was not the real cause of the dispute, but merely a shield to cover an unscrupulous conspiracy to grab territory and replace well paid white labor with unpaid, partially enslaved blacks and Asiatics.

"Further, this congress reaffirms its continued hostility to all wars of foreign aggression, which only tend to enrich the sinister figure of cosmopolitan finance, whose object is to hold the workers of all countries in universal, social and economic servitude."

FROM BISHOP TO ARCHBISHOP

Appointment of Farley To Succeed Corrigan Confirmed by the Pope.

Rome, September 5.—The pope has confirmed the appointment of the Right Rev. John M. Farley, the auxiliary bishop of New York, as archbishop of New York in succession to the late Archbishop Corrigan, and the Right Rev. George Montgomery, bishop of Los Angeles, Cal., as coadjutor of the Most Rev. Patrick William Riordan, archbishop of San Francisco, the latter with the right of succession.

Archbishop Riordan is expected to reach Rome shortly, both the pope and the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Rampolla, desiring verbal information regarding the Pius fund question now before the international court of arbitration at The Hague.

Monsignor Veccia, secretary of the propaganda, at an audience which he had of the pontiff today, submitted a full report of the proceedings of the congregation of the propaganda September 1 and the pope immediately approved the appointments of Bishop Farley and Montgomery, saying:

"I hope I have satisfied the Catholics of New York."

DEATH HOVERS OVER ISLAND

Further Details of Mont Pelee's Latest Eruptions.

Over Two Thousand Have Perished Since August 30—Feared a Tidal Wave Will Result Which Will Destroy Many Islands.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, B. W. I., September 5.—The report brought by the royal mail steamer Yare, which arrived here yesterday evening from Martinique, of the loss of two thousand lives through the recent outbreak of Mont Pelee referred to the deaths since August 20 and not to the loss of life resulting from the reported outbreak of Wednesday, September 3.

The eruption of Mont Pelee on September 3 was not remarkable, but there was a terrific explosion from the Soufriere, on the island of St. Vincent, September 3. The captain of the steamer Savan, now here, confirming the report cabled to the Associated Press last night that she ran into dense clouds of dust when 20 miles southwest of St. Vincent at 2 o'clock in the morning of Wednesday, adds that absolute darkness prevailed soon afterwards, and that he changed his course to due west in order to escape the ashes which were falling thick. The first officer could not see the captain 2 feet away and only knew him by his voice. They did not see the sun until about 10 a. m. the same day.

The steamer Yare further reports that several more valuable plantations were destroyed at the time of the recent outbreak in addition to the townships referred to in previous dispatches, and adds that the anxiety and dejection of the surviving population is general.

Nearly Million People in Peril.

Chicago, September 5.—"I am seriously alarmed at the news of the renewed activity of the Martinique and St. Vincent volcanoes," said Louis H. Ayme, United States consul at Guadeloupe, who is in Chicago on sick leave. "Should Mont Pelee blow its head off the loss of life consequent upon the production of a great tidal wave would be appalling. With Pelee as a center, a chain of islands extends northward, embracing a population of some 750,000 persons. Almost without exception the cities and villages are situated along the coasts and but slightly elevated above the sea. A tidal wave 40 feet high probably would destroy a half million lives before it dashed against the shores of Porto Rico with its million inhabitants.

"There is also apparently grave danger that other long extinct volcanoes may break out. The great Soufriere of Guadeloupe has been active for centuries, discharging a vast volume of sulphur charged steam from the old summit crater. This may have acted as a sort of safety valve, but if, as reports seem to indicate, the seismic forces are increasing in intensity, this volcano and others along the line of seismic weakness marked by the inland chain may soon be rivaling Pelee.

"The people of these islands are in a hard situation. Their communication with the outer world depends chiefly on a single line of steamers which call at intervals of from ten days to two weeks at some of the islands when freight offers. The whole fleet of this line could not carry 3,000 persons.

"While the great bulk of the population of these islands is made up of blacks and mulattoes, there are many thousand whites living there, chiefly creoles, but not a few Americans are established in or visiting the islands on business. The island of Martinique seems to be doomed. It will not be possible to persuade its people to remain there if they can get away. Guadeloupe, where my consulate is situated, is in even worse predicament. It is staggering under a tremendous debt which it cannot pay, its cane plantations are being abandoned and its business men retiring. It is the natural refuge of the fleeing people of Martinique and will have these terrified and starving thousands thrown upon its already inadequate resources.

"What immediate sources of relief we could take it would be difficult to say, but probably two or three of our war vessels with scientific observers should be promptly dispatched to the spot."

BOERS MEET CHAMBERLAIN.

Botha, DeWet and Delarey Confer with the Secretary.

London, September 5.—The conference between the Boer generals, Botha, DeWet and Delarey, and Colonial Secretary Chamberlain was held today at Downing street. The generals were escorted to the colonial office by an official of that department of the government and drove there in an open carriage. They received a hearty welcome from the considerable crowds assembled at either end of the route. The Boers wore immaculate frock coats and silk hats and repeatedly doffed the latter in response to the cheers.

Just prior to the generals' departure from their hotel Abraham Fisher, the Boer delegate, had a conference with them.

Lord Onslow, under secretary of state for the colonies, participated in the conference.

The length of the colonial office conference is said to have not been due to the conversational character of the proceedings, but as the Boers spoke in Dutch considerable time was occupied in interpreting their remarks. Mr. Chamberlain has authorized the announcement that the proceedings will be published later in a blue book.

The faces of the generals as they drove back to their hotel gave no hint as to whether they had derived satisfaction or otherwise from the conference. They conversed together volubly, occasionally raising their hats in response to cheers. Reporters were refused all information.

ANOTHER FLOATING PALACE

Has Been Ordered Constructed by White Star Line.

London, September 5.—The White Star line has ordered another steamer to be built by Harland & Wolff, of Belfast, which is to be 20 feet longer and a few feet wider than the same company's steamer, Cedric, now the largest liner in the world.

The steamer Cedric of 21,000 tons was launched at Harland & Wolff's yards, Belfast, on August 21 last. She is 700 feet long, has 75 feet beam and a depth of 49.13 feet. Her carrying capacity is 18,400 tons and she has accommodation for 3,000 persons.

ARMY CRUSHED BY THE REBELS

Severe Defeat Is Inflicted on the Government Forces In Haiti.

HEAVY LOSS IS SUFFERED BY THE OPPOSING FORCES

General Esmangard, Who Commanded the Government Troops, Is Captured—Soldiers of the Government Said To Be Demoralized.

Cape Haitien, Haiti, September 5.—The troops of General Alexis Nord, war minister of the provisional government, were defeated yesterday and the day before near Limbe. The opposing forces are said to have lost heavily. General Esmangard, who actually commanded the government force engaged, was captured by the revolutionists, and a portion of the government artillery fell into the hands of the Artebonite forces.

After the defeat of his troops General Nord returned to Cape Haitien with his staff. The general had an interview yesterday with the French minister, M. Despres, on the subject of the threatening attitude assumed by certain classes of the inhabitants against foreigners.

The troops of the provisional government are demoralized.

Work of the Machias.

Washington, September 5.—The navy department has received from Commander McCrea, of the Machias, a mail report under date of Cape Haitien, August 16, setting out in detail the steps taken by that officer to prevent interference with the world's commerce as a result of the bitter insurrectionary struggle now in progress in Haitien waters. Commander McCrea was, from the nature of the case, obliged to act without opportunity to consult the navy or state departments, but it is stated that his vigorous and effective measures are thoroughly approved. It appears from the commander's report that he took under his charge the commerce of nearly all the European countries in addition to that of his own.

His attitude to Admiral Killick, the insurgent commander, as revealed in the report, is significant as indicating the adoption of a stronger policy than has been pursued heretofore in the treatment of South American and Central American revolutions, which injuriously affect the commerce of the world.

German Steamer Seized.

Berlin, September 5.—An official dispatch was received here from Port-au-Prince, Haiti, yesterday, confirming the Associated Press dispatch of September 3 from Cape Haitien, announcing that the Haitien revolutionary gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot stopped the German steamer Markomannia September 2 at the entrance of the harbor of Cape Haitien, sent an armed force on board of her and took possession of her war munitions belonging to the provisional government of Haiti, and adding that the captain of the Crete-a-Pierrot subsequently released the steamer.

The representatives of the various powers here are unanimously of the opinion that the Crete-a-Pierrot cannot be regarded as a warship of a belligerent state and that the search of the German ship and the confiscation of the arms and ammunition on board of her was nothing but an act of piracy.

MARCONIGRAMS ARE FLYING

From an Italian Cruiser to Station in Cornwall.

Rome, September 5.—King Victor Emmanuel has ordered that the Italian armored cruiser Carlo Alberto, on board of which wireless experiments have been proceeding for some time, be placed at the further disposal of Signor William Marconi for experiments between Europe and America.

London, September 5.—It is reported here that a regular exchange of "Marconigrams" is proceeding directly across Spain between the Italian war ships Carlo Alberto, which is at Cadiz, Spain, and the wireless telegraph station at Poldhu, Cornwall, and that it is anticipated that a commercial line between Italy and England soon will be in operation.

Water Cure Glenn Restored.

Manila, September 5.—Major Edward F. Glenn, of the Fifth infantry, who was tried by court martial for administering the water cure to natives, found guilty and sentenced to be suspended for one month and to forfeit $50 of his pay, has been restored to duty and ordered to return to his command at Bayambang, Luzon.

How About
Your Heart

Feel your pulse a few minutes. Is it regular? Are you short of breath, after slight exertion as going up stairs, sweeping, walking, etc? Do you have pain in left breast, side or between shoulder blades, choking sensations, fainting or smothering spells, inability to lie on left side? If you have any of these symptoms you certainly have a weak heart, and should immediately take

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Mr. F. H. Oaks of Jamestown, N. Y., whose genial face appears above, says: "Excessive use of tobacco seriously affected my heart. I suffered severe pains about the heart, and in the left shoulder and side; while the palpitation would awaken me from my sleep. I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and soon found permanent relief."

OUTLAWS KILL WOMAN AND GIRL

Attack Made on Town in Province of Luzon.

Two Women and Girl Wantonly Killed—Rios, Leader of the Outlaws, Claims To Be a Direct Descendant of God. Outlaws Flee.

Manila, September 5.—Rios, a fanatical leader of the irreconcilable natives in the province of Tayabas, Luzon, attacked the town of Laguimanoc September 3 at the head of thirty riflemen and 150 men armed with bolos. The band wantonly killed two women and one girl, and wounded several other persons.

A detachment of native constabulary arrived unexpectedly at Laguimanoc while Rios' men were still there. They attacked and routed the bandits, killing several of Rios' followers, and have rounded up 700 men, many of whom are suspected of complicity in the attack on Laguimanoc. The guilty ones among the 700 men will be picked out and the remainder set at liberty.

One of Rios' lieutenants who was captured said Rios was a direct descendant of God, and that it was beyond the power of man to injure him.

The constabulary also have captured one of Rios' mountain strongholds. Four detachments of constabulary are now following the main band of the outlaws.

PLACED CONSCIENCE OVER ALL.

French Colonel Sentenced for Refusing To Close Schools.

Nientes, France, September 5.—A court-martial today sentenced Lieutenant Colonel St. Marc, who on August 2 refused to assist in closing the unauthorized schools, to one day's imprisonment.

Colonel St. Marc did not controvert the charge of disobeddience of orders. He said it was a choice between military duty and his conscience. He was quite aware that he would be courtmartialed for disobedience, but he also realized that if he obeyed his military commanders he would have to answer before the throne of God. The colonel's remarks were cheered by the women in court. The courtmartial unanimously acquitted the colonel of the charge of disobeying military orders.

By a vote of 6 to 1 found him guilty of refusing to obey a civil requisition and sentenced him to a day's imprisonment and costs.

The verdict was greeted with applause.

FORTUNE HUNTERS WARNED.

No Millions Are in England for American Claimants.

London, September 5.—The American embassy has been so deluged with letters from the United States relative to imaginary fortunes awaiting claimants that it has issued a memorandum on the subject as follows:

"In consequence of the many American letters received with regard to sending money to establish claims to property in England, especially in regard to the so-called Drake estate, credulous people will avoid disappointment and save money by having nothing whatever to do with persons advertising as agents of unclaimed estates and as having in their possession the family name of persons entitled thereto, nor with sensational telegrams regarding English estates or money in the Bank of England awaiting claimants, as such publications are apt to be all frauduent."

JABS ARE GIVEN ROOSEVELT.

London Editor Criticises President's Recent Speeches.

London, September 6.—Referring to President Roosevelt's recent speeches The Saturday Review sarcastically remarks:

"President Roosevelt has made his pious opinions of the trusts as clear as his interpretation of the Monroe doctrine. Theoretically, he would have American business men see that he rather admires trusts as promotive of the national welfare, but he adds, as a rider, that their capacity for harm calls for greater control.

"The German press is still explaining that the new Monroe doctrine is aimed at Great Britain and Canada, and many British newspapers are preaching that the United States has no wish but for the best friendship of Great Britain. Both are usually, wrong. German newspapers are perhaps most irritating to President Roosevelt, and the British press must amuse typical American citizens."

Anglo-Chinese Treaty Signed.

Shanghai, September 5.—Sir James L. Mackay, the British tariff commissioner, and the Chinese commissioners, signed the commercial treaty between China and Great Britain tonight, a new edict having been issued specifically allocating the surtax funds to provincial governors.

Railway Franchise in Manila.

Manila, September 5.—The United States civil commission is holding public hearings in the matter of the proposal to grant an electric street railroad franchise in Manila. Two applications for the franchise already have been made and others are expected.

General Wheeler Coming Home.

London, September 5.—The American line steamer Philadelphia, which sails from Southampton for New York tomorrow, will take among her passengers General Joseph Wheeler.

QUAY AND PLATT IN CAUCUS.

But What the "Bosses" Did Is Not Known.

New York, September 5.—Senator M. S. Quay, of Pennsylvania, who held a long conference last night with Senator Platt at the Fifth Avenue hotel, denied today that they talked about the coal strike directly or indirectly. He would not say what they talked about.

"It was," said Mr. Quay, "merely a long friendly talk."

Senator Platt said:

"I saw Senator Quay a little while last night and discussed private matters with him. In our discussion the coal strike was not mentioned."

Senator Quay left today for the Adirondacks, where he will spend a week hunting and fishing.

BUILDING MANY AIR SHIPS FOR ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION

World's Fair, St. Louis, September 5.—(Special.)—The science of aerial flight now commands wide attention in Europe and America, and the magnificent prizes, aggregating $150,000, offered by the world's fair, has stimulated experimental work throughout the world. The Velo of Paris quotes G. Tissandier as saying: "Those satisfied with making plans and sketching them on a slip of paper have no idea of the trouble it takes to execute them in the experimental way." The Velo further says: "Last year, at about this time, everybody was enthusiastic about the experiments of Santos Dumont, and the press of the whole world was praising the young aeronaut and predicted the coming of the practical aerial navigation. Every day we are entertained with some new projects to advance the science of aerial navigation; and it went so far as to propose for 1902 an airship race. Well! what became of all these 'balloons d'essai?' It was thought that the death of Severo annihilated all idea of future aerial navigation. But it proves to be a great mistake, for, although there is not so much talk about the 'Dirigibles,' they really exist, many in course of construction, and some ready to begin with their experiment. These are a few of them: First, the 'Santos Dumont' No. 7 and 8, which give the best chance of success. Next, the 'Ville de Paris,' which belongs to Henri Deutsh and is built by M. V. Latin, one of our best engineers. It is probable that this 'Dirigible' will be able to begin his experiments at the end of the summer. In the village of Moisson, near Mantes, an immense building shelters the 'dirigible' of Pierre and Paul Lebaudy, built from the plans of Don Simoni. This airship will be able to leave its shed at the end of the month. In the park of Vaugirara Mr. de Bradsky hopes to be able to experiment his 'dirigible' in a couple of months. Many are working hard to solve this difficult problem of the aerial navigation, for example: Mr. Tur, at Courbevois; Louis Pillet, at Vincennes; Mr. Roze, at Colombes, and Messrs. Smitter and Debayeux, at Vincennes. Don't let us forget the 'Mediterranien II 'of Henry de la Vaulsc, who will continue, in September, his long, very interesting experiments in maritime aeronautics. In Bresid, Jose de Patrocine seems to work seriously on the same problem. As for the Americans of the United States, their bright imagination does not know any bounds and their enthusiasm is stronger than ever. From that we can see that the inventors have not lost any hope of success, and their desire being stronger than ours, we must be confident to see later on their experiments crowned with success."

QUIET ON MARCUS ISLAND.

Rosehill and the Japs Have Arranged Differences.

Yokohama, September 5.—The Japanese cruiser Takachihe returned here today from Marcus island. She reports that Captain Rosehill is at Marcus island, but that everything has been arranged satisfactorily.

Captain Rosehill, an American, claimed ownership of Marcus island, but his claim was not recognized by the United States government.

Captain Rosehill sailed from Honolulu for Marcus island last July. The crew of his schooner were said to be armed and it was believed he intended to occupy the island by force.

About the same time a Japanese war ship sailed for Marcus island, and by this vessel the state department sent notification to Captain Rosehill not to offer resistance to the Japanese.

Gates Is Buying Land.

Carbondale, Ills., September 5.—A representative of John W. Gates has purchased nearly 5,000 acres of land in the heart of the southern Illinois coal belt, and has options on a large block which have not been closed. The land lies contiguous to 4,500 acres owned by the Illinois Steel Company, on the Big Muddy river. The tract is near the Illinois Central and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. The Gates people, it is stated, will not only mine the 9-foot vein of coal, but will coke the output.

Robbers Loot Kentucky Bank.

Winfordville, Ky., September 5.—The bank of Sierra, a little town 6 miles north of here, was broken open and robbed last night. The robbers got considerable booty and got away. They were followed by a posse of citizens. The amount of the loss by the bank has not been determined.

Washington, September 5.—Arrangements have been completed by the post-office department for the establishment of an exchange of international through registered pouches between San Antonio, Tex., and Ciudad Porfiro Dias, Mexico, to commence October 1.

Sulgrave Manor Not Sold.

London, September 5.—The agents of Sulgrave Manor, Northamptonshire, the ancestral home of the Washington family, deny the report printed in The Daily Chronicle of London today that they have sold the estate to a wealthy American. They say they have not even received an offer for the place.

THEY TALKED ABOUT MERGER

Cotton Mill Men in Conference at Huntsville, Alabama.

ABOUT SIXTY SOUTHERN MILLS BEEN PLEDGED

Eastern Bankers Are To Underwrite. Mill Products To Be Sold Through a Common Agency — Operate Independently.

Huntsville, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—The proposed merger among southern cotton mills has been a thing of discussion among the owners and operators of cotton mills in this city for the past four or five days. During that time some of the largest mill owners in the south have been here to attend a conference and learn the details of the proposed merger. They have met with eastern bankers, who propose to underwrite the organization, and in a majority of instances the plans have been accepted and the temporary agreement signed.

It is understood that about sixty southern mills have been pledged to enter the combination by parties at interest and thirteen of this number are in Alabama. While no authentic information has been given out by the prime movers, the general impression is that the merger will be effected and successfully underwritten within the next forty-five days. It is understood that all of the Huntsville mills, with the exception of the Dallas and the Merrimac, will go into the organization.

The plan of the organization, as given out, provided only for the selling of mill products through a common agency, mills to be operated independently.

SUPERINTENDENT AND MATRON

Parties to a Wedding at an Orphans' Home.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.) At the Methodist orphanage here last evening Rev. J. W. Jenkins, the superintendent, was married to Miss Mattie V. Atwater, the matron. It is his fourth marriage. He is greatly beloved by his denomination and is devoted to his work at the home. Rev. Dr. T. N. Ivey, editor of The Christian Advocate, was the officiating minister at the wedding, which was a quiet one, at the orphanage. The executive committee of the board of trustees attended.

BATTLE ABBEY FUNDS INTACT

Treasurer of Confederate Association Has Large Amount on Hand.

CLAIM OF UNDERWOOD WILL BE HARD FOUGHT

Association Holds That He Is Not Entitled to Commission on the Rouss Donation — Counsel Has Been Employed by Association.

Charlotte, N. C., September 5.—(Special.)—The board of trustees of the Confederate Memorial Association held a very important meeting in this city today. Those present were General Clement A. Evans, of Georgia; Robert White, of West Virginia; George D. Johnston, of Alabama; B. H. Teague, of South Carolina; Thomas S. Kenan, of North Carolina; J. B. Briggs, of Kentucky; J. Taylor Ellyson, of Virginia, and J. M. Hickey, of Washington.

The meeting of the board was for the purpose of outlining a defense that will be made against the suit of General John C. Underwood, superintendent and secretary of the association, who has brought an action to recover the sum of $17,000 alleged by him to be due for commissions and salary. In this claim he includes commission on the $100,000 donation of the late Charles Broadway Rouss toward the construction of the battle abbey, under the condition that a similar sum should be raised by the association.

In connection with the Rouss offer the board asserts that it was made before General Underwood became secretary and that the association is in no sense indebted to General Underwood for the subscription made by Mr. Rouss. The board has employed Colonel Robert White, of Wheeling, as general counsel for the association, and will contest the claim in order to protect the interest of the association. As the matter is a question of law the board declines to give out for publication what will be its line of defense.

In an interview this evening J. Taylor Ellyson, a member of the board, said it would be doubtless gratifying to the friends of the association to know that not a dollar of the money given for the permanent fund has been used and that all the funds for the construction of the battle abbey and its endowment have been sacredly preserved and that there is to the credit of Hon. George L. Christian, at Richmond, treasurer of the association, more than $100,000.

BUSH WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE

RUMORED HE WOULD BE REPUBLICAN CHOICE.

Says While Differing with Some Democrats He Is Still in That Party.

Birmingham, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—Hon. T. G. Bush, who has been mentioned as a probable candidate for governor on the republican ticket in the coming November election, has set at rest all reports as to his candidacy by the following card:

"While for several years I have not been in accord with organized democracy on some important national issues, I have, since I attained my majority, supported the state democratic ticket. I believe that the citizens, as a whole, who compose the democratic party are best qualified to administer the affairs of the state for the best interests of all concerned, and for that reason I will earnestly advocate the election of Governor Jelks. Of course, it is my hope that the national democratic party will at some time change its leadership and advocate sound money and national progress. It is my desire to see two strong parties in the state conducted on a high plan of politics, both advocating and enforcing honest elections.

"T. G. BUSH."

This action of Colonel Bush, it is thought, leaves a clear field for the nomination of T. H. Aldrich, of this city, who, it is believed, will accept the position. Colonel Aldrich is both aggressive and progressive, being largely identified with the industrial interest of the mineral section in north Alabama.

TO PURCHASE STATE BONDS.

Funding Board Sets Aside $50,000 from the General Fund.

Nashville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—The state funding board has set aside $50,000 from the general fund to be used in purchasing state bonds under the sinking fund act. The purchases with this money will increase the total of bonds purchased to $1,100,000 and, taking in the floating debt paid off, the sinking fund act, since it became operative, will have reduced the state debt by $2,000,000. There is still about $400,000 in the state treasury and there will be ample funds coming in to meet all expenses and pay the salary interest.

PRITCHARD IS VERY ACTIVE.

Senator in Charge of Headquarters at Greensboro, N. C.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.)—It is now settled that republican state headquarters will again be at Greensboro, and that the state chairman, Senator Pritchard, will go there and take charge. Republicans are saying that the senator will conduct a quite active campaign. Of course, he will aid the new independent movement all he can. The people in various counties, who are trying to launch the independent movement locally, are, in some cases, failing to get the men they want as leaders to take hold of the matter. Propositions have been made to some persons in this county to this end, but were turned down. The same thing has occurred in Johnston and Orange.

CONVICTS GRADING THE ROAD.

Work on the South Carolina and Georgia Progressing.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.)—The state has now 390 convicts in Mitchell county grading the South Carolina and Georgia railroad (lately bought by the Southern) from the Tennessee line toward Marion, where it will strike the Southern's line to Asheville. The convicts were marched from Marion to a point 48 miles distant and in 7 miles from the Tennessee line, and there the first camp was established. Good progress is being made in grading. The heaviest part of the work, that crossing the Blue Ridge, is to be done. The state has forty convicts building a turnpike from Wilkesboro to Jefferson and fifty are cutting timber for the Goldsboro Lumber Company's great saw mill at Dover. The others, with the exception of eighty in the penitentiary here, are on the state farm near Weldon.

Is a Record Breaker.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.) The number of students at the Agricultural and Mechanical college here today reached 475, which is a record-breaker. This is only the third day of the term. President George T. Winston assures The Constitution that if the quarters were provided there would be 1,000 students.

Alabama Agricultural School.

Athens, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—The North Alabama Agricultural school, located in this place, opened its doors this week for the twelfth session, and the largest opening ever yet had was the result. 181 persons having matriculated. They had fine opening exercises. The faculty remains unchanged with the exception that Miss Brown, of Mississippi, is in charge of the music and elocution. Colonel M. K. Clements is president.

Visiting Local Branch.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—L. E. Sheppard, grand junior conductor of the Order of Railway Conductors, will be in this city next Monday to visit the local branch of the order. His will be an official mission. Mr. Sheppard has for the past few months been visiting western lodges of the order. He has previously been with the local lodge in an official capacity, and is very popular here. He will be elaborately entertained.

Will Hold No Convention.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.) A leading populist now declares that there will be no state convention held by that party.

THAT REMARKABLE METEOR.

British Museum Asking About an Aerolite That Fell in South.

New Decatur, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—A report has been circulated amongst the societies of Historical Research in Europe that about forty or fifty years ago a large meteorite or aerolite fell in Morgan county, Alabama, U. S. A.

The report says that this meteorite was incandescent when it fell and buried itself about three feet below the earth's surface. It was computed to weigh about 800 pounds.

About seventeen years ago an effort was made to find this meteorite, but nothing authentic could be learned. In all probability it is now covered over by natural drift.

Mrs. Roy Nelson, of Moulton Heights, near New Decatur, is an enthusiastic collector of geological and historical curios. She has recently received a letter from the British Museum at London, Eng., making inquiries regarding this meteorite and asking that full particulars be sent them for the purpose that they be kept as a historical fact or exploding the story as a fake.

It is a well known matter of history that in 1833 there was such an extremely heavy shower of meteorites that the negroes fled in terror and hid themselves, believing the end of the world at hand. It is extremely probable that some of these meteorites did fall either at that time or at the time of the "shower of stars" a few years later.

There are now being formed in Alabama societies for "Historical Research" in order that matters pertaining to the natural history of the state may be properly investigated and regularly compiled into the historical archives of the state.

If any of the inhabitants of this country have any knowledge of the meteorite referred to above, Mrs. Roy Nelson, of this city, would be glad to receive it for the "Historical Research Society."

NOT MUCH INTEREST TAKEN.

Attendance at Farmers' Convention Is Very Slim.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.)—There were not a dozen people at the first annual meeting of the Farmers' State Association here Wednesday. In fact, there were by count only eight, it is said. Professor W. F. Massey, who has had wide experience in holding farmers' institutes, says the farmers will not turn out voluntarily at these meetings, and that they will not do so until county organizations are formed, which will send delegates to the state association. He says that only through the formation of county organizations along this line can the farmers' institutes be made what they ought to be in point of attendance and interest. In a number of cases, under the present way of holding these institutes, they are so poorly attended as to be well nigh valueless. Professor Massey makes the sensible suggestion that the county organizations or associations be not under control of the state one, as in the latter case there would always be the danger of drifting into politics, as the Farmers' Alliance did.

TO CONSOLIDATE SCHOOLS.

Action of Carroll County Education Board.

Carrollton, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) The Carroll board of education met here this week to consider applications to establish new schools in various parts of the county. The board refused to establish a single new school and announced a policy of consolidating many of the small schools of the county into the larger schools in the several communities. It is proposed that the number of Carroll county's schools hereafter be sixty instead of one hundred, as now. The authorities have been debating the matter and feel assured that the standards of the schools of the county can be raised to a great extent by consolidation, thereby affording better facilities and faculties. This done, high schools in the country will be more numerous.

THE GREAT GOLDEN SPURS.

Origin of the Most Interesting Coronation Features.

Pall Mall Gazette: The king has appointed the earl of Loudoun and Lord Grey de Ruthyn to be bearers of the great golden spurs at the solemnity of the coronation. The office is hereditary. It was held originally by the earls of Pembroke, from which it descended to the Greys of Ruthyn.

There have, however, been other bearers of the spurs. They were carried at the coronation of the last Edward by the earl of Rutland, and by the earl of Essex at the coronation of Henry VII. The right of Lord Grey de Ruthyn was contested in 1685, but the claims of the earl of Kent and of the duke of Norfolk were rejected, and at the coronation of Queen Anne and of George II their claims were not renewed. Lord Calthorpe carried them in 1821, and Lord Byron in 1838, but both as deputies for Baroness Grey de Ruthyn.

"Two great and weighty golden spurs," carried by John Marshall, are mentioned in the account of the coronation of Richard I, printed from Hovenden, and this seems to be the earliest mention. In 1649 the spurs appear in the inventory of the regalia taken by order of the parliament. They were of silver gilt, the buckles set with "twelve slight stones," and the straps were of crimson silk. They weighed 6 3-4 ounces, and with silver at 5 shillings 4 pence per ounce, were valued at £1 13 shillings 4 pence. The coronation spurs made by William Foster for Henry VII. "all gilt," cost only 13 shillings 4 pence.

OBJECTS TO HIS COMPANY.

TWO MEN TO BE EXECUTED IN MISSISSIPPI NEXT WEEK.

White Man Says Social Equality Is Wrong Even on the Gallows.

Jackson, Miss., September 5.—(Special.) Acting Governor Harrison will not grant a further respite to Will Matthis and Orlando Lester, who are to be hanged at Oxford next Wednesday unless it should develop that their testimony in the Whit Owens murder trial cannot be concluded before that time. The trial will be commenced Monday, and Owens in this instance is to answer the charge of murdering a negro named Williams.

Matthis and Lester, according to reports received here, view their approaching death with calmness, although Matthis still manifests much concern over the fact that he is to be hanged on the same gallows with a negro, demonstrating that the question of social equality rules strong on the very brink of death. The sheriff has not yet decided which prisoner will be executed first, but it islikely they will be dropped through the trap at the same time.

The execution will be public, and promises to attract thousands of visitors from surrounding towns.

Acting Governor Harrison is being deluged with "hurry up" requests to grant pardons to prisoners now serving penitentiary terms, and it seems that some of the pardon attorneys are actuated with the belief that they can play the emergency story on the temporary chief executive, and thus secure the release of their clients. Governor Harrison has forestalled the game, however, and announces that he will not, under any circumstances, grant a pardon during his brief stay in the office, but will refer all such matters to Governor Longino upon his return a week hence. Over two hundred pardon petitions are now on file in the governor's office, and if all were acted upon favorably the prison would soon be depopulated.

MORGAN WOULD DRAW CROWD.

A Suggestion That Sounds Like the "Greatest Show on Earth."

Springfield Republican: This is distinctively the reign or the era of J. P. Morgan. He is the first personage and first power in the United States today, and is so recognized abroad quite as much as at home; and the people down east who are crowding about to see and hear and applaud the president of the United States are following a secondary attraction. Let Morgan start out on a talking journey and see if this would not be so. But Morgan is quiet, and this gives the president his chance. Nevertheless there seems to be no popular question as to where the real chief executive power of the nation is to be found. The place is Wall street, corner Broad.

We find proof of this abundantly in the news of the day. There goes up from the helpless people of the country a frantic appeal for the ending of the coal strike, so that we may not all freeze the coming winter, and it is now addressed in every case to Morgan. It is generally conceded that he can end the strike, if he will, by a single word or a nod of the head, and to him all prayers and petitions for relief are being directed. Duly constituted authority counts for nothing. The delegated might of millions of citizens is something laughed at by citizens themselves no less than by the coal monopolists. The governor of Pennsylvania is a nonentity in the matter, although the coal roads are violating their charters every day. The president of the United States is a cipher in the case, although the anthracite combination exists in open defiance of federal law. And all recognize the fact, and so the appeal lies to Wall street, corner Broad. Great is Morgan, and who is big enough to be his prophet?

No one. Russell Sage, who used to be considered somebody, can only bow in humble adoration. Morgan, he says, is the greatest man in the world; and when they reminded him of what President Baer, of the Reading road, said about the Christian men of monopoly who have us all in their holy keeping, he could only reply: "So President Baer thinks that God gave the mines to the operators, and that the miners are simply interested in receiving their wages each week, does he? Well, I wouldn't be surprised if Mr. Baer woke up some morning and found that God had given Mr. Morgan the mines and everything else in sight." That morning appears already to be dawning. Where the sages fear to tread "Our Chauncey" of course would not hesitate to rush in, and here we find the nearest approach to the assumption of prophecy in regard to Mr. Morgan. Says Senator Depew on landing from a European steamer:

"The people in Europe think of Mr. Morgan as a supernatural being. Well, perhaps I ought to change that word supernatural, but they do look upon him as a marvelous person. Everywhere I went in England, the people were talking about Mr. Morgan and his plans, wondering what they were and what he was going to do next. I think they are afraid of him in a way, and imagine that he is going to do something awful.

So Russell Sage says there will be a revolution, does he? Well, I guess Russell will have to be a centenarian twice over before he sees any revolution brought on by industrial development of the kind that Mr. Morgan stands for."

Here is proclamation of the identity of the creator of the country's prosperity and prophecy that revolutions and panics and disastrous reactions are out of the question while the "marvelous" or "supernatural" Morgan lives.

It is well to know just who or what power has our material salvation in keeping, and just where we are to turn with petitions for relief from strikes, fuel and other famines and troubles. But how are the American people likely to relish a situation which finds them tied up industrially, as it were, and dangling at the fingertips of some private banker? The great man may indeed do for us what we cannot do for ourselves, but suppose he should not be disposed to do for us? The regime of private monopoly appears to have run the course, which now narrows down to the width of the doorway of Wall street, corner Broad.

FUNERAL OF MAJOR CHILDS.

One of the Oldest Citizens of Monroe County.

Forsyth, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The funeral of Major John Floyd Childs took place at the Forsyth Primitive Baptist church at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Duncan G. McCowen, pastor and life-long friend of the deceased, conducted the service. Major Childs was seventy-seven years of age, and was one of the most widely known and esteemed citizens of this county. During the civil war he served with the rank of major. Later in life he was for several years a member and chairman of the board of county commissioners. He was also a member and chairman of the board of tax equalizers several years ago. The interment was at Oakland cemetery. The deceased leaves a large family of children and grandchildren.

FRIEND OF THE THIRSTY.

Late Senator Plumb Had Water Coolers Put in the Capitol.

Washington Post: "It took the late Senator Plumb, of Kansas, nearly two years to get these water coolers placed in the corridors of the capitol," said a gentleman as he quenched his thirst with ice water the other day. "The senator was a fighter when he went into a fight, and it is said that some of his constituents who were visiting Washington for the first time called his attention to the fact that it was impossible for a stranger to get a drink of water in the big building. Of course people who know the ropes can dodge into one of the numerous committee rooms and get a drink of water, and frequently something stronger but before the coolers were placed in the main corridors the stranger stood little show.

"When the complaint was made to Senator Plumb he at once determined that there should be water for all who wished it. The senator went to work, introduced a bill, but this was lost in committee, and after repeated efforts, lasting nearly two years he managed to get it in as an amendment to an appropriation bill, with himself as one of the conferees. He was appealed to to give up the effort, but announced that he would defeat the whole bill unless the amendment for coolers stuck. That settled it, and during the next recess the coolers were placed in the walls. The water is kept cool by going through a coil of pipes through and around the storeroom in the basement of the building, where the ice for use in the building is stored. I never take a drink here but that I think of Senator Plumb, one of the best men who ever came to the senate and who killed himself by overwork."

DOTHAN WILL BE ITS CENTER.

NEW COUNTY TO BE FORMED IN ALABAMA.

Question Was Issue in Election of Representatives in Henry County—No Name Selected.

Montgomery, Ala. September 5.—(Special.)—One of the most interesting outcomes of the recent democratic primary is that it means the formation of a new county with Dothan as the county seat. The new constitution makes a special exception as to the requisite size of new counties in the case of a district with Dothan as the center, so that a new county can be formed there with less than 600 square miles. A county of that size would be impossible, as it would reduce the size of old counties from which slices would be taken below the limit. The new county was the issue in the nomination of representatives in Henry county, and the ticket for a new county won by a large majority, many voters in portions of the county that will remain in Henry favoring the proposition. Even Abbeville, the old county seat, divided her vote.

Quite a discussion is now going on as to the probable name of the new county. It will have Dothan as the county seat, and be made up of portions of Henry, Dale and Geneva. The territory is the most flourishing agricultural district in the state, the lands being fresh and recently cleared of timber. Much of it is still in timber, and there are many saw mills and turpentine orchards.

SHE BOARDED WRONG VESSEL

Arrival of a Badly Frightened Russian Woman at Savannah.

HER PASSAGE PAID FOR RETURN TRIP TO NEW YORK

She Intended Taking Ship to Boston from New York, But Cabman Took Her to the Wrong Pier and She Landed in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) The steamship City of Memphis of the Ocean Steamship Company's line, which reached port, had a greatly frightened Russian woman aboard. She had boarded the ship at New York by mistake and her story was so pitiful that it provoked the sympathy of the passengers, who came to her aid by subscribing to a fund to pay her passage back to New York.

The woman's home was Buffalo, and she was bound for Boston to attend her sister's funeral. At New York a cabman took her to Pier 35, North river, that of the Savannah line, instead of to Pier 35 East river, that of the Joy line to Boston. When she was discovered aboard the City of Memphis she could give little account of herself, speaking English but slightly. She left for New York by the outgoing boat.

TO IMPROVE PUBLIC ROADS.

Ware County Commissioners Add $1 Per $1,000 for This Purpose.

Waycross, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) The Ware county commissioners at their meeting this week fixed the county taxes for the present year at $6.20 on each $1,000. This amount added to the state tax of $5.30 will make the total tax rate $11.50 per $1,000. This is $1 per $1,000 higher than it was last year. The extra dollar is the road tax to assist in supporting the county convict gang, which will be instituted here in a few days. The new road law requires that all persons in the county who are subject to road duty be taxed $2 each. About $6,000 will be raised by the county annually from the extra tax for the purpose of working the public roads. D. J. Blackburn, who was recently elected road inspector, has just made his report to the commissioners, and states that there are 212 miles of public roads in the county. The commissioners intend to begin at once in all the militia districts and have the public roads graded and placed in proper shape. Where clay can be obtained easily the roads will be clayed. The good roads movement is creating much interest among the county commissioners and others and, with the $6,000 to be expended annually for road purposes, it is expected that much will be done toward their improvement.

MORMONS MAKE CONVERTS.

Missionaries Actively at Work in Florida Counties.

Valdosta, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) Mormon missionaries have been actively at work for several months proselyting in Madison, Taylor, Hamilton and other Florida counties, and appear to have been remarkably successful in their efforts. Many converts have been made to Mormonism and a number of families induced to move to the west. A car load of converts passed through the city yesterday bound from Taylor county, Florida, to Leftwich, Canada. They came in over the Valdosta Southern railway in a through coach, which they will occupy until they arrive at their destination in the far northwest. There were twenty-five or thirty persons in the party, consisting of families who had embraced Mormonism and appeared to be, for the most part, people of more than average intelligence.

STOLE PISTOLS AND KNIVES.

Burglars Enter Hardware Store at Covington.

Covington, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) One of the boldest burglaries that was ever committed in Covington happened last night, when a thief or set of thieves entered the hardware store of James R. Stephenson by scaling the wall of his store and entering from the roof through a side sky light. The burglars secured a number of pistols, knives and cartridges, amounting to about $75.

This is the second robbery that Mr. Stephenson has had this year. The other one happened in the spring, when a burglar entered the side door and stole the same articles as were taken this time and of just about the same value.

No clew has yet been found, but the police authorities are working hard on the case and doubtless some evidence will be developed today.

ROAD MAY SHORTLY BE BUILT.

President Hawkins Receives Important Telegram.

Columbus, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) President W. A. Hawkins, of the Columbus, Eufaula and Gulf railroad, leaves tomorrow for Baltimore, being in receipt of a telegram from parties there which would seem to indicate that the financing of his road is now assured. In case he makes the arrangements, which the tenor of the telegram indicates will be made, the building of the road will occur at once.

An Important Connection.

Carrollton, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) The Gainesboro Telephone Company, a long distance telephone corporation of this city, in its course of expansion began this week the most useful link in its system. It is the building of a link from Centralhatchie to Franklin, the county seat of Heard county. Heard county has no railroad nor any telephonic or telegraphic connections with the outside world and when this link is completed, in a few weeks, connection will be established over the entire Bell telephone system through the long distance exchange office at Carrollton.

JELLICO MINERS NOT WORKING

DISAGREEMENT OVER WAGE SCALE QUESTION.

Employees of the East Tennssee Coal Company Waiting for an Agreement.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—The Sentinel today says that the East Tennessee Coal Company is not operating its mines at Jellico on account of a disagreement on the wage scale question. About 150 men are out, awaiting a settlement. This company employs union labor, and those out are nearly all union men. The points in controversy cannot be learned. In the Tennessee coal fields, west of the Cumberland coal belt, there are now about 600 men out waiting for agreements as to wage scales.

CUTHBERT'S MILL TO START UP.

Eastern Capitalists Are Inspecting the Property.

Cuthbert, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) It is almost certain that Cuthbert's cotton mill will soon be put in operation again. A party, representing Philadelphia capitalists, was in the city this week and inspected the property. The party was favorably impressed with everything and has so reported. It is regarded as only a matter of a short while before a deal for this property will be effected and the same again put in operation.

Negotiations are pending and meeting with much success toward locating an underwear mill here. Outside capital is at the head.

Besides the above, negotiations are pending toward locating other manufacturing plants here and are meeting with great encouragement.

NEWS NOTES FROM DUBLIN.

City Court in Session—The New School Building, Etc.

Dublin, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The quarterly term of the city court of Dublin has been in session since Monday morning. The time of the court has been taken up so far mostly with civil business, but from now on the evil doer will come in for attention. There has recently been much activity among the county officers in the direction of blind tiger operators. About a dozen white and black men will be tried this week for running these illegal liquor establishments in and near this city. The evidence against most of them is conclusive, and the county chaingang will either have several additional laborers or the court officers will receive quite a sum of money as a result of the trials and convictions. Blind tigers have a hard time in this section of Georgia. The sentiment of the people is strongly in favor of enforcing the prohibition law of the county, and this sentiment makes the task of the officers of the law much easier.

Dublin's new school building is yet unfinished, and the fall term of the schools will not begin until the latter part of this month or the first part of next month. Contractor Jay has done all in his power to have the job completed, but a lack of certain material, a scarcity of laborers and other causes have occasioned much delay. The new building's plans were drawn by Architect H. W. Witcover, of Savannah. W. T. Jay, of Shellman, is the contractor.

A day or two ago a young man named Fred Melton, while returning from Dublin to his home a few miles in the country, was thrown from his buggy and very seriously injured. His condition is now regarded as critical. The young man fell on his head, and has been only semi-conscious since the accident. He is about 24 years of age.

Never in the history of Dublin has there been as much moving around as among the merchants since September 1. About a dozen of them have changed their places of business and others are still moving for different reasons.

NARROW ESCAPE AT CUTHBERT

Cars Strike Buggy in Which Lady and Son Were Riding.

Cuthbert, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) Mrs. R. L. Hester and son had a narrow escape from death at the Central railroad crossing on Blakely street yesterday afternoon. The freight train was drilling cars and had unblocked the crossing so that people could pass over. Before all could pass over the cars came together. One of the wheels of Mrs. Hester's buggy was demolished. She was badly shaken up and received a painful gash on the head. Her son was thrown among the broken wheel, but was unhurt. His escape was miraculous as well as that of Mrs. Hester.

SWUNG TOO FAR FROM CAR.

Killing of a Negro Brakeman at Villa Rica, Ga.

Villa Rica, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) A horrible accident occurred here yesterday. Jim Dobbs, colored, a brakeman on a local freight train, in attempting to climb on a moving train was knocked from the car by another car on the siding and fell under the trucks and was cut in two. Dobbs' home is at Heflin, Ala. No blame is attached to the crew or anyone except Dobbs himself, who was, it is said, swinging himself too far from the car that he was attempting to climb on.

Bethel Male College.

Cuthbert, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Bethel Male college began its fall session Wednesday with a large increase in attendance, many being out-of-town students. President Pollock, of Mercer, delievered an interesting address on education. With pupils expected the college will doubtless record the largest enrollment in many years.

Want a Union Station.

Cuthbert, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Our people are much interested and anxious that the Central and the G., F. and A. will erect a union passenger station where the latter road intersects the former. It would be a great convenience to the traveling public and more accessible to the larger portion of our population.

Changed Date of Primary.

Augusta, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The white primary executive committee met tonight and changed the date of the councilmanic primary from November 6 to November 4, so that it might fall on the day of the congressional elections and thus have only one election day instead of two in a single week.

Wadley High School.

Wadley, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Wadley high school has opened with a splendid attendance. The city council ratified the vote of the people at an election recently held and the public school system goes into effect at once.

Meson Academy.

Lexington, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) Monday next Meson academy's doors will open for the fall term under most flattering conditions. A competent faculty, entirely new, has been engaged by the trustees.

LEFT THE BABY WITH PREACHER

Rev. Mr. Stewart Boards a Train for Montgomery, Alabama.

SITS DOWN BESIDE MAN WHO HAD CHILD IN LAP

Stranger Asked Minister To Hold Little One While He Stepped Off of Car To Speak to a Friend—And He Never Returned.

New Decatur, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—R. H. Whitman, of this city, has just received a letter from his cousin, Miss Cilley, of Lawndersboro, Ala., in which she relates a thrilling little incident that has never as yet found its way into the newspapers. Miss Cilley says:

Recently Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Lawdersboro, was returning home from one of his appointments. He boarded a southbound train for Montgomery. There was only one vacant seat in the car, and a portion of that one was occupied by a fine-looking, well-dressed young man, who was holding a pretty little baby girl in his arms. The child was about 4 months old. The stranger said the child's parents were dead and that he had been appointed to take her to an orphans' home over in Mississippi. When the train reached Calera the young man turned to Mr. Stewart and said: "I see an old friend of mine out there I want to speak to. Would you kindly hold the baby until I return?" Mr. Stewart did as requested.

Later Mr. Stewart looked out the car window and saw the young man boarding the outgoing Louisville and Nashville train, and before anything could be done to stop him the train was off and Mr. Stewart had the baby on his hands. He took the baby to his home, where it was cared for a while and later Mr. Stewart got her in the foundlings' home in Nashville, Tenn., where she now is.

Mr. Stewart and his good wife are thinking of adopting the child, however.

BUYING COTTON IN WAYCROSS.

It Was Sold in the Seed at 5 Cents a Pound.

Waycross, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) The first cotton that has been sold in Waycross in years was purchased this week by J. A. Jones. The cotton was brought in by C. W. Bird, of Ruskin, and the price obtained for it was 5 cents a pound in the seed. The business men of Waycross have at last awakened to the fact that a large amount of trade is lost here every year by there being no cotton buyers in the city, and this season farmers will be encouraged in bringing their cotton to this market. The Waycross ginnery is about ready for work, and the stockholders of this company will endeavor to have a large area of cotton planted in Ware county next season.

PLANTING THE BUTTER BEANS

Alabama Farmers Determined To Get Something Out of Ground.

Montgomery, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—Farmers are resorting to every possible expedient since the rains to get something out of the ground that will supply the place of the crops that did not grow during the long drought. It is too late for all but a very few things. Quite a number of bunch butter beans are being planted, it having been ascertained that these will yet make a crop. Doubtless if the fact were more widely known many acres would be put in that crop all over this section. More turnips are being sown than ever before.

Cobb County's Tax Rate.

Marietta, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Judge John Awtrey has fixed Cobb county's tax rate for county purposes this year at 50 cents on the hundred dollars. The county has built a new jail this year at a cost of $16,000, which is just now being completed by the contractor, C. E. Henderson. Notwithstanding this expenditure the rate is the same as last year and is 5 cents on the hundred dollars lower than two years ago. The county is in good condition financially.

Dr. Richardson's Appointment.

Athens, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Dr. N. D. Richardson, a prominent young physician of this place and a son of a former well-known physician of Nashville, has just received a most excellent appointment in the government service. He was given a position in the marine service as assistant surgeon with the rank of captain. His appointment dates from the 15th of August. He will go to Angel island, California, where he has been assigned.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN EDWARDS.

Leading Citizen of Randolph County Passes Away.

Spring Vale, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Captain M. C. Edwards, one of the leading citizens of this town, died here, and his remains were interred at Georgetown beside his wife. Captain Edwards had held many positions of trust and was held in the highest esteem by all citizens of this and adjoining counties. He was a confederate soldier, being captain of a Stewart county company, under General Clement Evans and General Joe Wheeler, and was promoted on the field. He conducted a school here shortly after the war which became famous and sent out many pupils who have become successful men. He was county school commissioner of this county for years, which position he resigned to represent this district in the state senate. He leaves four daughters and four sons who fill honorable spheres in their respective communities.

He was a man of strong and pleasing personality, and was universally esteemed.

Mrs. Rebecca Jones, Griffin, Ga.

Griffin, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Rebecca Jones, one of Griffin's oldest and most highly admired ladies, died last night at the home of her son, George I. Jones, on Poplar street. Mrs. Jones has long been one of the most prominent and best beloved ladies in Griffin. She was 88 years old and during her whole life had been an ardent Baptist, who was closely identified with the true interests of our community. She leaves a large family of children, being the mother of Major George I. Jones and James Jones, of Griffin, and Mrs. J. C. King, of Joplin, Mo.

Louis A. Niles, Griffin, Ga.

Griffin, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The sad intelligence reached the city today of the death of Louis O. Niles, who until recently was bookkeeper of the Griffin savings bank. Mr. Niles died at Denver, Colo., where he had gone in the hope of regaining his wrecked health. He was the eldest son of George R. Niles, long a prosperous merchant of Griffin. He was 28 years old and unmarried. Few young men had as many admirable traits of character as he.

J. S. Everett, Columbus, Ga.

Columbus, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) John S. Everett, aged 64 years, died today at his home in this city.

HITCH IN THE JOINT DEBATE.

LOOKS LIKE ARRANGEMENT IN TENNESSEE IS OFF.

Some Republicans Think Judge Campbell's Chances Are Better with a Still Hunt.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—There is now some doubt as to whether there will be a joint canvass for governor between Hon. J. B. Frazier and Judge H. T. Campbell, democratic and republican candidates, respectively. A few days ago it was given out here that the joint debate would begin on September 6, and probably in this city. Now, from the latest conference between Chairmen Borches and Thompson it appears that no agreement has been reached. It is understood here that Judge Campbell personally favors the joint canvass, but some of the members of the republican executive committee are not inclined to favor it, so it is said. The reason given is that republicans may think if a "loud" campaign is waged the full democratic vote will be polled, while if the "still hunt" is adopted the republicans may be able, in a quiet way, to get out their full vote and the democrats may be less enthusiastic and not poll the full vote in November. This is the way some look at the matter. Something definite as to the joint debate is expected in a few days.

A conference was held here tonight between democrats and republicans in an effort to settle the question of gubernatorial joint debate. Counter propositions were made, and at midnight the conference adjourned until tomorrow. The democrats then had under advisement a proposition from the republicans in the nature of a challenge from Campbell to Frazier. It asks for a debate of thirty speeches to begin September 20, or thirty speeches to begin September 10 and last until the November election, or have fifteen speeches on eve of the election. The democratic proposition was for fifteen speeches to begin September 10 at Winchester.

MERCER WILL SHORTLY OPEN

FALL TERM BEGINS ON 19TH OF SEPTEMBER.

Indications That the Attendance Will Break All Previous Records.

Macon, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The fall term of Mercer university will begin on September 19 and there is every indication that there will be the largest matriculation of pupils ever recorded in the history of the institution. It is expected that on the opening day fully 275 pupils will be enrolled and this number will be considerably increased as the term advances. Under the able and popular administration of President Pollock Mercer university has made phenomenal progress. Mercer has a fine faculty and the splendid reputation of the institution has gone abroad.

The faculty will consist of the same members as last year, the only change being that Professor Clark, who was assistant professor of English, has been placed by the trustees at the head of the department.

E. M. Ledyard, of Michigan, will be physical director and under his direction the gymnasium will be kept in splendid working order. Mr. Ledyard has had much experience as a physical director.

The library is a very important feature of the institution. At present there are 10,000 volumes in the library; 600 new volumes have been added this year. Miss Georgia Logan, of Macon, is librarian. She has been spending some time in New York this summer learning to classify books scientifically.

C. P. Steed, secretary of the law faculty, has received about forty applications of young men who expect to become students of the law department. Mercer has a splendid law school, and its faculty is unsurpassed by that of any law school in the south.

On September 16, 17 and 18 examinations will be held for entrance to Mercer. About twenty-five students have attended the summer school preparatory to the entrance examinations.

Hannah Will Be Nominated.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—The democrats of the second congressional district will meet here tomorrow to nominate a candidate for congress. Colonel Harvey H. Hannah will be the nominee. He is now in Maine making campaign speeches in behalf of democratic candidates for congress in that state. It is expected that J. F. Littleton, of Kingston, Tenn., will be made the chairman of the campaign committee. Colonel Hannah will run against Congressman Gibson, republican.

Ex-Congressman Is Ill.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—Ex-Congressman Anderson, of the first district of Tennessee, is seriously ill at his home at Newport, Tenn. He is suffering from typhoid fever. Three of his children are also suffering from this malady.

Leaves for New Post Shortly.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—Dr. W. F. Ross, of this city, who has been one of the local board of medical examiners for applicants for pensions, has been appointed to a position in the pension department at Washington, and will leave for that city next week. His successor here has not yet been named.

Trainmen To Get Increase.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—Local trainmen of the Southern railway have been led to understand that the management will at an early date grant an increase of 10 per cent in the wages paid all trainmen. It is said the information comes from General Manager Ackert's office.

New Man in Charge.

Huntsville, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—A. B. Coryell, of Waverly, Tenn., has been placed in charge of the Huntsville Railway, Light and Power Company and made superintendent and general manager. New machinery is being installed and Mr. Waverly expects to have cars running again in a few days.

Baseball at Huntsville.

Huntsville, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—The wholesale and retail grocers' teams played a game of ball yesterday afternoon and the retailers won by a score of 25 to 5.

Four Horses Cremated.

Bartow, Fla., September 5.—(Special.)—This morning between 1 and 2 o'clock the livery stables of R. C. Carter at Kingsford were discovered on fire. The horses were all saved except four, which perished in the flames.

Three Indicted for Bribery.

Memphis, Tenn., September 5.—The grand jury today returned an indictment against F. G. Jones, Frank Smith and Ed J. Karr, all officers of the Memphis Street Railway Company, charging bribery.

Killed by Falling Slate.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—O. E. Elliott, miner, was killed by a fall of slate in Soddy mines today. He was an Odd Fellow and Red Man.

Gentlemen:

London being the leading market of woolen goods as well as the head center of sartorial art, it was essential in order to procure the finest quality, the newest designs in pattern and coloring, to go there and personally inspect the stocks of the leading cloth houses and the styles in vogue by the leading merchant tailors of that city. Having filled positions with the best trades there, am in touch with the leaders of fashion, which has enabled me during my three months' stay there to gain correct knowledge which I could not otherwise procure of everything pertaining to dress for gentlemen, and purchased accordingly a large and varied stock, which is ready for your inspection. The stock is superior in every respect to anything outside of metropolitan houses—every pattern exclusive, and if favored with an order can assure you that perfection of fit and style produced only by one with years of experience in the best schools of tailoring art on both sides of the water, and with special facilities to keep in personal touch with London styles.

IT BEGINS A DAY EARLIER.

VETERANS' REUNION AT COLUMBUS, GA., NEXT MONTH.

Date Changed from October 29-30 to October 28-29—Why the Change of Date Was Necessary.

Columbus, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) Upon request of General Clement A. Evans that the date for the state reunion of confederate veterans be changed because it conflicted with other meetings, Camp Benning tonight changed the reunion dates from October 29 and 30 to October 28 and 29. Preparations have progressed to the extent that it was not possible to make a greater change in the dates. The reunion will be held while the Columbus fall festival is in progress. The Daughters of the Confederacy will be asked to change the date of their state convention at LaGrange from October 30 to October 31. Committees were appointed tonight to take in charge the various features of the veterans' reunion.

WILL WRITE FOR THE PAPERS.

FATHER HALPIN ARRANGES WITH EASTERN JOURNAL.

He Will Visit Philippines and Other Islands and Write Letters About Existing Conditions.

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) Father P. A. Halpin, who has been attached for some months to the parish of the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist at Savannah, returned today from New York, where he arranged with one of the papers of that city to write a series of letters from the Philippines, the Sandwich islands, Cuba and Porto Rico in the order named. He will write especially of the ecclesiastical conditions on the islands he visits. His commission will extend over a period of some eight months. It is approved by Archbishop Farley and Father Halpin has leave of absence from his parochial duties. He will leave within a few days.

NEW WARRANTS FOR LOGAN.

Alleged Train Robber To Be Tried by Federal Court.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—Harvey Logan, alias "Kid" Curry, the alleged ringleader in the Great Northern train robbery, in which $40,000 worth of unsigned Montana bank bills were stolen, was brought out of jail today for trial. After argument a motion was made that Logan be turned over to the federal authorities and was strongly resisted by Logan's attorneys. Judge Sneed, of the circuit court, ruled that the United States authorities be given concurrent jurisdiction of Logan under agreement that they would not take him out of the state for trial. This was agreed to and federal warrants served on him. He now can be tried for having unsigned bank notes in his possession, also for having forged the names of bank officials to the notes and passing same, instead of simply for assault, both policemen having recovered.

MISSISSIPPIANS WANT MORE.

Think They Get Too Small a Share of Appropriations.

Jackson, Miss., September 5.—(Special.) Many people in Mississippi are impressed with the belief that the state delegation in congress was not quite bold enough in asking appropriations at the last session. According to figures just compiled the appropriations to this state from the federal treasury amounted to only $280,000, or an average of 18 cents for each man, woman and child in the state, whereas Florida received about $3,500,000, a per capita of $3.60, and it has been suggested that at the coming session the Mississippi representatives should cast aside their timidity and endeavor to pull a little more money in this direction.

CARPENTERS WIN THE STRIKE.

They Will Get an Advance of 50 Cents a Day.

New York, September 5.—Eight thousand carpenters of this city won their strike for an advance of 50 cents a day, when the Master Carpenters' Association late tonight, after a conference of seven hours, granted the demands. The strikers, in addition, asked the employers to agree not to employ carpenters of any other union. This the employers positively refused, and the carpenters accepted the 50 cents advance. The men will go to work all over the city in the morning.

Petition in Bankruptcy.

Huntsville, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—J. D. Blount, a saloon keeper of Sheffield, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy yesterday, acknowledging liabilities amounting to $1,400. His assets amount to $1,000.

WORDS OF WETNESS.

Highly Interesting Information Concerning Dry Weather Nomenclature.

New York Sun: The great work of philology goes on, careless of the calendar; nay, even busier in vacation time. Fervet opus, hot stuff. We are waiting for a really blistering, blighting "spell of weather," some hydrophobia of the dog star, the souring of the Milky Way. Then on an irritated world shall we sprinkle relieving showers of that quaint, beautiful and unprofane profanity which our diligent collaborators on the Dictionary of Profanity and Curse Lore are sending to us by the glassful, bucketful, hogsheadful, oceanful. This vast irrigation reservoir will be opened when it is needed most. Till then, patience! Today we walk by the banks of another irrigation channel and send a few gracious drops into the cracking throat of humanity.

Certain erudite and facetious correspondents have been amusing themselves by seeking to derive "ball" in its spirituous sense from "bawl," "boll," "bowl." Swift's derivation of "Jupiter" from "Jew Peter" was not more ingenious or convincing. "Ball" expresses whimsically the explosive and dangerous qualities of the cup that beers and inebriates. One of our conservative etymologists has appropriately compared "ball" with the metaphors "half shot" and "loaded to the muzzle." We may cite the exactly parallel metaphor, common in New England and probably elsewhere, of "slug." A "slug" is a "ball," a "drink." To "slug up" is to insert a number of "balls" and is the equivalent of the sister phrase "to tank up." To be pretty well "slugged up" is to be "foxed," as the Elizabethans said, to be a little "screwed," as the English and Canadians have it, but is distinctly gentler and of feebler alcoholic connotation than to have "a skate," a "jag," strangest of all, "a bun." Will our philologers tell us the origin and distribution of "bun?" And of another mysterious wet word, "o-ro-i-ded," with accent on the penult. On a steamboat the other day we heard a highly "horsy" young man, a millionaire in variety and range of vocabulary, describe an absent friends as a "boozeree," "o-ro-i-ded" about half the time.

The subject is not engaging, but the language invites inquiry. Akin to the alcoholic "ball" is "pocket pistol," called in Massachusetts "ancients' sidearms," by the side of which belongs "Boston lancers' milk," i. e., whiskey and "Joy street cocktail," i. e., rum and molasses (rum and "gum"). But "ball" lends itself to other metaphors and belongs to the "diamond" as well as to the proving ground. In Park row yesterday we heard a gentleman in a blue jumper say to his comrade, "I'm goin' to hit another one in a minute; I'm dry as a fish." Here arms yield to sport. So when the alliance of whiskey and carbonic came into being, the ordinary "ball," twin brother of "slug," was metamorphosed into baseball and dubbed "high." The trope for irresponsible, prolonged, elevated condition known as "a bat" also comes from the ball field. Nobody knows where a bat will send a ball. Nobody can tell whither too many called "balls" will bring the man driven by a "bat." The figure is a little confused. The "balls" direct and propel the "bat," not the "bat" the "balls," but the high allegorical significance is clear. To be "full," Baccho plenus, is politer and shows a lower reading of the oinometer. To be "oxidized" is rarer. The present Manhattanese word "mezzermachiner," or "mezzermachina," if we may try to fetter in written characters a gypsy of the tongue as she is spoken, is said to be a synonym of "bun" and its brethren. Whence and what is it? It has a face drunken Italian, but Italian doesn't drink.

The "subway cocktail" is severely local, we believe; known in the Manhattanese toxicology only. The genial word "Mulligan" in its technical liquid meaning is puzzling. It has made its way on the stage. Was it the favorite of those glorious warriors, the Mulligan Guards of this town? If yes, then we shall drink at least the sound of that dactyl in affectionate remembrance of the Hon. Edward Harrigan, now or formerly of the ninth ward and of Tony Hart, "the lost light of those dawn-golden times." The fresh air of modernity is felt in "power house" and "pumpin' station," substitutes for the saloon. We commend them to sociologists and dictionary makers. And here ends our short walk among Wet Words.

Systematic Effort v. Good Luck.

Mahin's Magazine: Men have been carried to financial success by fortunate circumstances over which they have had no control, and as long as the human race exists examples will be found of pure luck acting to shape some men's careers. The rule, however, is that each must work out his own destiny, and the men who are entitled to the highest credit for great things accomplished are those who have created conditions by the force of their own brains and hands.

The best ultimate results are reached by those who have formed a definite purpose and who have refused to be influenced by forces tending to turn them into any other road than that in which they had decided to travel. In all professions and in all business this principle has illustrations, and it may be said to be one of the basic laws of successful effort. It is no better exemplified than in advertising.

The advertiser who is spasmodic and unsystematic in his methods is the man who is taking the long chances that good fortune may seek him out. The one who lays a definite plan, who carries on a campaign of publicity founded on logical principles, and who persists in the course he has determined to be right, is the man who creates a prestige for his goods and ultimately wins the reward of his perseverance.

IS A POLITICAL SENSATION.

THE DECLARING OF HEFLIN AS NOMINEE.

Alabama Papers Say the Committee Should Have Investigated Reported Conecuh Error.

Montgomery, Ala., September 5.—(Special.)—A growing sensation has sprung up out of the action of the state executive committee in declaring Mr Heflin the nominee for secretary of state without investigating the reported error of 100 votes in the returns from Conecuh county. A change of 100 votes would have made Heflin a plurality instead of a majority candidate, and required a run over between him and Julian. It is reported that Wilson Brown, who managed Julian's campaign, when he saw the action of the committee next morning, telegraphed a request to a friend to institute a contest for Julian, but the matter was settled to the satisfaction of all three of the candidates concerned.

Still, everybody is talking about the matter, and old-line democrats by the score are declaring their purpose to scratch the ticket so far as Mr. Heflin is concerned. There is no doubt that Mr. Heflin would have won in a run-off with Julian, nor is there any doubt that Julian himself would have retired in Heflin's favor. But the kick is on the principle of the thing. The protest is not from the just defeated Johnston faction of the party, which might be expected to be sore and ready for an opening, but from the Jelks men. The Advertiser, of this city, enters its protest in a leading editorial this morning, and The Birmingham News of yesterday calls for an investigation, notwithstanding the committee has adjourned and Mr. Heflin is proclaimed the nominee.

A mild sort of storm seems to be brewing, though not of sufficient dimensions to endanger the success of the ticket in any way.

The retirement of Major Harris from the race for superintendent of education in the second primary leaves the issue a mere personal one between Messrs. Wilson and Garber for attorney general. Both are capable lawyers, and they are at one with each other on all the state issues in having been for the winning side in the gubernatorial fight. Neither has any enemies, and hence the contest narrows down to the single question as to who can get the more of his friends to turn out and vote for him. Wilson got a good lead in the first primary, and that is a considerable advantage, but Garber was the stronger in the centers of population and it would seem that his friends might be the more readily persuaded to turn out.

BLACKSHEAR WINS AT TENNIS.

Defeated Yarborough in a Match at Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—An exhibition tennis match for the best three in five sets between Joseph Yarborough, champion of the Augusta Tennis Club, and Sterling Blackshear, University of Georgia champion, resulted in a victory this afternoon for Blackshear. They played yesterday afternoon and ended, on account of darkness, with a draw, each having won two sets and five games each in the fifth. Today they played again and Blackshear won three out of four sets. The score was: Blackshear 4, 6, 6, 6; Yarborough 6, 1, 1, 4.

In the recent club tournament Yarborough defeated Blackshear and won the cup.

It Will Not Down.

The republican politicians are manifesting considerable concern over the published announcement that William N. Whitely, the well-known manufacturer of farming implements, has determined to desert the republican party and vote with the democrats.

Mr. Whitely employs about three thousand hands in his big reaper works at Springfield, Ohio. He has always been a republican, and under any circumstances his change of faith would attract widespread attention. But it is not so much the loss of Mr. Whitely, his support and his immediate influence that worries the far-seeing leaders of the republican party as it is the reasons he gives for his change. A telegram from Springfield to The Chicago Record-Herald, which tells of his transfer of political allegiance, says:

This remarkable change of political faith Mr. Whitely himself attributes to the conviction that it is the tariff that has fostered the trusts in the past, and that will continue to sap the vitals of the people so long as it is retained in force.

"The democrats must stick to the tariff issue if they expect to win," said Mr. Whitely today. "They can win if they will not be so very diffuse in their issues as they have been in the past. The people are getting tired of being dominated by trusts, and thousands of republicans are going over to the ranks of the democrats."

Mr. Whitely's decision and the reasons he gives for it are significant in showing the thought uppermost in the minds of the American people. They have had brought home to them the enormity of the burden, present and prospective, placed upon American consumers by the giant trusts, and they see, too, that the trusts get their power to oppress through the operations of the trust-made tariff, for which the republican party is responsible. All efforts to divert their attention from this economic fact have proved unavailing. President Roosevelt's talk about a constitutional amendment to take from the states the power to regulate private business and place it in the hands of congress is but part and parcel of the republican programme. The trusts are not afraid of that sort of talk—in fact, they inspire it and glory in its being spread abroad through the presidential medium; but they are afraid of the popular demand for tariff revision, for they know that is striking at their principal bulwark.

The first real scare they received was when the republican state convention of Iowa adopted resolutions calling for revision of those schedules under which the trusts have been able to fatten at the expense of the people. There was a square fight in that Iowa convention between the defenders of the Dingley tariff and the advocates of revision, with the result that the "let-well-enough-alone" fellows were completely routed. A great majority of the delegates, coming as they did direct from the people, knew that unless the republican platform embodied a demand for revision the masses could not be held in line, even in that republican stronghold. The men recognized as the party leaders endeavored to secure either an indorsement of the present tariff or no mention of the matter at all, but they failed utterly.

Since then the whole influence of the protected trusts has been devoted to an effort to discount those Iowa resolutions. Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, Congressman Hepburn and other Iowa politicians have been forced to the front to declare that the Iowans did not mean what they said—that, in short, when they demanded revision they really meant to say that the time to revise had not yet arrived—and the republican organs, almost without exception, have taken up the cry. While a number of these have balked at the president's constitutional amendment programme, they with one voice indorse his contention that the tariff must not be touched.

Despite all their efforts, however, the tariff revision sentiment will not down. The American people are in no mood to be fooled by sophistries. They realize the dangers involved in the monopolies enjoyed by the trusts, and they know that the republican tariff schedules are responsible for the existence of these trusts. They see, moreover, as Mr. Whitely sees, that the only possible correction of the existing evils lies in democratic tariff revision.

Consolidate the Georgias.

There are many effectual ways by which to sectionalize states and countries. Topography, products and lack of easy intercourse perform such feats for sections of North Carolina, of Michigan, of Tennessee and Texas. Where there are such natural segregations they can only be overcome by the art and enterprise of human invention.

But a great and practically homogeneous state, where solidarity of sentiments and interests should be natural, as they are, ought not to be forcibly sectionized by the very human agencies that have been created and fostered for the unifying purpose. Yet, as we have set out in editorials of the past two days, the Central of Georgia Railway Company, very inexplicably to the people of the state at large, are maintaining schedules from the fountain source of its system's traffic and prosperity that practically make Georgia as much two states as are North and South Dakotas geographically, and doubtless more so than they are in railway facilities of intercourse.

Argued from any standpoint of service to the larger population, to the larger mail distribution and the easier and freer intercourse between the people of south Georgia and the capital and metropolis of the state, the failure to give an early morning schedule out of Atlanta connecting with the early trains in all directions from Macon is so causeless as to excite both wonder and indignation.

If there are any commanding reasons why the mail and travel that pour into Atlanta as into a vast transfer hopper every night should wait the slow schedule programme of the Central of Georgia's present policy, those reasons lie in that region of railway occultism that the blunt common sense of the average business man cannot fathom.

The present plan often puts letters and passengers from twelve to twenty-four hours longer to perform their missions in the wide regions of south Georgia and southeast Alabama than if they could leave Atlanta in the early hours of the morning and get to South Atlantic and gulf ports, and all points between, before the afternoon is half spent. It requires the merest tyro in schedule-reading to see how easily that arrangement could be made and the vast field of public accommodation it would supply.

It is clearly up to the gentlemen who maintain this anomalous condition—this halving of the state in matters of mail, other intelligence and business travel—to justify so palpably evil an arrangement.

The chamber of commerce having taken up the matter should not rest until it has probed the wrong to the bottom, fixed the responsibility and found a remedy that will be potential and permanent.

"Prosperity" Analyzed.

It has been an axiom of political economy since the days of Adam Smith, and the truism is too self-evident to need authoritative support, that dull times mean a falling market, and flush times a rising market.

We have experienced both conditions in the recent and present era, and it is in order for the man who was employed then and now to put two and two together. The statisticians are doing this all over the country and their findings, without expressed conclusions, are interesting.

For example, the Massachusetts bureau of statistics has carefully investigated the cost of living and finds an increase of 19.54 per cent in the cost of staple provisions since 1897, the beginning of the first McKinley administration. The concrete figures cover the whole ground, but their reproduction is unnecessary here. The cost of dry goods and other household necessities was found to have increased in about the same ratio, while the advance in rents ranges from 40.57 to 66.24 per cent.

A statistical investigation of wages in various states during the same period shows that the increase is not at all proportionate to the increased cost of living, and in very many occupations and communities there has been no advance at all. Approximately speaking, the average wage-earner is about 20 per cent worse off than he was in 1896.

Of course, the army of the unemployed is smaller now than then, and in the case of workers who were out then and in now, an improvement has resulted, not to lose sight of the benefit to all communities from enlarged trade and industry. But with the average man, who has kept a-drilling through shadow and sunshine, accounts do not come as near balancing in this prosperity era as they did during the "panic of '93." If one's outgo is equal to or greater than his income, for all his economy, good luck and good management, he is not apt to get dizzy with the glamour of flush times. And this is just the condition nine out of ten American citizens find themselves in today.

Where is the trouble? With the trusts? Very largely, no doubt, but altogether with republican policies. The tariff is making the masses pay dearly for the other fellow's prosperity, and governmental agencies are playing into the hands of the few whose enrichment is effected by squeezing the many, without adequate compensating benefits.

What the republic needs is a long, simon-pure democratic regime, untainted by mugwumpery and unawed by sinister private influences. When we get that, the people will have their inning and there will be no odious statistical comparisons in our prosperity.

The Legal Sanctity of Jury Lists.

In the "Echoes from the People" will be found a cogent letter from a Clay county citizen protesting against the publicity given to the revised lists of grand and petit jurors as lawfully made up by the jury commissioners of the counties.

Because of the new status of the negro and the fact that he had been declared competent as a juror in our courts, the constitutional convention of 1877 devised the present system by declaring that "the general assembly shall provide by law for the selection of the most experienced, intelligent and upright men to serve as grand jurors, and intelligent and upright men to serve as traverse jurors. Nevertheless, the grand jurors shall be competent to serve as traverse jurors." The discrimination was made to keep the men of hotter blood, looser moral notions and least experience out of the grand jury rooms.

The selection of the jurors from the books of the tax receiver was by law conferred on a board of six jury commissioners, appointed by the judge of the superior court. In counties having incorporated towns of more than ten thousand persons the revision must be annually made in August; in all others it must be made every two years. The law provides that all matters discussed by the commissioners in passing upon the character qualifications of persons, admitting them to or rejecting them from the jury lists, shall be secret, unless called for in a legal cause in court.

Our correspondent is not correct, he will find on examination, in believing that the publication of the revised jury lists of the county is unlawful. The wisdom and policy of doing that belongs with the judge of the superior court, and with him alone, and it is irregular simply for the jury commissioners, the county judge, county clerk or other person to so publish them without the judge's sanction.

The trouble our correspondent names, consisting in the opinions of some that the names of certain parties should have been left off the lists, and the indignation that other names have been included in the lists, is inseparable from the system. The denates in the constitutional convention show that the idea of that body was that no man in the county should know whether or not his name was on the jury list except as he might learn it by having his name drawn from the box for service. But it did not so provide and the legislature did not so enact. The only way that end can now be attained, as the law stands, is by the judge of the superior court ordering the list sealed and its contents to be disclosed in any special case upon his order and in his discretion.

The system as founded admirably and adequately met the demands of those parlous times in politics and jurisprudence. It is possible that it could be amended with advantage in the direction indicated by our correspondent. That is a question that will have to be submitted to the legislature.

Teddy and the Trusts.

The people by thousands were crowded about
And the president spoke, with intent to give out
His position on trusts—and the things that he said
Caused every old codger to doddle his head
And remark
"Well, whar does he stand? D'ye see?"
And I said:
"Search me!"

The newspaper fellows were writing like smoke,
Shorthanding every darn'd word that he spoke,
But when the pothooks and curves were unspun
I heard each a-asking the next other one
This remark:
"Where did he land? Could you see?"
And he said:
"Search me!"

The folks read the papers, all anxious to see
How dead right on trusts the president be?
But when they'd scanned thorough and clean
Each turned to his neighbor with questioning mien
And remarked:
"Well, whar in this d——d trust business is he?"
But t'other un said:

Where Advertising Pays.

(From The Monroe Tribune.)

Peter Lynch, who has conducted a grocery store in Atlanta for forty-five years, placed an advertisement in the first issue of The Constitution in 1868, and for thirty-four years his advertising has appeared every day in that journal. That is the kind of advertising that pays, and business men everywhere should learn a valuable lesson from the example of Peter Lynch.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Publicity of Jury Lists.

Fort Gaines, Ga., September 4, 1902.

Editor Constitution: Since the board of jury commissioners of Clay revised the jury list of the county in August, lists and parts of the lists of grand and petit jurors as revised by the board, have been published to the world. This has been done not only in this county, but also in Early, as reports say. It has provoked warm comments and unfriendly criticisms against the commissioners on account of some whom they put on the lists and some whom they left off. This leads up to the inquiry, was not the publication of the revised lists a violation of the spirit and meaning of the law? The old statute provides that "the clerk of the superior court shall make out, in a book, lists of the names respectively contained in the grand jury box, alphabetically arranged, and place the book in his office, after the lists therein have been certified by the clerk and commissioners to contain, respectively, all the names placed in the jury boxes." Acts 1878-9, pp. 27, 34. After the passage of this act, another act was passed, requiring the commissioners, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, to take before the ordinary the following oath: "You shall faithfully and impartially discharge the duty of jury commissioners for the county of —— in accordance with the constitution of this state, to the best of your skill and knowledge; and the deliberations and counsel of the jury commissioners, while in the discharge of their duties, you shall forever keep secret and inviolate, unless called upon to give evidence thereof in some court of justice or other legal tribunal of this state." The last named act also provides that the clerk of the superior court shall be the clerk of the board of commissioners and "before entering upon the performance of his duties as clerk of said board he shall take an oath, before the ordinary, to faithfully discharge his duties, as required by law, and that he will never divulge any of the proceedings and deliberations of the jury commissioners unless compelled to testify thereof in some court in this state." Acts 1882-3, pp. 100-01. Was not the last named act, subsequently passed as above stated, intended to remedy the evil of publishing the proceedings of the commissioners or other mischief arising under the former statute? Was it not intended as a safeguard to insure that the commissioners be left free and untrammeled in the discharge of their duties? Was not the book containing the lists of jurors required to be kept by the clerk in his office, intended solely for the information and guidance of the commissioners and the courts? The spirit and reason of the statutes, as well as the public good, apparently demand that these questions be answered in the affirmative. Such a construction is favored by the juridical policy of other states. The law of Alabama is explicit in requiring the secrecy of the proceedings of her jury commissioners, and guards their secrecy with jealous care. It provides that when the commissioners have selected from the residents of the county persons competent for jury duty, they shall prepare a list of the persons so selected, and "shall file a certified copy of such list, in a sealed envelope, in the office of the judge of probate, within five days after making such selection, and the judge and probate shall keep such list securely and not allow the seal of the envelope to be broken, or such list to be inspected by any one, save the jury commissioners, unless under an order of the judge of the circuit, city or criminal court of the county." Code of Alabama, volume 2, section 4982. This article is evoked by what seems to be a reckless attack upon our present jury system, the source of which is older than magna charta, perhaps as old as the Grecian fleet and Roman eagle, and it is written in the hope that some Hercules of the bar will rise up and protect it against all the assaults of parties and factions. It requires neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet to foresee that the jury box will soon become a pandora box from which will spring untold evils, unless the commissioners that revise the jury lists are shielded against the attacks of the inconsiderate and short-sighted. And now, Georgians, countrymen and patriots, take heed, for our jury system is the bulwark of your rights of person and of property!

Cedartown Standard: Atlanta will have a convention of Georgia mayors in October, and Mayor Mims will tell these municipal executives how to run a live town.

Cap Joyner Puts Out a Fire.

Marietta Journal: Sunday evening about 6:40 o'clock Andrew Rogers and wife left their home on Atlanta street, near the Methodist church, to take a short walk. The 10-year-old son was sent back to the house to get a fascinator as a covering for her head. The little boy took a lighted lamp and placed it on the floor with a view of getting out of a trunk the articles wanted. Unobserved, the lamp caught the lace curtain on fire and was blazing rapidly. Cap Joyner, chief of the fire department of Atlanta, was passing the house at the time, coming from his country home in a wagon with a party of friends to get them off on the 6:45 train for Atlanta, and discovered the fire. He stopped his wagon and rushed into the house, and with buckets of water, brought by the boy, soon extinguished the fire. But for the timely appearance of Chief Joyner the house would have been wrapped in flames and probably destroyed. Chief Joyner is successful at a fire whether in his old home in Marietta or in Atlanta.

WARM FIGHT IN TALIAFERRO

Growing Out of the Recent Primary in That Section.

Crawfordville, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Taliaferro county is in the midst of one of the hottest political fights it has seen since the old days of Black and Watson. In the recent nomination Davidson and Hadaway were, prima facie, elected clerk and treasurer, respectively. Golucke and Bird, however, declared that enough illegal votes were cast to change the result and furnished the county committee a list of those claimed to be illegal and asked that they be taken out. The committee refused to take such action and declared Davidson and Hadaway the legally nominated candidates. Golucke and Bird will push their claims in the regular election in October.

ADVANCED THE PRICE OF COAL.

Savannah Dealers Put Up Prices on Account of Strike.

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—A combination was effected by the coal dealers yesterday when they determined to raise the prices of coal. It was decided that anthracite should go from $6.50 to $7.50; that Alabama coal should go from $6 to $6.50, and that Pocahontas coal should advance the same way as Alabama coal. They say their action is a result of the strike.

Macon's Street Fair.

Macon, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The street fair to be held in Macon next month will be given for the benefit of the Macon Central Labor Union. This union has secured the meeting of the State Federation of Labor in this city for next year and as it will need considerable money to entertain the large number of delegates and visitors who are expected to be in attendance, the per cent of the receipts that will come to the Macon Central Labor Union will be added to the entertainment fund. Coley Anderson, of Atlanta, has the contract to put on the midway features of the street fair, and he promises to furnish splendid attractions.

FRUITS OF THE SOUTH WANTED IN GERMANY

Washington, September 5.—(Special.)—Mr. Frank H. Mason, United States consul general at Berlin, has sent to the state department a report on German consumption of fresh and preserved fruits. This report, which is of special interest to the fruit growers of the southern states as suggesting new markets for the products of their orchards, was made public today. After telling of the great and rapid increase in the consumption of all kinds of fresh and preserved fruits in Germany Mr. Mason says:

"Among the new institutions of Berlin are several so-called 'reform cafes,' in which fresh and canned fruits, jellies, etc., are served in the American way, as a tempting substitute for the drinks and forms of food ordinarily provided at such establishments. Until within recent years fresh fruits, when eaten at most German tables, were served as dessert—rarely or never at breakfast, the first meal of the day. Now many leading physicians prescribe fruits at breakfast, and the spread of this so-called American practice is one of the main reasons for the general and largely increased importation and consumption which have become so noticeable.

"Along with this has come a vastly increased use of canned, dried and otherwise preserved fruits, of which the imported supply comes in steadily increasing volume from the United States. Within the past year these goods have been put on sale in immense quantities by the two leading department stores of Berlin, which, by means of special direct importations, have been able to offer canned peaches, apricots, pears and cherries, and dried prunes, evaporated apples, etc., from the Pacific and other American states at prices so far below those charged for the same fruits by retail grocers as to open these imported luxuries to a large class of working people with small incomes to whom they were previously a forbidden—because a too costly—luxury.

"There is hardly any reasonable limit to which the dried and preserved fruit export trade to Germany may not be in time developed, provided the business is conducted skillfully, with intelligent enterprise and in good faith. The one exclusively American preserved fruit store in Berlin has trebled its business during the past year and is now contemplating removal to larger and more costly quarters in the principal retail thoroughfare. Grocers and provision dealers in all quarters of the city display boxes of California dried pears, apricots, prunes, apples and peaches in their show windows as their most attractive advertisement. Most of these goods are fairly well graded and satisfactory, but there is more or less complaint about evaporated apples, which in many cases are not sufficiently dried, and, being left too moist, become mouldy and depreciate rapidly in the humid climate of Germany. The evaporated apple industry should by this time have reached a stage where account may be taken of the market for which the product is intended and special treatment provided as climate and circumstances may require. So, too, in packing, the inner contents of a box of dried pears or apricots should be reasonably within the same grade of quality as the selected pieces which are so temptingly ranged along the top and bottom, otherwise the German retailer will feel that he has been cheated by a trick in which the best of a purchased commodity has been put on the outside.

"And if so trite and threadbare a warning may be once more repeated, whatever fresh apples are exported to Germany this fall should be specially selected and packed for the purpose, as they are in France, Italy and the Tyrol. It is not necessary that American apples, the superior tenderness and flavor of which are now well known in this country, should be sold here as cheaply as they have been offered in former years, but it is necessary that they should be picked, wrapped and packed in ventilated barrels far more carefully than hitherto. Fine apples are a luxury for which European consumers have been long accustomed to pay what seem to us high prices. The best American fruit is up to the highest standard in all respects except the methods by which it is put up and handled, and these have been in many cases so crude and careless that losses have occurred on some shipments of apples, which have made importers somewhat afraid of them. On arrival in this country they have to compete in the markets and fruit stores with French, Italian and Tyrolese apples, which have been carefully picked by hand, wiped with dry cloths, each apple wrapped in soft, porous paper and snugly laid layerwise in casks lined with paper and having openings cut in their ends and heads to secure adequate ventilation. Such packing will increase the ordinary cost of the fruit, but need be no obstacle. The question is not so much one of price as quality and condition, and European methods of packing are necessary in order to give the American apple a fair chance in the German markets."

INJUNCTION AGAINST CITY.

Savannah Property Owners on the City Council's Action.

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) J. Ferris Cann, attorney for owners of property abutting on Emmet park, on Bay street, applied to Judge Pope Barrow, of the superior court, today, asking him to rule the mayor and aldermen of the city in contempt because they adopted a resolution last Wednesday night at their regular meeting declaring Emmet park a park and legally recognizing it as such. This Judge Barrow declined to do, saying that he did not consider that the mayor and aldermen were in contempt because of their action.

Some days ago the city was about to improve this park, which had never been legally recognized nor declared a park. The property owners secured the services of Mr. Cann and an injunction was secured from Judge Barrow, who forbade the city to take any steps at all in connection with the park until a hearing might be had. This hearing has never been held, and the city is still under injunction.

The city wanted to improve the park with a system of walks and grass plots and wanted to keep off all teams. The Standard Oil Company and other abutting property owners did not want to be excluded from the privilege of driving across the park. The city was ready to begin work when the restraining order was issued.

Mr. Cann declares most positively that the mayor and aldermen are in contempt for having taken action upon any phase of the park question.

To Have New Exchange.

Waycross, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—The Southern Telephone Company, of Waycross, and the Georgia Telephone Company, of Valdosta, were purchased by the Southern Bell Company yesterday. Assistant General Manager J. W. Crews is here and announced that an entirely new exchange will be placed at both Valdosta and Waycross. Long distance lines have just been completed between Thomasville, Savannah and Jacksonville. Long distance headquarters, now located outside of the incorporated limits, will be moved into town.

Fairburn Institute.

Fairburn, Ga., September 5.—(Special.) The fall term of Fairburn institute opened this week with fine attendance. The number of pupils will reach 200 or more, some of them coming from Florida, northeast Georgia and South Carolina.

Professor G. C. Looney, the well-known Georgia educator, is principal, assisted by a strong faculty. Mrs. Eva Looney Thornton, formerly of College Park, is music teacher. There is great enthusiasm among teachers, students and patrons over the bright prospects of the school.

Perry's Public Schools.

Perry, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Perry's public school opened Tuesday with the largest attendance of any opening day for several years. There were 110 in attendance. Professor W. W. Driskell is the principal, with Misses Annie Holleman and Mary Killen assistants. The school will run up to 125 or more.

MORE COTTON GOODS ARE GOING ABROAD

Washington, September 5.—(Special.)—The increasing activity of the manufacturers of the United States is illustrated on both the export and import side of the latest figures of the treasury bureau of statistics. During the seven months ending with July, 1902, the exportation of manufactures was nearly $10,000,000 greater than in the corresponding months of the preceding year, and the importation of manufacturers' materials was $30,000,000 greater than in the corresponding months of the preceding year. The exportation of manufactures during the seven months of the present year has averaged $35,108,000 per month, or at the rate of $421,000,000 per annum, while the importation of manufacturers' materials has averaged $36,000,000 per month, or at the rate of $432,000,000 per annum. Nearly all of the principal manufactured articles exported, except iron and steel, show an increase in quantity and in most cases in value, though in a few important articles the reduction in price per unit of quantity has brought the value below last year's figures, while the quantity shows an increase. This is true of mineral oils, for example, the exports of which during the seven months show an increase of over 4,000,000 gallons, while the figures of value show a decrease of about $1,000,000.

Among the articles which show a marked increase in exports are cotton goods, the exports of which amount to nearly $21,000,000 in the seven months ending with July, 1902, against a little less than $15,000,000 in the corresponding months of 1901. This increase is almost exclusively in cotton cloths, of which the exportations in the seven months ending with July, 1902, were $17,098,452, against $11,124,018 in the corresponding months of 1901, the number of yards exported being 324,865,962 in the seven months of the present year, against 207,377,567 in the corresponding months of last year. Copper, in which there was a marked decrease in the exportations of last year owing to high prices, now shows a marked increase, the figures being $28,614,210 for the seven months ending with July, 1902, against $20,731,622 for the same months of 1901. The chief decrease in exports occurs in iron and steel, the total exports during the seven months of this year being $57,263,304, against $61,160,730 in the corresponding months of last year.

On the import side nearly all the principal classes of manufacturers' materials show an increase. Chemicals increased in imports from $32,591,372 in seven months of 1901 to $33,831,577 in the same months of 1902; imports of raw cotton increased from 32,976,486 pounds in seven months of 1901 to 61,488,963 pounds in seven months of 1902, the quantity having thus nearly doubled. Of fibers the importations in the seven months ending with July, 1901, amounted to $15,330,786, and in the corresponding months of 1902 $22,457,293. Of hides and skins the figures of imports for the seven months of 1901 were $32,141,456, and for the corresponding months of 1902 $33,796,083. India rubber shows a slight decrease in importations, the total having fallen from 34,899,446 pounds in seven months of 1901 to 30,308,134 pounds in the same months of 1902, though the figures of 1902 are considerably in excess of those for the corresponding months of 1900. Silk shows a marked increase, the total value of unmanufactured silk imported having increased from $19,782,083 in seven months of 1901 to $22,186,841 in the corresponding months of 1902. Tin shows an increase in imports of from 44,398,650 pounds in seven months of 1901 to 50,918,903 pounds in the corresponding months of 1902. Importations of lumber and unmanufactured wood have increased from $8,653,370 in seven months of 1901 to $10,819,113 in the corresponding months of 1902, and raw wool shows an increase in importations of from $8,199,626 in seven months of 1901 to $12,006,855 in the corresponding months of 1902.

SCHUTZ SAYS IT IS PUT-UP- JOB

That He Refused To Join Strikers, and They Are Trying To Get Even.

New Orleans, September 5.—John Schutz, arrested on the complaint of Business Agent Zeigler, of the electric linemen's union, that he was one of the Cumberland employees who have been cutting the wires of the company, made a statement today denouncing the charge against him and asserting that he was the victim of a put-up job. Schutz says the strikers have been trying to get him to join their ranks. Several nights ago they gave him a terrible beating. He recognized some of his assailants and thinks the charge grows out of that fact. The linemen gave out two interviews by strikers who said they were present when the wires were cut by Schutz.

TO STOP THE SUNDAY SELLING.

Rigid Ordinance To Be Introduced in Knoxville Council.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—It is understood that H. W. Hall, member of the city board of public works, has had prepared an ordinance dealing rigidly with Sunday liquor selling. It has been charged that saloons have been open in Knoxville on Sunday, and the board of public works has been blamed. Member Hall wants the blame taken from that board. It is understood that his ordinance will provide for revoking the saloonist's license for two months on the first conviction for selling on Sunday, for six months on second conviction, and forever on third conviction. He believes such a penalty, if enforced, will stop the alleged Sunday selling. It is expected that the ordinance will come up in the city council tonight or at the next meeting of the council.

Military Rumors.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—It is rumored that Colonel J. J. Mitchell, of Greenville, Tenn., will soon resign his commission as colonel commanding the Sixth regiment, national guard state of Tennessee. It is also reported that in the event of his resignation Lieutenant Colonel Cary F. Spence, of this city, will be elected colonel by unanimous vote of the line officers of the regiment. Major C. Fred Brown, of Chattanooga, is mentioned as a probable successor to Lieutenant Colonel Spence in the event of such a change.

Anti-Brownlow Gain.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.)—Dana Harmon, the contestant against A. J. Tyler for the first circuit judgeship, scored a victory at Sneedville in the organization of the Hancock county republican executive committee. Harmon men were elected chairman and secretary. This is considered significant of the anti-Brownlow sentiment gaining ground. Hancock is one of the counties in which Harmon claims a district giving him a decisive majority was held out.

Conferring with Governor.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.) The two attorneys, James E. Shepherd and George Rountree, employed to aid Attorney General Gilmer in defending North Carolina in the notable suit in which South Dakota seeks to make North Carolina pay the full value of certain bonds isued in 1866, are here in conference with Governor Aycock and the attorney general.

WATER BOARD TO ASK FOR $400,000

Will Urge Council to Authorize Bond Election.

Money Is Needed for Important Improvements in the System—New Reservoir, Pump, Big Main and Filter Are in Imperative Demand.

The board of water commissioners yesterday afternoon took action requesting the city council to authorize a bond issue of approximately $400,000 with which to make extensive improvements in the water works system.

The proposed improvements consist of a new reservoir, a 20,000,000-gallon pump for the river station, a 36-inch main connecting the river station and the new reservoir, and also new filters. The board considers these additions to the system urgent and every possible effort will be used to secure the bond issue.

A committee, consisting of President George Hillyer, of the board; Mayor Livingston Mims and Superintendent Park Woodward, was appointed to present the matter to council and explain the necessity for the improvement. The committee will appear before council at its next meeting.

Should council act favorably on the proposition then the matter will have to be submitted to a vote of the people.

Improvements Are Necessary.

The improvement contemplated has been agitated for some time and the matter of a new reservoir was brought up in the board about five years ago. The matter assumed definite shape yesterday afternoon on the presentation of a report from Superintendent Woodward, in which he outlined in detail the needs of the water works department. The report showed the proposed improvements to be absolutely necessary and explained the benefits to be derived.

According to the report the present increase in population and consumption of water will render the present system inadequate within the next two years. It was shown that several months will be required to make the desired improvement and that it is essential for immediate action to be taken. The total expense is estimated at $400,000, of which amount about $100,000 is to be expended on the reservoir.

Mayor Mims, Commissioner Wilkes, President Hillyer and Councilman Barrett made speeches strongly advocating the bond issue. All of the commissioners favored the proposition and the action passing the matter to council was unanimous.

TWO ARE SENT TO THE TOWER

Charley Boyle and Woman He Brought to Atlanta Are Arrested and Sent to Jail.

Charlie Boyle, ex-bailiff and ex-signal operator at police barracks, was arrested yesterday morning by Call Officer Spradlin on the charge of decoying a young woman away from her home in Charlotte, N. C. Both Boyle and the woman, who gave her name as Maiten Sprouse, were arraigned in the recorder's court yesterday morning and committed to the Tower in default of bond. They had been living together as man and wife in a boarding house on Decatur street.

Boyle, it is said, is a married man, and his wife is now suing him for a divorce. He was at one time a signal operator at the police barracks. He became a bailiff in Judge Orr's court, and after leaving that place became a news butcher on the Southern railway. Charlotte was one end of his run and he there met the woman. She claims that he promised to make her his wife as soon as a divorce was obtained from his first wife.

The woman was taken in custody about a week ago and was released Thursday morning, the police having about given up all hope of ever finking Boyle. After his arrest she was found and again locked up.

GOVERNOR TAFT'S TESTIMONY.

His Views of the Character of Some of the Leading Filipinos.

New York Evening Post: It must certainly be a severe shock to our imperialist friends to hear from Governor Taft's own lips that the leading Filipino generals whom he appointed to office have proved "honest, straightforward and earnest" in their responsible positions. A few months ago they were murderers, would-be looters, ladrones, fit only for ridicule, contempt and denunciation, according to the imperialistic press. Moreover, they were red-handed violators of the rules of war, beside whom a little episode like Funstan's was, of course, not to be mentioned. But even this Governor Taft will not allow to pass into history. They undoubtedly believed, he declared, that according to their standards, their conduct of the war was perfectly legitimate. What a pity that the army authorities could not have realized this before they permitted many subordinates to resort to extra-legal measures which have since been defended on the plea that they were rendered necessary by the actions of the enemy! Governor Taft's statements were made before the court which was trying the American editors of The Manila Freedom for libel and sedition. If it were not that the law under which this trial occurred is one of the most outrageous and un-American ever enacted under the American flag, the plight of these editors would have something of the humorous about it. They represent the worst type of the colonizing American in their utter disregard for the rights and feelings of those whom they have openly called niggers—only good when dead. Wholesale killing was much too nice for the Filipinos, the alien and sedition act quite too mild for these miserable natives—until it was applied to The Freedom's editors. Since then their appeals for aid to the home press and their insistence that free speech in Manila was in vital peril, have been vehement indeed. They will at least have the satisfaction of thinking during their term behind the bars that they are furnishing a most admirable illustration of the working of our American brand of imperialism.

ARNOLD WILL SUCCEED SLEDD

Virginian Chosen to Chair of Latin in Emory College.

IS BROTHER OF FORMER PROFESSOR OF HISTORY

Has Two Degrees from Washington and Lee and Has Done Work in Johns Hopkins University. Election Is Only for Coming Year.

Announcement was made yesterday of the election of Dr. M. H. Arnold, of Virginia, to the chair of Latin language and literature in Emory college to succeed Professor Andrew Sledd, whose resignation was tendered and accepted several weeks ago as the result of an article on the negro question published in a northern magazine.

Dr. Arnold was elected only for the session of 1902-03. A permanent successor to Professor Sledd will be elected next June at the annual meeting of the board of trustees. Dr. Arnold was nominated by President James E. Dickey from a great number of applicants, who were seeking the place. The nomination was confirmed by the executive committee of the board of trustees at a meeting held in Atlanta Wednesday.

President Dickey has notified Dr. Arnold of his election as professor of Latin, but as yet has not heard from him as to whether or not he will accept. However, there is little doubt of his accepting the position, as he made application for it.

Dr. Arnold is a native of Virginia and a graduate of Washington and Lee university, from which he has received both the bachelor's and the master's degree. He has done work in Johns Hopkins university looking toward the degree of doctor of philosophy.

Since his graduation from Washington and Lee, Dr. Arnold has taught both in his alma mater and in Trinity college, the Methodist college in North Carolina. He is eminently fitted both by education and experience to fill the position to which he has been elected and will make a worthy successor to Professor Sledd.

The newly elected Latin professor is a brother of Dr. J. D. Arnold, who filled the chair of history and political economy during the spring term of 1900, while Professor Edgar H. Johnson was taking his master's degree at the University of Chicago.

HIBERNIANS MEET TOMORROW

Biennial Session of Georgia State Convention Will Be Held Here. An Important Gathering.

The biennial session of the Georgia state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held in Atlanta tomorrow. Visitors and delegates from Savannah, Augusta and Macon will be present. The convention will consider the advisability of amending existing by-laws to make them conform to the revised constitution adopted at the national convention, held in Denver, Colo., in July. Officers for the ensuing two years will also be elected.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians is composed of persons of Irish birth or descent who are practical Catholics. The intent and purpose of the order is to promote friendship, unity and Christian charity among its members by raising or supporting a fund for maintaining the aged, blind, sick and infirm members and for the advancement of the principles of Irish nationality. It contributes large amounts of money to worthy charities, provides entertainment for its members, supports a national organ, pays sick benefits and death indemnities and maintains a Gaelic chair at the Catholic university at Washington. It has a membership of more than 100,000.

In Fulton county there are two divisions. James Gillespie is county chairman. P. G. Keeney is president of division No. 1, and James J. Kieley is president of division No. 2. The present state officers are: President, M. J. Redmond, of Macon; vice president, P. M. Mulherin, of Augusta; secretary, M. J. O'Leary, of Savannah, and treasurer, E. C. O'Donnell, of Atlanta.

The members and delegates will attend mass at the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock a. m., where they will listen to a sermon by Rev. Father Gunn, county chaplain. The convention will open in the Ancient Order of Hibernians hall, on Pryor street, at 10:30 a. m. Local members and visitors will be entertained at dinner at the Kimball house at 6:30 p. m.

The Use of a King.

New York Times: The London Saturday Review has a passion for finding unanswerable reasons for the existence and continuance of things English which to outsiders appear more or less anomalies, anachronisms, and survivals at once amusing and puzzling. It is not content to accept, as the great body of mankind is compelled to, the force of habit as an explanation of things in themselves contradictory to sense and experience. It would like to prove that all the old customs of England are vital enough to justify their creation if they were not already in existence.

It has now discovered that nothing but the monarchic tradition would hold the scattered elements of the British empire together. "The American Republic," it says, "might conceivably found an empire on force, as the first French republic did; and they may, as they do, govern nations established in confined territories. But what are the possibilities of an empire in the circumstances of England and her colonies, each claiming the right of entering into any union on a basis of independence and equality, unless the crown, whose traditions are the common inheritance of all men of English blood, takes its historic position among them? * * * Without it the 'vision splendid' of British empire would lose its glory as suddenly and completely as the interest of the coronation preparations has vanished with the unhappy illness of the king. In both cases the absence of the one fact of essential significance deprives everything of its rational ground of existence."

This is eloquent, and it has some foundation, but not much. What has held the British empire together, and will long do so, is the essential fact that the interests, the rights, the opportunities, as well as the honor and the security of its parts are infinitely better preserved by unity than they could be by division. Internal liberty in every member of the empire is consistent with common British allegiance. There is some rivalry, but no antagonism between them. They have nothing to gain and everything to lose by separation. Their system of administration is such that it is not hard to regulate common affairs without interfering in special interests, and is likely to serve that purpose indefinitely. In this administration the king has his part, and it is not an unimportant one. But it is very subordinate, as would quickly be shown were he to try to extend it materially. Loyalty to the king counts for something. Loyalty to the ideals, the traditions, the hopes, and the faith of the race counts for far more.

OPPOSITION TO CITY OWNERSHIP

Felder Wants Interstate Telegraph Companies Excepted.

Said Franchise Section Would Work Hardship on Companies Doing Business Over Large Territory—The Committee Meets Monday

The charter revision committee of the city council met last night in the chamber of commerce with four members of the committee, consisting of Chairman J. L. Key, Malvern Hill, Courtland S. Winn and W. A. Fincher present. Alderman Woodward and Alderman LaHatte and Councilmen Harwell, Warren, Beck and Glass absent.

The committee took up the work of revision on chapter 16, which relates to franchises. T. B. Felder, of the firm of Felder & Rountree, appeared before the committee in the interest of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company and argued at some length in favor of the committee recommending a substitute to chapter 16 by means of which all telephones and telegraph companies engaged in interstate commerce should be excepted from the operation of this chapter.

Mr. Felder claimed that according to the chapter as it now stands, should it go into effect, it would work a great injustice to the company which he represents, and to any other company of like character doing an interstate business. Mr. Felder claimed that according to this provision of the charter the city can, under certain conditions, take possession of the franchise of the company and of the wires and other appurtenances of the company within the corporate limits of the city.

It was further claimed by Mr. Felder that the provision of the charter as it now stands is unconstitutional according to a number of decisions of the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Felder said that he was very desirous that the charter should not contain any provision that would work a hardship upon his company, as it had recently made Atlanta its southern headquarters, and that besides the large amount of money which had been already brought here by the company, the company was further considering the advisability of building here a large office building. He made the point that if any action which could be construed as hostile to the intertest of the company was taken it would drive away a large amount of money which otherwise would be invested here.

He said that such a provision as would give Atlanta control and possession of the property of the company would be copied by other towns of the state and that in a short time the company would be depossessed of all its property except that which was not in the corporate limits of any town.

Mr. Felder said that he was in favor of the control and ownership of public utility corporations that did a business wholly within the city and were purely of a local nature.

Will Come Up Again Monday.

No definite action was taken by the committee on Mr. Felder's substitute, but it will come up for further discussion at the meeting of the committee next Monday afternoon, when it is hoped that all the members of the committee will be present.

Chapters 17 and 18, on finance and the sinking fund, respectively, were stricken out by the committee.

Considerable discussion was indulged in by the members of the committee on chapter 19, which relates to the treasury surplus, city bonds and the city market. The discussion was mainly on the subject of the city having and maintaining a market. Councilman Hill was heartily in favor of Atlanta having a city market, as he believed that the sanitary condition of the city demanded it.

Mr. Hill said that since the agitation of the question of a city market had begun he had had a number of letters written him by citizens indorsing the movement and favoring the city having such a market.

Councilman Winn was in favor of the city owning a market provided it was not run by the city, but that the stalls were rented by the city to the different merchants. He was opposed to the city doing any business that could be done by the citizens.

Councilman Fincher was opposed to the city running any kind of a business that could be run by the citizens. As to the question of a city market, he knew of a great many in other cities that were not conducted as they should be, and that unless Atlanta could have one conducted properly he was opposed to the idea.

The committee condemned chapter 19 with the exception of the part which referred to the city market.

Chapter 20 of the charter, which relates to the power to tax, was next discussed by the committee, and it was decided to recommend the striking of all the chapter except that which relates to the placing of an ad valorem tax on merchandise.

Parts of the remaining chapters from 22 to 29 were stricken and parts were approved. The committee will meet on next Monday afternoon and formulate its report for the next meeting of the council.

WHAT WINE SHOULD COST.

English Consul Says It Should Be Cheap as Beer or Cider.

London Standard: Mr. Consul Hearn's report on the trade and commerce of Bordeaux and district for the year 1901 has just been issued in the foreign office annual series, and will be found of much interest to wine merchants and claret drinkers. Mr. Hearn discusses the question of obtaining in England a genuine claret at a reasonable price. "By the aid of a respectable wine merchant," he says, "it is generally possile to get this for home consumption, but in hotels, restaurants, and other public places, even where it is possible to get a genuine claret, it is not possible to pay a reasonable price for it. I believe that a good, sound, ordinary claret should be accessible to everybody as beer; cider, or whisky. Leaving the question of duties and excise on one side, the initial cost of production cannot differ very much, although, of course, wine has to be kept considerably longer than beer before it is fit for consumption, but then whisky ought to be kept still longer. I find a record of expenditure and receipts per acre on a vineyard producing a fair 'bourgeois' wine. The general expenses, which include cost of purchase, opening up and planting of land, buildings, etc. (calculated at thirty years' purchase), work out at £2 8s per acre per annum, the working expenses at £8 18s 6d per annum, making a total annual expenditure of £11 6s 6d per acre. An acre of this vineyard gave in 1899 480 gallons of wine, which were sold in barrels on the spot for £28 3s 4d, thus leaving a clear profit per acre of £16 16s 10d, which does not support the complaint that vineyard proprietors are ruined. Now, the 480 gallons, which were sold for £28 3s 4d work out at a trifle over 1s 2d per gallon.

Although, with merchant's expenses, freight and duty, the above sum does not represent by a long way the cost of this wine delivered in the United Kingdom, still I think it shows that such a wine could be sold with a fair profit at a fair price within the reach of all. The Bordeaux wine growers and merchants of old had the field all to themselves, and, with little exertion on their part, orders and money came rolling in, and this habit became so much their second nature, that, in these days of keen competition, many of them seem to be hardly awake to the situation, and expect to make profits on their wines on the same scale as when they enjoyed a practical monopoly. They must now, however, wake up to the fact that excellent table wines, in some respects resembling claret, are pouring on to the market from Australia, California, Cyprus, Italy, Russia and Portugal, to which will soon be added those of South Africa and South America. It is to be hoped that these new countries will plant in their vineyards only the best kinds of European grapes and leave the American vines alone. With the great increase in the world's wine production, Bordeaux wine growers and merchants must be content with smaller profits than formerly, and rely on the modern trade maxim, "small profits and quick returns." The enormous masses of bottled wines lying in the Bordeaux "chais," as the cellars are here called, are a standing proof either that the public will no longer drink fine clarets or that it will not pay the price asked."

She Threw Baby Into Well.

Raleigh, N. C., September 5.—(Special.) A negro woman was today placed in the penitentiary here to serve fifteen years. She is in wretched health. This fact probably saved her from the gallows, as her crime was particularly horrible. She threw her child in a well and the water was used several days before the fact was discovered.

ENDS HER LIFE WITH MORPHINE

Mrs. Sydney Smith, a Widow, Died Yesterday at the Grady Hospital.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS AT BOARDING HOUSE

She Came to Atlanta from Maysville About a Week Ago—It Is Not Known Whether She Committed Suicide or Not.

From a dose of morphine taken by her own hand and probably with suicidal intent Mrs. Sydney Smith, a widow, 30 years of age, who came to Atlanta from Maysville, this state, a week ago, died yesterday afternoon at the Grady hospital.

Mrs. Smith was found at her boarding house, 15 Houston street, in an unconscious and dying condition yesterday morning. Dr. Bizzell was summoned and upon his advice she was taken to the Grady hospital.

Why she took the morphine, whether through mistake as to quantity to produce sleep, or for the purpose of ending her life, is a secret which will be buried with her in her grave.

She was a pretty young woman, in excellent health and apparently in good spirits. She came to Atlanta about a week ago, saying she was on a trip to buy millinery for a store at Maysville. In a letter to her mother, however, which was found in her room yesterday, she said something about having secured employment in Atlanta. She was boarding at the Sherman, 15 Houston street, but the people there knew very little about her affairs. They say that she left the house Thursday night with a young man, saying she intended to go to Ponce de Leon springs. She returned shortly after 11 o'clock and went to her room. She was heard later moving about in her apartment.

Was Found Unconscious.

Yesterday morning the maid went to Mrs. Smith's room to awaken her, but found her sleeping so soundly that she did not disturb her. Later she went to the room again and discovered that Mrs. Smith was unconscious.

Dr. Bizzell, who was hastily summoned, saw that only heroic treatment would save the woman's life, and he had her conveyed in the ambulance to the hospital. At 2 o'clock death came, after the hospital physicians had worked on her unceasingly for several hours.

In Mrs. Smith's room there was found a letter addressed to her mother. It was read by the coroner, but it contained not the slightest intimation of any suicidal intention. The contents treated of private home matters, with the statement that the writer had secured a position in Atlanta and would remain here until September 15, when she might go to another city.

Married When Very Young.

She is said to have married when quite young and had been a widow several years. She leaves one child, aged 9, who is with the grandmother at Weston, this state.

The deceased was a daughter of B. F. Shivers, of Weston, and he has been notified of her tragic death.

The coroner held an inquest yesterday afternoon and the verdict was that death resulted from morphine taken by her own hand. No reference was made to suicide. The funeral arrangements will be made when Mr. Shivers has been heard from.

COUNTY TO LOSE ITS FREE WATER

Water Board Cuts Off Supply of Jail and Courthouse.

Expects To Get About $5,000 a Year in the City Treasury—Board Will Probably Also Take Free Water from Other Institutions.

The free water supply to Fulton county, as affects the court house and the Tower, was yesterday afternoon cut off by the board of water commissioners.

Beginning with October 1 the county will have to pay the city full rates for the water used in those two buildings. The value of that amount of water was estimated by the board to be more than $5,000 per year. The action of the board, therefore, means a big water bill for the county and an increase in the city treasury.

The action was taken on a resolution offered by Alderman Welch. Mr. Welch made a talk, explaining the resolution, stating that he did not believe the county was entitled to free water. He said he did not incorporate in the resolution the county stockade and one or two other institutions, as he understood they received free water under some kind of a contract.

The question of making the county pay for its water supply was agitated some time ago, but no definite action was taken.

May Cut Off Other Free Water.

Action was also taken that will probably result in the cutting off of the free water supply to a number of other institutions in the city. Alderman Welch introduced another resolution, providing that free water should not be furnished any individual, firm or corporation or institution of any character, except those receiving appropriations from the city council. At the request of Mr. Welch a vote will not be taken on the resolution until the next meeting of the board. The only exception made in the resolution is Piedmont park.

Should the resolution be adopted it will mean a discontinuance of free water service to a number of institutions. Among them are the Young Men's Christian Association, the Atlanta Athletic Club and St. Joseph infirmary. Private fire sprinklers and the sprinkling of Peachtree road are also included.

SHORT ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

W. H. M'COLLOHS, OF WAVERLY Hall, was yesterday appointed oil inspector by Commissioner O. B. Stevens. Commissioner Stevens has on file some 100 or more applications for various positions and it would seem from the tenor of many of these communications that half the unemployed and politically inclined population of Georgia think the department of agriculture owed them a living. It took all of yesterday for one of Mr. Stevens' clerks to go through this mass of letters.

THE OFFICIALS OF THE CITY building inspector's office yesterday began a crusade against defective chimneys. During the day in the neighborhood of forty chimneys and flues were condemned and the owners notified to place them in good condition. The crusade will be resumed Monday and continued until the city has been covered.

JOHN BIKUKOS, A GREEK FRUIT dealer, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the Grady hospital after an illness of ten months. He was 28 years of age. The deceased came to this country a year ago. The body was removed to Patterson's undertaking parlors and the funeral services will probably be conducted there. The funeral arrangements have not been made. The only relatives of the deceased in this country are several cousins residing in Atlanta.

MRS. DORA TURPIN CLAYTON, wife of Thomas A. Clayton, Jr., died yesterday morning at her residence, 306 Crew street, after an illness of two weeks. The deceased was 22 years of age. She was born in Americus, Ga., and moved to Atlanta eight years ago. She was married to Mr. Clayton on November 30, 1898. Mrs. Clayton was the daughter of Mrs. Fannie Turpin. She is survived by her mother, husband and sister. She had many friends who deeply sympathize with the bereaved relatives. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

THE HENRY GRADY LITERARY and Debating Club held its quarterly election of officers last night in the hall at the corner of Marietta and Alexander streets. The following were elected: President, A. B. Warner; vice president, E. F. Childress; secretary, Aldine Chambers; assistant secretary, A. Langston; treasurer, R. M. Mitchell, and chaplain, O. H. Puckett. The debate scheduled for last night was postponed until next Friday night. The subject is, "Resolved, That women should be admitted to the bar of Georgia."

CHARLIE TILLMAN WILL PREACH and sing at the People's tabernacle, McDaniel street, one block south of Whitehall, tomorrow at 11 a. m. Dr. J. W Blosser will preach at 7:30 p. m.; subject, "The Tabernacle Idea and What It Means for Atlanta." The other services for the day are as follows: Prayer meeting 9:30 a. m., short talks by many speakers from 10 to 10:45; Sunday school 3:30 p. m. Tuesday 7:30 p. m. pentecostal meeting. Thursday 7:30 p. m. evangelistic meeting.

MRS. JOHN L. BUTNER, WIFE OF J. L. Butner, a prominent merchant of Powder Springs, was brought to St. Joseph infirmary yesterday to undergo an operation for appendicitis. The operation was successful and Mrs. Butner will recover. She has many friends in Atlanta and throughout the state who will learn of her improvement with pleasure.

TOMORROW MORNING AT 11 o'clock Rev. Charles R. Nisbet will preach his first anniversary sermon as pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of this city and the lecture room of the church in which the congregation is now worshipping will no doubt be crowded to overflowing. Mr. Nisbet is one of the most eloquent young divines in the Atlanta pulpit and under his ministry the Westminster church has more than doubled during the past year.

CHIEF BALL SAYS THERE MUST be some mistake about numerous burglaries having been committed in West End and the thieves all escaping. "If there have been so many burglaries," states the chief, "they were not reported to me. I have heard of a few and we now have two negroes in the Tower who are believed to have been guilty of all the burglaries known to the police. If there have been numerous others I would be glad to have them reported to me or to some of my officers. Officer Luck made the two arrests."

Learning

Parents have a lesson to learn as well as the child. They have to learn where to buy their boys' (as well as men's) clothes at the least cost per year. Theirs is a lesson in economy.

We are the only retail clothing dealers in the South who manufacture their clothing. We make our clothing right. We know that it is good.

You may think that a good judge of clothing ought to know every time when clothes are good. But there is a lot of important work covered by the linings, and if left out can't be detected after the garment is finished. In the clothes we make we know nothing is left out or poorly done, and therefore we know our clothing is right, is good.

Being manufacturers we can and do sell good clothes much cheaper than those houses who buy from manufacturers and pay them a profit, and of course still cheaper than the dealer who buys from the jobber, who adds another profit.

We are also the largest buyers of other things wearable, and sell them cheaper, too.

Those are some points for the parent to know, and to remember when they go to buy, if they profit from the learning.

We have everything for your boys' wearing—Clothing, Shoes, Hats, Shirtwaists, Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery, etc., etc.

Our new Fall stock is ready and we've some carried over goods, too, which you wouldn't know were carried over if we didn't tell you.

In the Social Realm

A Bright Occasion.

MISS SARAH JANES entertained about twenty-five of her friends yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in a delightful manner at her home on Highland avenue. Miss Lillie Dunlap and Miss Marie Murray assisted Mrs. Janes and the little hostess in the entertainment of the guests. Punch was served throughout the afternoon by Mrs. O. L. Jernigan and Miss Mary Dunlap. The young people who were present on this happy occasion were:

Misses Marguerite O'Conner, Carobell Clark, Minnie McFall, Rennetee Miller, Lebie Ewing, Laura Featherston, Corrie Thornton, Annie Gene McCalley, Emily Bridger, Jennie Eva Crane, Eva May Morgan, Eugene Warlick, Hal Drake, Harry Dobbs, Jerry Davidson, Olin Stanley, Claud Evans, Morris Ewing, Dean Stanley, Willie McFall, Clarence Reese, Eugene Willingham.

Cotton-Simms.

THE engagement of Miss Myrtis Cotton, of Grantville, to Mr. Clarke C. Simms, of Atlanta, has been announced, the wedding to take place the latter part of October.

Miss Cotton, who is one of the prettiest and most popular young women in the state, is a daughter of Mr. James Cotton, a retired merchant, well known throughout Georgia.

Mr. Simms is originally from Grantville, but for a number of years has been in business in Atlanta.

After the wedding Mr. Simms and his bride will make their home in Atlanta.

Whist Party.

Mrs. William E. Green was the hostess on Thursday afternoon at a delightful whist party. About twenty-four guests were entertained and at the close of the game a delightful salad course was served.

The first prize, a book, was won by Mrs. Albert Scott; the second, a Christy picture, by Miss Coley Laird, and the consolation, which was a beer stein, was drawn by Miss Bessie Laird.

Carter-Stephens.

Invitations have been received in the city to the marriage of Miss Irene Carter, of Gainesville, and Rev. S. Emmett Stephens, the wedding to take place on the 17th of the month.

Miss Carter, who is an attractive, graceful brunette, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, and has a number of friends in Atlanta, where she visits quite often.

Rev. Mr. Stephens is a minister of the Baptist church in Gainesville and is an able and popular young divine.

G. A. S. Dance.

The "G. A. S.," a club of the younger set, complimented their young lady friends with a dance last evening, which was held at the hall of the Hebrew Orphans' Home.

The hall was prettily decorated, and dancing was indulged in until a late hour. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. The following were present: Misses Valerie Rich, Irena Liebman, Beulah Hass, Leah Bluthenthal, Gertrude Newelt, Essie Frank, Estelle Wiseberg, Eda Shuchafer, Florence Liebermuth, Meta Leinkauf, Messrs. Morris Eiseman, Felix Bluthenthal, Sidney Rich, Herbert Haas, Eugene Elsas, Julian Benjamige, Arthur Fox, Jake Haas, Percy Rich, Arthur Haas.

DEPOT SITE WAS LAID OFF.

Chief Engineer Wells, of the Southern, Did First Work on Freight Depot Yesterday.

Chief Engineer W. H. Wells, of the Southern railway, was in Atlanta yesterday for the purpose of surveying the property on which the Southern's new freight depot is to be built. Several lines were run which will be used in making the detailed plans for the new freight terminals.

When questioned as to when the work on the depot would begin, Chief Engineer Wells replied that the work would be pushed as fast as possible, but that there would possibly be some delay owing to the difficulty in obtaining steel.

Information was also sought concerning the passenger depot, but the engineer appeared to be as much in the dark on this subject as is the average citizen of Atlanta.

W. M. SCOTT ISSUES ORDERS.

Atlanta Members of the G. A. R. Will Attend Encampment at Washington.

W. M. Scott, commander of the local Grand Army of the Republic post, has issued an order concerning the thirty-sixth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic which will take place October 6-11 at Washington, D. C.

The Georgia department of the Grand Army of the Republic will leave Atlanta at 1 o'clock October 5 in a special train over the Southern road and will arrive in Washington at 8 o'clock in the morning of the following day. During the encampment the train will be used as headquarters for the Georgia and Alabama departments.

An attractive programme has been arranged for the veterans and the encampment promises to be one of the most enjoyable in the history of the organization.

NICK OF TIME.

The importance of finding the right food is invaluable when the stomach revolts and the nourishment of the body becomes a problem.

Mrs. Fannie Hall, of Orleans, N. Y., was an invalid for over ten years, hardly able to drag herself around the house and nothing she ate seemed to nourish her. She had chronic diarrhoea, her food did not digest, and she was so nervous she could not bear the least noise or excitement

She writes: "About a year ago I was looking over a paper when the name of Grape-Nuts caught my eye and I determined to try them. I sent for a package and I have never been without them since; they seem to be the thing I need.

When I commenced eating Grape-Nuts I weighed 115 pounds and now I weigh 145 pounds and am well and do my own work.

My children think they cannot get along without them and I use a package a day.

The whole family eat them for dessert with cream in preference to anything else. When I go away I always take a package with me, as no other food agrees with me as well. I always call Grape-Nuts the 'lucky food,' as I think I owe my life to them."

MAB TELLS UNCLE DUDLEY HOW SHE GOT "IN"

"Uncle Dudley, Uncle Dudley, Mab's in," shrieked Joey.

"Yes, I'm in, Uncle Dudley," acquiesced that very young lady.

"Goodness gracious, how long are you in for?" returned the relative with great interest.

"I'm in for good," she answered.

"Well, I must say you are remarkably cheerful regarding your life sentence. What's the charge?"

The pretty blue eyes of the fair-headed girl spoke very plainly that she was grieved. Mab is not in any way a prodigy. She did not pretend to understand her uncle's attempt to be facetious. But she did know that he was not treating her with the serious consideration that the subject demanded. So she looked at him after the manner of her kind with one of those irresistible "I-don't-pretend-to-be-clever" expressions which can make a man forget he has the toothache and much more than covers a multitude of sins in the way of ignorance.

"Yes, I took my examinations today," she remarked, with a studied effort at being casual and the air of one who has been long in the educational world, "and I only missed five questions out of ten."

"Pardon me," apologized the uncle, "but is this a matter of congratulation or condolence?"

"You're making fun of me, and I don't like it. Besides, I'm getting too old for that sort of thing," and the hurt look again disturbed the normal tranquillity of those blue eyes.

"God forbid," replied the uncle under his breath, and then as he swept the little bunch of fluffy petticoats into his lap he said aloud, "Now, tell me all about it, because I'm really very much interested."

"Well, I'm in the same class with Bernice and Louise, and I'm quite sure I'm going to like it much better than a private school. It's so much more business-like, don't you think?"

"Undoubtedly. When you get in the second grade the discipline must be very rigid, almost military," answered the newspaper man in a tone that made little Mab catch the meaning in spite of unknown words.

"I dare say it is," she returned; "it's a very important step, and Bernice told me that I would have at least three books to carry home every night to study out of."

"And I'm going to start in the kindergarten very soon," interrupted Joey, who was beginning to feel himself neglected.

"Mercy on us," ejaculated the Uncle Dudley in question. "Why, this family must be trying to corner the educational market. Kind of forming a trust for the general dissemination of knowledge, aren't you?"

Mab wriggled and said that as the subject was being treated in a very light and disrespectful way she thought she would go across the street and confer with her classmate, Louise.

It was not until an hour after dinner that the two and their brother John were demanding the regulation bedtime story.

"Don't you think that this sudden advance in the higher branches of education makes bedtime stories much too childish?" began Uncle Dudley.

"Nope," whooped Joey. "You haven't told us how Tommy Tinglebox joined the circus."

"Aren't you going to finish that story about generous Georgie Goatskins and selfish Sammy Spinkel and the sad fate of the Cockyollibird?" asked John with as much interest as one who is well advanced in the third reader ought to show in such matters.

"Oh, Uncle Dudley, you wouldn't stop, would you? Oh, I want to hear about poor little 'Whistling Tim,' and I won't ever try to be a grown-up again," and as two little shapely bare arms that would not remain prisoners to the lace trimmings of a night gown wrapped themselves about his neck in the sincere pleading of a loving child, Uncle Dudley promised.

But after he had carried Whistling Tim to a point in the story where the three little passengers had been told to change cars at Sleepyville Junction and take the through 8 o'clock train to Dreamland, the reporter continued to smoke his pipe and try to seriously consider the evolution that was starting, with at least one of three little folk in all the world, who were most dear and most absolutely necessary to his faith in higher things and his present happiness. And he couldn't help thinking just as you have so often thought, why it was that an all-wise Creator, who reserved all of the very best things in life for little children, could not or would not let them stay just a few more years at least instead of having them break from the chrysalis stage of perfect innocence to the butterfly period of social ambition, selfish jealousies and an altogether too intimate knowledge of the sins and wickedness that find their way into the pages of the most popular novel and the gossip of the most exclusive drawing room. And just because he wanted to keep little Mab a thing of long curls and tiny night gowns for years to come, he wondered if the startling information of Bernice that this present period was to be one of "three books and home study" means the first step toward long gowns and that knowing way of raising one's eyebrows which, while unquestionably fascinating in pretty grown-ups, was part of an education that he dreaded to come into the life of his sweetheart-niece and paint out the perfect confidence in her fair face that every one in this world was just what they represented themselves to be, and more particularly that her Uncle Dudley was the incarnation of just what an Uncle Dudley should be.

And though he tried to philosophize until the fire had burned to the very bottom of a three weeks' "heel" in his pipe, as he hurried away to report the scientific suggestions of a mothers' meeting, the interrogation point after the why seemed larger than ever and an insurmountable obstacle from his particular point of view.

ODD FELLOWS TO DES MOINES

Big Party Will Leave Thursday in Special Sleepers Over the Southern Railway.

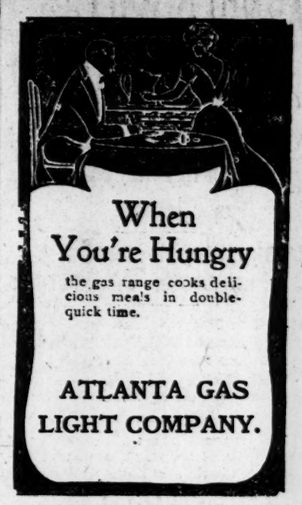

A party of 100 Odd Fellows will leave Atlanta next Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock for Des Moines, Iowa, where they will attend the annual meeting of the sovereign grand lodge of the order.

The party will travel over the Southern railway and will have three special tourist sleepers and a special baggage car. The itinerary will be from Atlanta to Chattanooga over the Southern, from Chattanooga to Cincinnati over the Queen and Crescent, from Cincinnati to Chicago over the Pennsylvania and from Chicago to Des Moines over the Rock Island.

At Covington, Ohio, the party will stop Friday night and will be tendered a reception by the grand sire of the order, who lives in that city. District Passenger Agent J. C. Beam, of the Southern, will accompany the party to Des Moines.

THEATERS.

It is promised that the twenty-first edition of Charles Yale's "Devil's Auction," which is announced to appear at the Grand next Monday, will be characterized by the most sumptuous production of the popular spectacle yet seen. The scenic effects will all be new, the costumes bright and elegant, while the company engaged by Manager Yale is said to be the best that money and brains could secure.

The terpischorean features introduced in "The Devil's Auction" will be of special interest to theattergoers, as they will include the latest evolutions of the dancer's art. Among the novelties secured are a troupe of royal English dancers, direct from the Alhambra theater, London, whose grace, beauty and talent will be a genuine surprise to blase theatergoers.

The engagement will be for Monday night only.

"McFadden's Row of Flats" will be the) attraction at the Grand Tuesday night. While appearing every year as an old friend, it is said it does not retain any of the old features and the "Flats" of today is claimed to be up-to-date in every particular and brimful of new and catchy things. The company is said to be made up of clever people, including the little dwarfs, Bobby Rawlston and Jerry Sullivan.

Many of the amusing features of the past have been retained, such as the Yellow Kids, the comedy goat, the happy pig, the miniature fire engine. The chorus is said to be composed of young and pretty girls. The engagement is for one performance, Tuesday night.

"Old Innocence," in which Tim Murphy is appearing this season, is one of the cleanest comedies on the boards. It involves no shady characters. The production is void of the screaming vulgarity of much of our later day stage fun. It moves swiftly without recourse to mere horse play, and the effect of the presentation is not to make one feel that the play is written to the level of bar room and race track humor. Mr. Murphy will be supported by Miss Dorothy Sherrod and an exceptionally strong acting company when he makes his appearance at the Grand on next Friday and Saturday.

HOUGHTON GOES TO CHARLESTON

It Is Expected He Will Be Married There Next Week.

LAWYERS SUE FORMER WIFE

They Ask $8,000 for Conducting Divorce Proceedings — Councilman James E. Warren, of Atlanta, Wants $1,000. Attachments Filed.

George R. Houghton, of Atlanta, whose wife recently secured a divorce from him in Chicago, is in Charleston, S. C., where, it is reported, he has gone to marry Miss Virginia Dantzler, a trained nurse of this city, who is visiting there.

A dispatch from Charleston to The Constitution says his wedding is expected to take place there next week. Houghton, it will be remembered, comes into possession of something like $200,000 from his father's estate.

A story comes from Chicago to the effect that attachment suits aggregating $8,000 have been filed against the former Mrs. Houghton, who was paid $21,500 alimony by her husband. These suits were filed by the lawyers who were instrumental in securing her divorce. Councilman James E. Warren, of Atlanta, who represented Mrs. Houghton here, claims $1,000 of that amount, according to the Chicago dispatch.

The dispatch from Charleston telling of Houghton's arrival there is as follows:

"Charleston, S. C., September 5.—(Special.)—George R. Houghton arrived here tonight from Atlanta and is stopping at the Argyle hotel. He informed the clerk that he would be here for four or five days and he wanted the best room in the house. He could not be interviewed tonight, but it is presumed that he will remain here until next week, when his wedding is expected to occur.

Her Alimony Attached.

The story of the attachment suits filed against Mrs. Houghton is told in the following special dispatch to The Constitution from Chicago:

Chicago, Ills., September 5.—(Special.)—Three attachment suits for sums aggregating $8,000 were begun against Grace A. Houghton, who secured a divorce from George Houghton, a well-known clubman, last week in Judge Kavanagh's court.

The suits were all filed by lawyers who assert that they aided the defendant in obtaining her divorce. They are Foley & Wellman, who ask for $5,000; Timlin & Glickman, of Milwaukee, who demand $2,000, and James E. Warren, of Atlanta, Ga., whose bill amounts to $1,000.

Mrs. Houghton was paid $21,500 of alimony in court when the divorce was granted, and the lawyers allege that they fear it is her intention to leave the state.

PLAN MET HEARTY APPROVAL.

The Suggestion of General Torrance To Aid Confederate Veterans Is Welcomed.

The recent suggestion of Commander-in-chief Eli Torrance, of the Grand Army of the Republic, that the various posts of the northern veterans should aid in building a home for the Confederate Veterans of Alabama has met with hearty approval throughout the north and many written expressions commending the idea have appeared in the press.

Probably the most significant of these is that which appeared editorially in The National Tribune, of Washington, some days ago. The National Tribune is the recognized organ of the Grand Army of the Republic and probably has more weight than any one paper where Grand Army of the Republic matters are concerned. General John McElroy, the managing editor of The Tribune, is senior vice commander of the Grand Army of the Republic and is one of the most prominent candidates for the position of commander-in-chief, which will become vacant at the encampment in the fall. General McElroy's editorial is as follows:

"This is a very gracious appeal. No matter what we may have thought, and still think, of the leaders of the rebellion and the cause for which these now poor, old and broken men fought, the fact remains that they fought for their convictions with a courage and fortitude that were beyond all praise.

"Today they deserve our sincere sympathy and help. We gave it to them freely and unstintedly when we met them in the south, after they had laid down their arms. Then we shared our last cracker with them—our last cup of coffee. Now that they have laid down their arms forever, and are marching by our side under the same flag into the dim azure of the beyond, where all that is remembered is that there was a struggle of giants in which the eternal right prevailed, it should be considered a gracious duty to give them all the soldierly help and sympathy that we can. We trust that the responses to the commander-in-chief's appeal will be prompt and generous."

CHANGE REFUSED FOR A $10 BILL

Mills Had To Get Off Car and He Now Sues for $1,000.

HE SAYS HE WAS HUMILIATED

Case Will Test Question as to How Much Change Street Car Conductor Can Be Required To Furnish—Other News of the Courts.

Claiming that a conductor on a Marietta street trolley car would not change a $10 bill, and that he was put off the car because he had no smaller change with which to pay his fare, J. L. Mills has filed suit against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company to recover alleged damages to the amount of $1,000.

The unique character of the suit, which was filed yesterday morning, is attracting considerable attention among lawyers and court officials. It is said that a suit of just this nature has not before been filed in Atlanta, and as a consequence the outcome will be watched with unusual interest.

The interesting point will be brought out in the case as to whether or not the street car company can be made to change bills of any denomination when offered by passengers to pay their fare.

Mills alleges that on August 29 of this year he boarded a Marietta street car some distance out with the intention of riding in to the corner of Marietta and Hunnicutt streets. That when the conductor came to him to collect his fare he offered him a $10 bill, which was the smallest change he had on his person. Mills further alleges that the conductor refused to take the money, saying that he could not give change to that amount, and that the conductor put him off the car in front of Miller & Brady's stables.

Mills claims in the petition that he offered to get the change when he reached his destination and pay the conductor at that time, and that as he was on his way to a physician, he asked the conductor not to delay him. The conductor would not listen to him, but forcibly expelled him from the car.

Mills alleges that besides being delayed in visiting his physician and thereby suffering considerably, he was humiliated, mortified and disgraced. He asserts in the petition that he is a railroad man who has many friends and acquaintances in Atlanta who heard of his expulsion from the car, and whose estimation of him was lowered in consequence, and that he was brought into contempt and ridicule. He claims that his feelings and pride as a man and gentleman have been injured and he asks the court to see that the street railway company recompense him to the amount of $1,000.

The suit was filed by his attorney, Burton Smith, and will come up for trial at the next term of the city court. The case will be watched with unusual interest.

Suits for Damages.

Mrs. Julia Taylor, through her attorneys, Arnold & Arnold and Harvey Hill, filed suit against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company in the city court yesterday to recover alleged damages to the amount of $10,000.

It is alleged in the petition that on August 15 Mrs. Taylor was run down by a Marietta street car at the corner of Marietta and Spring streets, and that she was dragged 75 yards, having her back and spine twisted, wrenched and sprained; that she was permanently injured about the head, neck and shoulders.

George M. Taggart, through his attorney, Burton Smith, yesterday filed suit against the Southern Railway Company to recover alleged damages to the amount of $2,000. It is claimed in the petition that he was injured in the wreck which occurred near Greenville, S. C., on August 25. He alleges that his left shoulder and arm are permanently injured.

Mrs. Alice Lee was granted a total divorce from her husband, J. T. Lee, in the superior court yesterday.

Chester McDonald was granted a partial divorce from his wife, Clara McDonald, in Judge Lumpkin's court yesterday.

Interesting Decisions.

ARREST BY PRIVATE CITIZEN.

A private person may arrest another for a public offense committed in his presence, and when such party is in the actual commission of an offense he may be arrested without a warrant, and without being first informed of the cause thereof. 69 Pacific Rep. (Oklahoma, Judge Burford) 798.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—ALIENATION OF HUSBAND'S AFFECTION.

A wife is entitled, as a matter of right, not only to the support and maintenance of her husband, but also to his love and affection. It follows that if any woman, by the exercise of any arts or wiles, alienates the husband's affections from his wife, entices him away from her presence, so that she has not the consolation and advantage of his society, and does not receive adequate support from him, an action may be maintained for such injury. To entice away or corrupt the mind of one's consort is a civil wrong for which the offender is liable to the injured wife. 200 Pa. State Rep. (Judge Brown) 70.

CONTRACTS—REFUSAL TO ACCEPT WORK DONE.

In a contract to do work in a manner satisfactory to the person who is to receive it, if the thing to be done is to gratify taste, serve personal convenience, or satisfy the individual preference of such person, he is the sole judge of whether the work is entirely satisfactory to him, and he may arbitrarily decline to accept it. 98 Virginia (Judge Cardwell) 178.

RAILROAD TRACKS—USE FOR FOOTPATH.

A person using a railroad track as a footpath for his own convenience, elsewhere than at a lawful crossing, and injured while so doing, cannot recover damages of the railroad company, unless it be guilty of wanton or gross negligence. A statute requiring the bell to be rung, or a whistle to be blown at crossings, is designed for those passing over the tracks at such crossings, not for those using the track elsewhere for their own convenience as a footpath. 48 West Va. (Judge Brannon) 45.

TRADEMARK—WORDS MAY CONSTITUTE IT.

The word "perfection" as used in the phrase "perfection mattress" to designate a mattress made by a peculiar process, having a peculiar form and covered with a particular character of ticking, which had been made exclusively by a particular factory, and was sold and known in the trade by such name, will constitute a trademark. A court of equity will protect the use of such trademark for the original manufacturer by enjoining another factory from using the words "perfection mattress" to designate a mattress of the same particular type. The words "Kyle's perfection" or "improved perfection mattress" do not constitute a sufficient differentiation to prevent the infringement of the trademark. 127 Alabama (Judge Tyson) 39.

STRANGE EXTRACTS FROM JUDICIAL DECISIONS.

"An article at the end of a chain may be moved by a force applied at the other end." Judge Thompson, in 62 Pa. St. 353.

A Japanese folding chair is equivalent to a family Bible and a pair of earrings. 2 Denio (N. Y.) 265.

Where a pack of dogs are on a railroad track it is not necessary to blow the whistle for each particular dog. 25 Tenn., 413.

GOVERNOR WILL ASK ROOSEVELT TO COME

Will Write Special Letter of Invitation to the President.

COMMITTEES GO TOMORROW

Delegation Will Proceed to Chattanooga To Extend Atlanta's Invitation—Will Ask President To Come During Interstate Fair.

The invitation to be extended President Roosevelt in Chattanooga to visit Atlanta during the Southern Interstate fair in October, will be strengthened by a special letter of invitation from Governor Candler.

Secretary Frank Weldon, of the fair association, yesterday morning called on the governor and requested him to write the invitation. The governor expressed his willingness to do so, and will prepare the invitation today. It will then be given to Colonel R. J. Lowry, a member of the governor's staff, and he will present it to the president.

Atlanta's invitation to the president will be urged, in addition to the letter of Governor Candler, by a committee from the fair association, from the chamber of commerce and probably by the council committee appointed some time ago to wait on the president in Washington.

The nation's chief executive will be in Chattanooga tomorrow and Monday, and the Atlantans will likely leave here for that city tomorrow night. An audience is expected to be secured with the president Monday morning. As the president's mother is a Georgian and resided at Roswell, it is believed this will be a strong inducement for him to visit this section.

The Committees.

The following are the committees from the chamber of commerce, the fair association and the city council, all of which will probably go to Chattanooga.

From the Chamber of Commerce—Hoke Smith, chairman; R. J. Lowry, Clark Howell, J. S. B. Thompson, H. M. Atkinson, J. K. Orr, Willis Ragan, Alex W. Smith, John W. Grant, Marion Jackson, Dr. J. C. White and Albert Steiner.

From the Fair Association—Captain E. P. Howell, Chief W. R. Joyner, Captain J. A. Miller, J. H. Nunnally, H. H. Cabaniss, F. J. Paxon, Judge John S. Candler, John T. Graves, J. F. Beck, C. A. Wickersham, C. E. Harmon, Major John S. Cohen, J. R. Gray and Frank Potts.

From the City Council—Councilman Beck, chairman; Mayor Mims, Mayor Pro Tem. Johnson, Aldermen LaHatte and Welch, Councilmen Harwell, Winn, Glass and Howell.

VISIBLE FIGURES LED TO REALIZING

American Increased 3,000 Against 58,000 Decrease Last Year.

CAUSED A SHARP BREAK

Poor Grading Caused an Advance in Cereals — Provisions Followed. Stocks Closed Firm and Somewhat Higher—London Sold.

New York, September 5.—The cotton market opened firm 2 points lower on September and 2 to 5 points higher on later options, this being in keeping with rather better Liverpool cables than anticipated and on further bullish crop reports from Georgia, Alabama and Texas. But at the higher prices profit taking set in through the commission house channels and the bears thought they saw evidence of liquidation by the Wall street clique. A quick drive at the fall months led to a general decline in prices. January worked off to 8.44. At this level the bull syndicate flooded the market with buying orders, despite reports of good rains where most needed in Georgia, the central belt and in Texas. The shorts became alarmed, and for the next two hours or more the tendency was steadily upward. The January option advanced to 8.54, with the other months up accordingly. Speculation was fairly active on the rally, but Europe, the south and the public in general were slow to come out boldly on the buying side. The "in-sight" statement of Superintendent King was something of a surprise in that it gave 135,000 bales, as against 75,000 bales a year ago, but for the time being did not affect that market. Then came the visible supply figures, showing a loss for the world of 34,000 bales, against a loss the same time last year of 104,000 bales. The American visible supply was stated to have increased 3,000 bales, whereas the same week last year there was a decrease of 58,000 bales. These figures led to heavy realizing under which prices broke badly, January to 8.40. The market finally was steady and net 4 to 7 points lower.

Review of New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, September 5.—Offerings of spot cotton were comparatively large during the day and the assortment was all that buyers could have desired, but the purchasing element showed very little disposition to trade in that department, and beyond a moderate business in old crop staples there was very little doing. Sales 1,400 bales, including 200 to arrive. Quotations revised. Middling reduced 1-16; good middling and middling fair reduced ⅛.

Futures were moderately active, especially for October and January positions. There were but few interior orders for the long account. On the first call prices were 6 to 8 points above yesterday's closing prices. After the call there was a rush of selling orders that sent the figures down some 10 points on the various positions, but a subsequent recovery was made as the result of free buying to cover in small profits. Thereafter the fluctuations were numerous and the board at the close showed net losses of 6 to 7 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, September 5.—There has been an increased general demand for cotton goods today in staple lines and the tone of the market is very firm. Some lines of brown sheetings and drills advanced ⅛ to ¼c per yard. Print cloths in request, 38½ inch standard sold at 4c. Prints and ginghams firm. Linens are quiet but very firm. Burlaps unchanged in price, but demand improving.

Weekly Cotton Crop Statement.

New Orleans, September 5.—Secretary Hester's New Orleans cotton exchange statement, issued during business hours today, shows the amount brought into sight for the first five days of September 136,354, against 65,438 last year, 64,821 year before last and 113,655 the same time in 1899.

The statement shows receipts at all United States ports since September 1 at 90,148, against 38,796 last year, 33,863 year before last and 62,064 the same time in 1899; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada 668, against 1,425 last year, 2,158 year before last and 10,293 the same time in 1899; interior stocks increase over those held at the close of the commercial year 12,538, against a decrease of 3,483 last year, an increase of 6,391 over year before last and 19,465 over the same time in 1899; southern mill takings 33,000, against 28,700 last year, 22,409 year before last and 21,713 the same time in 1899.

Foreign exports for the five days have been 32,370, against 25,778.

The total takings of American mills north and south and Canada thus far for the season have been 50,739, against 39,219 last year. These include 17,739 by northern spinners, against 10,519.

Since the close of the commercial year stocks at American ports and the 29 leading southern interior centers have been increased 53,245 bales, against an increase for the same period last season of 441, and are now 91,809 less than at this date last year.

Including amounts left over at ports and interior towns from the last crop, and the number of bales brought into sight thus far for the new crop, the supply to date is 351,428, against 425,125 for the same period last year.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, September 5.—At a decline in Liverpool large American buying orders were executed, as that is the cheapest market. This buying abroad caused a rally there, while here good support was given to January. Apparently there were unlimited orders to buy at the closing quotations and this checked the liquidation. Room traders soon detected the support and joined in the buying of January. On the rally the market met the same selling of March, supposed to be for the bull party, as has been noticed on the entire advance. Europe does not credit the bureau report, the estimate of the bureau last season leading them to believe the condition was grossly exaggerated. Rains have again fallen in Texas, and the movement shows a large increase. The local interest acts long, following the pool, but general speculation has not materially increased. The Chronicle report is expected to show an improvement tomorrow in crop conditions.

H. & B. Beer's Cotton Letter.

New Orleans, September 5.—Liverpool advices were disappointing, but notwithstanding this our market opened 6 to 10 points higher, ruling steady for a considerable length of time, but subsequently became easier on the large movement and more favorable weather conditions prevalent throughout the belt. These factors were instrumental in occasioning renewed liquidation and caused a break of 14 to 17 points from the top, making the net loss 6 to 7 points on the day. The amount brought into sight during the first five days of September was 136,000, against 65,000 last year. The thirty leading interior towns during the week received 81,000, against 52,000 last year. The total stock of American ashore and afloat to Liverpool is 332,000, against 272,000 last year. The visible supply of American increased during the week this year 3,000, against a loss of 58,000 last year, and the aggregate to date is 800,000, against 887,000 last year. The heavy liquidation of long cotton which has taken place since the issuance of the bureau leaves the market in a healthy condition. While it is true the movement is heavy, yet every one expected it to be so during September, consequently it is only coming up to anticipations, which were predicted on the drought existing throughout the belt and an early crop. This, however, does not make the ultimate outturn of the crop any larger, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that the final yield will be insufficient to meet the world's requirements. With such a bureau there is no incentive for any one to sell short speculatively. The chances are that spinners must soon enter the market. Under the circumstances we think well of buying on all breaks with a view of realizing on strong periods.

R. M. Seale & Co.'s General Market Letter.

Atlanta, September 5.—Cotton—The sliding course seemed to be fashionable in the cotton market everywhere today. Liverpool furnished the lead with a decline of about 5-64d in deliveries and 1/8d in spots, all the result of unbelief in the government's report of the crop condition. As was expected in our market today, after a break of 20 points, cotton advanced sharply, when later realizing set in again and the advance was lost. The movement of cotton for the first week of the season was surprisingly large, almost double that of last year, which accounted for the loss in the visible supply being reduced to very moderate proportions, yet the fact of a decrease being recorded, indicates that consumption is proceeding at a fairly liberal price. Thus the attention of the trade is riveted on the disposition of country dealers, and the anxiety, or reluctance, which is observed in that quarter, toward effecting sales will have a determining influence on prices for the present. The cotton crop is not large enough to justify short sales around 8.50, and we think purchases made on the declines will prove the most profitable.

Stocks—Today's stock market was strong in the face of circumstances calculated to induce great caution in assuming commitments from the other side. Money ranged from 6 to 9 per cent during most of the day. American stocks were depressed abroad, and with the course of the day foreign houses were sellers on balance upward of 40,000 shares. There was a sharp advance in St. Paul, caused by the impression that the dividend on the common stock would be advanced to a 7 per cent basis when the directors meet next week. Other strong features were Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western and Missouri Pacific. The anthracite coalers were dull and rather heavy. The local traction stocks were moderately active but irregular. The general anxiety respecting the monetary situation caused brokers to supply their requirements early in the day, and in consequence the money market developed an easier tone in the afternoon. The railroad list remained steady, but the dealings there developed no worse features of interest and the market on the whole closed featureless.

Wheat—Exports at the seaboard were 7 loads. Strength was shown with advance largest in September, and shorts were large coverers of all futures, while Armour was both buying and selling. The most bullish feature was the large clearances for the week, and with a wet harvest in the United Kingdom the demand, if anything, will increase. Local sentiment is inclined to be bearish, but wheat appears to be in a strong position.

Corn was strong, although receipts promise to increase. There was some selling by Armour, but the crowd was uneasy over predictions of frost for tomorrow, as corn is somewhat backward and some damage might result from same. Weather conditions will govern values.

Oats were strong on poor grading, and commission houses were large buyers. The cereal people are heavy holders of this grain, and it looks very much as if they were adding to their line.

Provisons were higher in sympathy with the stiff advance in hogs, and although trade was light, the buying was good with September lard being picked by Cudahy. Provisions are in a strong position, and we look for higher prices.

Southern Exchange Cotton Letter.

New York, September 5.—Liverpool proved a martyr to the cotton trade this morning, losing 5 to 7 points at the opening, presumably on the weak condition of our market late yesterday afternoon, which was due to the heaving selling orders and reports of general rains in the greater part of the cotton belt. Spots were unchanged on the opening, but lost ⅛ to 5 1-16 at 2 o'clock. The close was steady at a net decline of 6 points. Our market opened slightly higher than yesterday's close on the midwinter months and about unchanged on near months. There was a scramble to buy October around the opening, which sent that option up about 10 points at noon. There was very little play upon the spring options. December and January trading was almost evenly divided. The bulls took advantage of every opportunity to buy these months, but only succeeded in scoring an advance of 4 points at noon. The market at this juncture became dull and uninteresting. Estimated receipts for Houston tomorrow 8,000 to 9,000, against 3,192 last year. Galveston expects tomorrow 6,500 to 7,000, against 4,817 last year. Estimated ports today 16,000 bales. The disposition at present seems to show that a bull movement is anticipated soon, but we are inclined to think that it will be well for traders to take advantage of every advance by selling the fall months.

World's Visible Supply of Cotton.

New Orleans, September 5.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices, compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before.

It shows a decrease for the week just closed of 33,857 bales, against a decrease of 104,131 last year and a decrease of 81,588 the year before.

The total visible is 1,309,497, against 1,343,354 last week, 1,467,495 last year and 965,639 the year before last.

Of this the total of American cotton is 800,497, against 797,354 last week, 887,495 last year and 510,639 year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 509,000, against 546,000 last week 580,000 last year and 455,000 year before last.

The total world's visible supply of cotton shows an increase compared with last week of 3,143 bales, a decrease compared with last year of 86,998 and an increase compared with year before last of 289,858.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton, as above, there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and Continental Europe 700,000, against 714,000 last year and 515,000 year before last; in Egypt 14,000, against 560,000 last year and 33,000 year before last; in India 318,000, against 335,000 last year and 251,000 year before last, and in the United States 277,000, against 362,000 last year and 167,000 year before last.

Sea Island Cotton.

Savannah, September 5.—Sea Island cotton: Weekly receipts 335; sales 198; exports 344; stock 3,867.

Charleston, September 5.—Sea Island cotton: Receipts for the week 5 bags; sales none; exports none; stock 5 bags.

Liverpool Weekly Cotton Statistics.

Liverpool, September 5.—Following are the weekly cotton statistics: Total sales of all kinds, 38,000 bales; total sales American 27,000; English spinners' takings 38,000; total export 8,000; import of all kinds 5,000; import American 3,000; stock of all kinds 377,000; stock American 300,000; quantity afloat all kinds 26,000; quantity afloat American 22,000; total sales on speculation 2,000; total sales to exporters 1,200.

Atlanta Brokerage Co.'s Cotton Letter

New York, September 5.—Cotton futures in the local market Friday opened firm in tone with first prices 2 points lower to 5 higher, September cotton alone showing a decline. This ruling was about as expected. Wall street appeared to be bullishly inclined and eventually turned in as a good buyer of the general list. The shorts became nervous and rushed to cover, only to find the offerings extremely small. However, at the better prices there was more or less selling in that it was seen that further light showers in various parts of the belt were doing more good than generally supposed. The temperatures were also lower here and there, and the general crop condition was reported to have improved since the time of the compilation of the government figures. The later trade led to the suspicion that the early bulling had been resorted to in order to aid longs to slip out of additional amounts of their long stuff at better levels, this having been the policy pursued throughout the session on previous days of late. Naturally at some of the better prices there was liberal selling of cotton. On the close feeling was rather bearish.

Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, September 5.—Cotton improved to the extent of 2 to 5 points in the early market. Early cables were in keeping with our break of yesterday, which was overdone. A false impression regarding the benefit likely to follow from the Texas rains of the past few days has forced out weaker holders, but the general trade is still disposed to accept small crop views and are not discouraged by frequent setbacks. As regards Texas, the state entomologist has personally inspected many fields, and his conclusions are that the damage cannot be easily repaired; in fact, he takes the ground that no conditions from now on as regards plentiful rains or otherwise will insure a crop greater than 2,300,000, against 2,500,000 the past season. Private reports today were generally bullish, and The Chronicle figures of the last crop were given out as 10,701,000. The market was a seesaw after the opening. Very heavy receipts and heavy rains in Texas disconcerted weak longs, but January and March were well supported and on the whole there was greater disposition to buy than to sell all the forenoon. The leading Wall street operator announced his faith in higher prices. Port receipts 16,000, against 9,200 last year.

The Metal Market.

New York, September 5.—Copper was firmer and higher today under a somewhat more active demand from a speculative source and from consumers. Lake was quoted at 11.75@11.85; standard 11.30@11.50; electrolytic 11.60@11.65; casting 11.50@11.65. Copper in London also was higher, the market there closing 10s higher with spot at £52 7s 6d and futures at £52 15s.

Tin, like copper, was more active and steadier in the local market, sales of five tons spot at 27.25 and five tons for September delivery at 27.10 being reported. The market closed steady at 21.20@27.25. The London market was 7s 6d higher for spot at £123 7s 6d and 17s 6d higher for futures at £119 5s.

Lead was steady and unchanged at London where it closed at £10 16s 9d. Locally it was also steady and unchanged, closing at 4⅛c.

Spelter was quiet here at 5½ and at London £19 5s 6d.

The English iron markets were quiet, Glasgow closing at 57s 7d and Middlesborough at 56s 1½d. The New York iron market was steady and unchanged at $23.00@25.00 for No. 1 foundary, northern, $22.00@23.00 for No. 2 foundry, northern; $22.00@23.00 for No. 1 foundry, southern, and $22.00@23.00 for No. 1 foundry southern soft. Warrants were nominal.

St. Louis, September 5.—Lead firm at $4.02½. Spelter steady at $5.20.

Cotton Seed Oil and Meal.

New York, September 5.—Cotton seed oil quiet; prime crude, fob mills, 28@28½c; prime summer yellow 40c; off summer yellow 38@39c; prime white 45@46c; prime winter yellow 46; Prime meal 27, nominal.

Memphis, September 5.—Cotton seed oil: Car load lots per gallon, prime crude nominal; off crude 27½@28½c; prime summer yellow 38½; off summer yellow nominal; choice cooking summer yellow, less than car load lots, nominal. Meal and cake: Prime $23.00; off nominal.

New Orleans, September 5.—Cotton seed oil: Prime refined in barrels 36c; off refined in barrels 35c.; prime crude, loose, nominal.

Fruits and Confections.

Atlanta, September 5.—Peaches $1.25@1.50; fancy Elbertas $1.75@2.00. California fruits—Tokay grapes, $2.50 per crate; pears $2 to $2.25; peaches $1.10 to $1.25; plums $1.25 to $1.50. Melons, $80 to $100 per car. Cantaloupes $1 to $1.25 for fancy stock per crate. Bananas, per bunch, culls $1.00 to $1.25; straights, $1.50 to $1.75. Nuts, walnuts, No. 1, 12c; No. 2, 10c; almonds, 13c; pecans, 11c. Mixed nuts, 12 1-2c; peanuts, Virginia, 4@6c; Georgia, 2c. Pineapples $2.25@2.50 mrate. Dates 5 1-2; figs 10@11c. Citron, 15c.

Country Produce.

THE DAY IN WALL STREET.

New York, September 5.—At the opening today the stock market reflected little of yesterday's reactionary tendency, though the undertone was somewhat heavy in view of the unstable money market and lower prices in London. St. Paul came into early prominence, and with Missouri Pacific divided the day's honors, renewing rumors of a closer working agreement between those two lines. On transactions exceeding 55,000 shares St. Paul, while closing somewhat below the best, made a net gain of almost 3 points, while Missouri Pacific, which was much more active, gained 1½. The other sourthwestern stocks, especially those in the Gould system, made some recovery on the growing belief that the government's crop report would prove somewhat exaggerated. Norfolk and Western's strength was due to favorable forecasts regarding the annual report, and Pennsylvania's gain, which was not long maintained, was attributed to the collapse of the tunnel franchise opposition. The comparative inactivity of Reading common, which was heavy throughout, resulted, it was believed, from the impression that the probable contest for control had been settled. The Chesapeake and Ohio pool was checked by reason of the road's poor showing for the latter part of August, but closed with a fractional gain. Wabash issues advanced on news of a favorable judicial decision, and the debenture B's, together with St. Paul common, were among the few issues that made new high records. The early session also brought gains to a number of industrials, including Virginia-Carolina Chemical, American, Cotton Oil, People's Gas and Schloss-Sheffield Steel, but with the exception of Gas and the Chemical issues, these improvements did not hold. Manhattan was the feature of the tractions, though its gain on the day was only fractional. Irregularity followed another squeeze in call money, which worked nominally as high as 10 per cent, but actually not higher than 8½, and fell as low as 3½. Much of the afternoon's business was in the industrials—notably, Colorado Fuel, Pacific Mail, People's Gas, Leather common, Malting issues, and the independent steel companies, all of which closed with net gains. In the last hour there was a general recovery to above the previous day's final prices, and the closing was in the main firm. Tomorrow's bank statement will, it is believed, show a further loss of surplus reserves, but it is not expected to show in full the $6,000,000 lost to the subtreasury and th einterior by local institutions. London was again prominent in today's operations, though selling on balance.

Railroad bonds showed a good tone throughout the day, but the market was less active. Total sales, par value, $3,220,000.

United States old 4 coupon advanced ⅜, and the new 4 registered declined ½ on the last call.

Total sales of stocks today 861,300 shares, including Atchison 36,700; do. preferred 8,200; Baltimore and Ohio 11,300; Canadian Pacific 5,600; Chesapeake and Ohio 41,800; Chicago Great Western 11,600; Erie 16,900; Manhattan 26,800; Missouri Pacific 89,300; Norfolk and Western 30,200; Pennsylvania 27,400; Reading 56,100; do. second preferred 8,800; St. Paul 55,100; Southern Pacific 32,000; Southern railway 21,400; Texas Pacific 18,100; Union Pacific 37,800; Wabash preferred 10,600; Amalgamated Copper 8,900; Brooklyn Transit 5,400; Colorado Fuel 11,600; Pacific Mail 8,400; People's Gas 30,700; Republic Steel 21,600; Sugar 9,500; United States Leather 22,500; United States Steel 24,700; do. preferred 5,700.

Money on call steady at 3@8 per cent. closing bid and asked 3½@4 per cent; prime mercantile paper 5@5½ per cent.

Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.5@4.88.55 for demand and at $4.83¾ for 60 days; posted rates $4.85@4.85½ and $4.87½@4.88; commercial bills $4.83@4.83.5.

The Treasury Statement.

Washington, September 5.—Today's treasury balances, exclusive of the gold reserve, show: Available cash balances $210,356,044; gold 118,771,110.

Commercial Advertiser's Financial Cable.

New York, September 5.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says: Business on the stock exchange here today was restricted and dull owing to the approach of the holiday tomorrow and settlement. Paris and Cape Town supported the market quietly. Consols were 93¾.

Americans opened weak and dwindled, London realizing. Milwaukee touched 196½, a new high mark, and Norfolk and Western was regarded with suspicion, the belief being that the purchases were merely efforts to cover realization elsewhere. The general list responded feebly.

The government is disbursing largely.

The Rothschilds obtained the bulk of the week's gold arrivals £400,000.

Foreign Finances.

London, September 5.—Consols for money 93⅝; account 93¾. Atchison 97⅝; do. preferred 107½; Illinois Central 176½; Louisville and Nashville 157.

Bar silver quiet at 24d.

Short bills 2¾@2 13-16 per cent; three months bills 2½ per cent.

Berlin, September 5.—Exchange on London 20 marks 40½ pfennigs for checks.

Murphy & Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, September 5.—The market today developed extreme irregularity, although at times considerable strength was shown and numerous new features of a bullish nature were developed. The reactionary tendency exhibited yesterday afternoon was checked at the start by decided strength in St. Paul, which sold up over 3 per cent on a revival of rumors of a probable increase in the next dividend. Pennsylvania rose 1 per cent and Norfolk 1⅝. Other strong issues were Missouri-Pacific, which rose 2 per cent and closed at the highest. Wabash preferred gained over 1 per cent. Rock Island was materially higher, as were some of the railroad specialties.

In the industrials a pronounced development of strength took place in the iron and steel group, decided gains being scored by east Iron Pipe Stocks, Republic Steels, Pressed Steel, and Sloss-Sheffield. People's Gas rose nearly 3 per cent on reports of favorable earnings. Virginia Chemical rose over 2 per cent on rumors that it had secured control of American Cotton Oil. Late sharp advance occurred in Malt preferred and Colorado Fuel and Iron moved up suddenly in the afternoon. Pacific Mail was decidedly strong. United States Leather preferred rose 1½. Copper was barely steady. Sugar sold ex-dividend, but was pressed for sale and declined nearly 2 per cent from the opening. Readings and Eries were also reactionary. The market in the last hour was slightly confused in its movements, but the strong spots predominated notwithstanding the expectation of an unfavorable bank statement. The closing was strong.

CHICAGO MARKET REVIEWED.

Chicago, September 5.—Grain speculators became excited today over the possibility of frosts in the unripe grains tomorrow in spite of the fact that the weather map indications were very favorable. While conservative traders scoffed at the inconsistency with which the markets rallied today, whereas yesterday they slumped when frost was on the ground, the result of the day's trading was a good gain all around. The probable reason for this was the bulls did have a very good plank in their platform—that of chronic poor grading of receipts at this point. At the close December wheat was ⅝@¾ up, December corn, ½@⅝c higher and December oats, ⅜c up. Provisions closed generally 10c advanced.

There was a brisk demand early in the wheat pit, largely from the outside. Commission houses bought liberally, and there was good support under December options. Much of the talk on the bull side was of the fear of frosts in the northwest. This was supposed to be the principal cause of the upturn, but steady cables, lighter receipts and bad grading helped materially. The sentiment generally was bullish, and there was no selling pressure present. After the early bulge the market was inclined to dullness, and prices fluctuated very narrowly. September sold from 72c to 72⅞c and closed ⅞c higher at 72¼@72⅜c. December started ⅛@⅜c up at 68¼@68⅜c and sold to 69c, closing strong ⅝@⅞c higher at 68⅝@68⅞c. Local receipts were 158 cars, one of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 400 cars, against 617 last week and 1,030 last year. Primary receipts were 1,082,000 bushels, compared with 1,426,000 bushels last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 503,000 bushels. Argentine shipments duplicated last week's at 72,000 bushels compared with 144,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn had a large trade early, and the market advanced strongly on general demand induced by the weather scare. Shorts wanted stuff, the outside was on the bull side of the market and for a time business was brisk. Some reports had it, however, that there was not much corn to be hurt by frosts, and after the first quick upturn the demand fell off, locals offered freely, and prices dipped back somewhat. Cables were steady and the weather map was favorable for today. September had a fair advance, but not much of a trade. Late business was poor at a fair advance from yesterday. September sold at 59⅝c and closed a trifle firm at ⅛c advance at 59c. December sold from 42⅞@43c and closed firm ½@⅝c up at 43¼@43⅜c. Receipts were poor at 56 cars, only 4 of contract grade.

Oats were influenced largely by the same conditions that helped other grains. Shorts bid anxiously for September early on the very poor quality of receipts. Profit taking late in the day brought recessions, but the close was firm. September sold to 35⅝c and closed ⅝c up at 35⅛. December sold from 31⅛@31⅜ and closed firm ⅜c up at 31⅜c. Receipts were 292 cars, five of standard grade.

Provisions felt the strengthening influence of a sharp upturn in hog prices. Grains were also bullish factors. Trade was fairly active early, but a little selling on the bulge took away some of the gains. January pork closed 10c up at $15, October lard and ribs both closed 10c up at respectively $9.77½@9.90.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 200 cars; corn, 185 cars; oats, 380 cars; hogs, 9,000 head.

Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, September 5.—There has been a great deal of strength in wheat today. The buying has been general and there was no selling pressure at any time. The trade was large early, but late in the session the market was dull, although prices held well. Commission houses generally were good buyers. A feature of the market was the buying of December and selling of September by Armour. The close shows an advance of about ⅞c for both. The strength was due largely to predictions of frost in the northwest tomorrow, although the present weather is good with rising temperature. Receipts were small.

There was a large trade in corn early, and the market was very strong, advancing on general demand and predictions of frosts for tomorrow in Nebraska and Iowa. Later there were freer offerings and the market eased off and became dull at a fair advance over yesterday. The close is about ½c higher for December and May, with September ⅛c higher. December was the favorite and the demand filled by the local crowd and Armour through commission houses. Bartlett was a good buyer of December.

Oats have been higher with other grains, up at the best ½@1⅛c on futures. Cash oats have been firm. Trade has been of small volume, but everybody took a hand in it. There was September for sale from shipping into frosts. The strength of corn helped oats.

Provisions were strong and higher, influenced by the big bulge in prices for hogs at the yards and light offerings. There was considerable local buying of January pork, lard and ribs, and this gave strength to other products. Late in the day there was a little stuff offered by commission houses and prices declined a little, but remained steady, closing with a fair advance for everything.

A reversal of form that would make the ponies on the Memphis winter race course ashamed of themselves gave the Atlantans a game yesterday afternoon after the Birdies had walked away with the opening contest. This business of baseball is about as uncertain as the weather in March any way you take it, and the uncertainty is a large factor in its popularity.

The first game the Birdies won because they played a perfect fielding game, batted Streit at opportune times and because Stanley was somewhat of a puzzle to the locals.

In the second inning of the second contest the New Orleans team put up the worst exhibition of deaf, dumb, blind and generally decrepit baseball that has ever been perpetrated before an Atlanta crowd. The infield was befuddled, Herbert, who was catching, showed a remarkable disregard for the elementary rules of the game, and even Stanley, great ball player that he is, fell in with the push.

The error column doesn't half express the ghastly work. The blunders were of the sort that the yellow column was not built to contain. But an idea of the weird playing can be got from the fact that the locals scored six runs on one lone little single.

Wilson pitched as well as he usually does, and the Pelicans secured three singles so far apart that they were practically useless.

Kelly was himself again, but the New Orleans team never kicks and the locals had no reason to expostulate.

Tommy Stouch was doing business at his old stand and did it in jam-up style. His one error was excusable and his fast, accurate work cut off several hits. Busch received peremptory orders yesterday morning to report to Chattanooga immediately. He played in the game against Memphis yesterday afternoon and, according to the press dispatch, did star work.

The New Orleans team was in crippled condition. Herbert, regular outfielder, was forced to go behind the bat, Abbott, with his broken finger, was at short stop, Lauzon, in right field, had a split digit, and Stafford was not in condition to play the game he usually puts up.

The First Game.

New Orleans began the run getting in the second inning. After Bennett had been retired on strikes, "Big Bob" Stafford singled to left field, and scored on Abbott's three-bagger to right. Abbott's bingle was in reality worth only two bases, but Winters and Delehanty were slow in fielding the ball. Stouch dropped Herbert's fly after a hard try for it and Abbott tallied. Lauzon followed with a double over third base and came home from second. Gallagher fanned and Montgomery, who, by the way, caught on the Atlanta team in 1898, ended the inning by flying out to center field.

In the fifth the locals deuced the score. Streit was sent to the bench by Bennett and Stafford, but Fred Frank got in a corking triple to right and scored on Taylor's single in the same direction. Winters forced Taylor out at second, securing first on the deal. Valdois singled past second base and Hoff walked, filling the bases. Hurlburt was at the bat and like Orderly Bill Anthony he "seen his duty and he done it." A ripping single over the second bag brought in Winters and Valdois. Hurlburt over-ran first base on the play and was declared out by Kelly, retiring the side.

Montgomery's double, a stolen base and Hurlburt's bad throw to third gave the Birdies an advantage of one run in the seventh and in the ninth Frank misjudged and dropped Lauzon's long fly to left, the tall Pelican getting to second. Gallagher went to first on four bad ones and both runners moved up on Montgomery's hot liner to first, which was stopped by Hoffmeister and pitched to Stouch, who made the put out. Nice work. Atz cleared the bases with his triple and scored on Stanley's red hot bounder to third which Taylor stopped in great shape.

The Detailed Score.

The figures indicate the superior game the Birdies played:

Summary—Earned runs, New Orleans 2, Atlanta, 2; two-base hits, Valdois, Montgomery, Lauzon, Gallagher; three base hits, Frank, Atz, Abbott; sacrifice hit, Delehanty; stolen base, Montgomery; double plays, Stouch to Hoffmeister, Atz to Abbott to Stafford, Abbott to Stafford to Bennett; struck out by Streit 6 (Stanley, Bennett 2, Stafford, Gallagher 2), by Stanley 4 (Frank, Hoffmeister, Stouch, Delehanty); bases on balls by Streit 3 (Atz, Lauzon, Gallagher), by Stanley 6 (Winters, Hoffmeister 2, Stouch 2, Henley); hit by pitcher by Stanley 1 (Streit). Time of game, 1:45. Umpire, J. J. Kelly.

The Second Game.

In New Orleans' half of the first inning Frank made a superb catch of Stanley's short fly. Nothing else doing.

In the latter half the locals made three runs. Frank profited by Stanley's wildness to the extent of four balls and immediately stole second. Fred scored on Taylor's single to left. Winters sacrificed, sending Billy to second and Valdois scored him on his double to center. Hurlburt's timely two-bagger brought Valdois home.

An attempt to relate the second inning in detail would be inhospitable to the visitors. Atlanta got six runs on one hit, a sacrifice and a few generous contributions by the Pelicans.

Kelly called the game in the fifth, to the relief of the 2,000 spectators.

The Detailed Score.

Frank's record is remarkable. He scored two runs, yet according to the scoring rules was not at bat:

Busch and Leighton with Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 5.—Chattanooga won because the team hit when hits meant runs. At times they played a ragged fielding game, but the errors were not costly. Busch, Leighton and Donnelly, three new men, were in the game and showed up well. Attendance 2,500. Score:

Hams Best the Pirates.

Birmingham, Ala., September 5.—Shreveport found Campbell a puzzle today, and one of the two runs made by the visitors was on errors. Birmingham hit Fisher when hits were needed and won with ease. Gettig was injured by a hard hit ball in the fourth inning and had to retire. Attendance 800. Score:

Little Rock 13, Nashville 6.

Nashville, Tenn., September 5.—Little Rock and Nashville engaged in a slugging match today, of which the visitors enjoyed the long end. They batted Hill all over the lot and Damman, who relieved him, received the same treatment. Nashville found Guese an easy mark, but failed to do anything after Watt succeeded him. Pat Wright duplicated his performance of yesterday by lifting one over the right field fence. Attendance 2,000. Score:

Anniston Defeats Rome.

Anniston, Ala., September 5.—(Special.) Anniston proved too much for Rome, Ga., this afternoon in a well played game, notwithstanding the fact that Anniston had pitchers filling first base and outfield positions. Lighton, Shaw and Donnelly have been loaned to the Chattanooga Southern League team to finish the season, but will be with Anniston next season. The feature of the game today was the fast playing of the entire Anniston team, and especially Segars in center field, who made several pretty catches. The score was:

Blackshear 10, Patterson 3.

Blackshear, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—In a prettily played game on the local diamond Blackshear defeated Patterson today by a score of 10 to 3. The feature of the game was the playing of Harper at first and a home run by Eaves, both of the local team.

Exceedingly low rate Atlanta to Old Point Comfort, Va., and return, $12; tickets on sale Sept. 11, good ten days, via Seaboard Air Line Railway, via Richmond or Portsmouth.

GAME AT DECATUR TODAY.

Scottdale Will Play the W. and A. Team This Afternoon at 4 O'Clock.

CHILDREN ADMITTED FREE.

Manager Peter Invites All School Children To Attend Last Local Game Today.

The last game of the Southern League campaign in Atlanta in 1902 will be played this afternoon.

The game will be called at 2:45 o'clock in order to allow both teams to catch a train for New Orleans.

Manager Peter will admit all school children to the game free of charge and will mass them on the seats south of the grand stand. A host of the youngsters will undoubtedly take advantage of the generosity of Mr. Peter.

An unusually large crowd of the fans is expected to attend the finale of the season.

Either Henley or Baker will pitch for the locals and Adams or Dannehower will be in the box for the Pelicans.

LORD DERBY AND THE MONK LOSE TO JOHN A. M'KERRON

Cleveland, Ohio, September 5.—At Glenville this afternoon John A. McKerron placed the Boston challenge cup in permanent possession of the Gentlemen's Driving Club. He rather easily out-raced his pair of rivals, Lord Derby and The Monk, being a straight heat winner. Lord Derby drew the pole and rushed to the half in 1:02 1-2. McKerron traveled the second quarter in thirty seconds and caught up. An opening showed itself and he was pushed in next to the rail. He worked up even to the Derby horse. Half way down the stretch Lord Derby made a tiring break and McKerron jogged home. The Monk had given up just after the half had been paced. McKerron was allowed to set the pace at the start of the second heat and at the half Lord Derby moved out and set sail for the leader. He had caught, but broke again at the time when he had his only chance to win.

The pacing cup also stays in Cleveland, as Ananias outraced Fred S. Wedgewood, while Shadow Chimes could not pace at all. New York horses got away with the majority of the light class events that were decided. Summary:

2:10 trotting: Louise Jefferson, b. m., by Jefferson (Billings), won; Mabel Onward, b. m. (Jones), second; Joe Watts, ch. g. (Donnelly), third; Double D. fourth. Best time 2:12 1-2.

2:14 trotting: Ida Highwood, b. m., by Highwood (Smathers), won; Peko, b. m. (Devereux), second; Alberta D, c. m. (Otis), third. Temple Wilkes, Judge Cullen, Rubber finished as named. Best time 2:12 1-4.

2:22 trotting: Miss Dean, won; Sir George, second; Leonora, third; Dommant, fourth; Susie K, fifth; Persia, sixth. Best time 2:12 1-4.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Oscar Streit, who is a native of Birmingham, pitched for the University of Alabama nine some years ago, and a brother of Ed Hurlburt was on the same team.

Billy Taylor by fast base running beat out a hit yesterday. Taylor is one of the few men on the local team who run out every play, and more than once he has reached first by his speed. Other members apparently stop to see if there is any chance of their getting out of running all the way to the initial bag.

"Big Chief" Norcum, of the Pirates, sprained his ankle at Nashville Monday while engaged in his favorite occupation of stealing bases.

The Nashville papers are throwing ecstatic spasms over the prospects of winning the pennant again this year.

Kennedy, of the Nashville team, is reported as saying that old Lem Bailey is the best pitcher in the Southern League. The sarcastic inflection of Kennedy's voice was evidently missed by the reporter.

Jimmie Smith, the fast shortstop of the Pelicans, is out of the game. Smith is very ill as the result of being prostrated by the heat in a recent game.

Busch's recall by the Chattanooga management is regretted by all the local fans, as well as the team. The "kid" has been playing great baseball and is a prime favorite on account of his modest, unassuming demeanor.

The American League race is the greatest in the history of major league baseball. The first four teams are so closely bunched that the result of a day's play works wondrous changes in the standing.

Waddell, the eccentric but effective pitcher, whose work on the slab for the Athletics of Philadelphia has brought that team sharply to the front as a pennant-winning probability, is said to have been discovered by Tom Loftus, now manager of the Washington team of the American League.

Seven or eight years ago Loftus was manager of the Columbus, Ohio, team in the Western League. A drummer who had seen Waddell play in a village game in southern Ohio urged Loftus to secure him, which he did, and it was under his coaching that the new player developed into what is technically known as a "phenom."

In a very short time he was cutting down the batting averages of all the minor league hitters. He had all the curves and twisters known to the star pitchers, and a few of his own invention. His control of the ball became almost absolute in a season or two. His fame grew steadily, and he became a picturesque figure on many diamonds. He pitched wonderful ball for Columbus, Louisville, Pittsburg, Milwaukee and Chicago, and is doing the same this season for the Athletics.

His antics on the field gained him the name of "Rube." At one game in Columbus he struck out three men, one following the other, and when the crowd cheered he doffed his cap with a wide sweep and turned a series of back somersaults from the pitcher's box to the players' bench. He is fond of applause, and frequently walks across the field for apparently no other reason than to excite the admiration of the crowd, in which he is always successful. In his last game in Chicago he "performed" whenever occasion offered.

After one of his mysterious disappearances while playing in a minor league he suddenly reappeared during the game and took a seat in the grandstand. He watched the play until the fifth inning, and, seeing that his club was being beaten, jumped out of his seat, over the railing on to the field and declared that he was there to "save the game." Without more ado he began taking off his clothes, was hustled to the dressing room and into his uniform—pitched the rest of the game and won it.—Daily America.

CLUB MEN PLAY CHEMICALS.

Atlanta Athletic Club Nine Will Meet Virginia-Carolina Team Today.

The Atlanta Athletic Club baseball team will close its successful season by playing the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company nine at Brisbine park this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

With Griffin in the box the clubmen have one of the strongest amateur teams in the state and are prepared to make it warm for the Chemicals. Captain Reynolds Tichenor has developed his team wonderfully since the opening of the season and the veterans play together now like a professional team. On the team are Tichenor, Walton Clarke and Jim Dougherty, all old University of Georgia stars, and Wayne Moore, who was of the Tech team when Henley piloted the smithies to so many victories.

The Chemicals have strengthened their team greatly and seem to be confident of wiping out the former defeat by the clubmen.

GOOD HENO WINS REAPERS STAKES

Also Smashes Track Record for Mile and Three Sixteenths.

ONLY TWO FAVORITES WIN

Big Gun and Mabel Winn Reward the Form Players—First Chip, Quoted at 40 to 1, Surprises the Talent by Winning.

New York, September 5.—Heno, running in the green and orange of W. S. Fanshawe, his new owner, won the Reapers' stakes at Sheepshead Bay today and also smashed the track record for 1 3-16 miles, running the distance in 1:59 2-5, which is two-fifths off the old record. John A. Drake's Runnells opened and closed favorite, while 2 1-2 to 1 was laid against Heno.

Big Gun and Mabel Winn were the only winning favorites. Mabel Winn, the winner of the fifth race, was bid up to $3,000, an advance of $2,100 over her entered selling price. John Dubois secured her for that figure. The weather was clear and the track fast. Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Mile and three-quarters over seven hurdles on the turf: Big Gun, 158 (Mars), 8 to 5, won; Ohnet, 140 (Gallagher), 15 to 1, second; Collegian, 135 (Fry), 30 to 1, third. Time 3:21. Seminole, Black Smith, Marothen, The Lost Chord, Gascar, Hops, Silver Twist, Charawind, Dartman, Cryptogram and Inkerman ran. Inkerman broke down. Dartman and Cryptogram coupled.

AT HARLEM

JOE FREY DIDN'T SHOW AND WAS PROMPTLY BARRED

Chicago, September 5.—Joe Frey, the best horse in the stable of John Schorr, which finished third to John Bright and McChesney in the Northern handicap some days ago, has been barred from future entries at the Harlem track on account of a questionable showing made in the second race today. The horse was a favorite, but finished fourth, beaten off. The track was lightning fast; weather clear; attendance large. Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Five furlongs: Joe Buckley, 110 (Winkfield), even, won; Maxette, 96 (McIntyre), 12 to 1, second; Florestan, 106 (Hoar), 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:01 3-5. Adirondack, Almaric, Marco, San Sargosso, Zepho, Vestia and Wilton ran.

SECOND RACE—Six and a half furlongs: Duelist, 109 (R. Williams), 9 to 1, won; Rag Tag, 106 (Mathews), 10 to 1, second; Money Muss, 109 (Helgeson), 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:19 3-5. Joe Frey, L'Etrienne, Gonfalon, Zyria and Moabina ran.

IN SKIRMISH MATCH GUARDSMEN SHOOT

Second Regiment, District of Columbia, Is Victorious.

VERY SPECTACULAR EVENT

Large Number of Persons Witnessed the Work of the Skirmishers at Sea Girt—Leuschner, of New York, Wins Leech Cup Match.

Rifle Range, Sea Girt, N. J., September 5.—The last day but one of the big interstate shooting tournament was devoted to firing in the skirmish team match and the Leech cup match.

The former was won by the Second regiment, District of Columbia, team with a total of 280 out of a possible 300.

William F. Leuschner, of New York, proved the victor in the Leech cup match, his total being 59 out of a possible 75. Prior to today this match had not been shot since 1882.

The skirmish team match was the most spectacular event of the meet and was watched with interest by a large number of spectators. Each team captain directed the firing of his team, under the supervision of a range officer. The targets used were silhouette, arranged by placing a kneeling figure on the right flank of the line of figures, followed by a standing and then a lying figure, repeating this arrangement until there were as many groups as there were competitors on the team. The figures were at equal intervals, that between the centers of any two consecutive standing figures being 3 yards; adjacent figures, 1 yard between centers.

Each competitor fired fifteen shots, 600 to 200 yards and back, there being seven halts. The advance of each team was at quick time until a distance of about 500 yards from the targets was reached, when a halt was ordered and one volley fired; for this volley the competitors took the kneeling position. For the firing the rifles were loaded from the belt and not until the halt had been ordered. The advance was then resumed, first at quick and then at double time, until a distance of about 400 yards from the targets had been reached, when a halt was ordered and two volleys fired, as before, the competitors for this volley taking the prone positions. In a similar manner the advance was continued, three volleys being fired at about 300 yards and three volleys at about 200 yards, the prone position.

The retreat was then ordered and conducted in the same order as the advance. After the last volley each team continued on to the 600 yards firing point and assembled. The targets were next examined and the hits recorded. The aggregate value of all the hits in all the figures was the score for the team.

The time allowance was fifteen minutes from the time each team left the 600 yards firing point until the return to that point, which time was taken by a range officer detailed for that purpose.

The principal contest of tomorrow's programme is the president's match for the military championship of the United States. Nine prizes have been provided.

MEDAL SHOOT YESTERDAY.

W. J. Sims and L. J. Anderson Make Clean Scores at Piedmont Park.

The medal shoot of the Gate City Gun Club was held yesterday afternoon and was a great success in every way.

The best shots of the city were entered, and the contest for the trophy was warm. W. J. Sims and L. J. Anderson tied, each making a clean score. The tie will be decided by the two contestants in a match to be held next Tuesday at Piedmont park.

H. D. Freeman, the crack shot of the Gate City club, has been added to the Atlanta team of five men who will meet the Monroe team September 10. Freeman will replace Hollie Thompson.

Following were the best of the scores made yesterday:

C. Harris, 42; W. O. Conway, 43; G. Thomas, 44; H. D. Freeman, 40; J. W. Boone, 40; Benson, 44; Dr. Willett, 40; S. C. Little, 39; J. H. Doyle, 46; W. J. Sims, 50; N. A. Lanford, 40; J. C. Kilparick, 40; Dr. Carnes, 49; A. L. Dunn, 39; L. J. Anderson, 50; Jack Jones, 44.

All contestants shot at fifty targets.

Paine's Celery Compound

Permanently Cures Sick and Nervous Headaches That Make Life Miserable.

Sick and nervous headaches are amongst the worst ills of life. The man or woman who is subject to headache at irregular intervals goes through life bearing a load of misery and wretchedness that is terrible to think of.

Headaches, as a rule, result from a disordered condition of the nervous system. Mental excitement, loss of sleep, bodily fatigue and disordered digestion are exciting causes. When the brain becomes tired and debilitated, the whole nervous system is weakened, and headaches result. If the liver is sluggish, the kidneys inactive and digestion deranged, headaches invariably follow. To cure and prevent headache, the nervous system must be strengthened and vitalized. The most persistent cases of headache, nervous feebleness and sleeplessness are permanently cured by Paine's Celery Compound; it is the great reconstructant of the nervous system. Mrs. Henry Westrick, of St. Clair, Mich., tells of her release from suffering as follows:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia and sick headache for a number of years. About every week I would have a bad spell of sick headache, but since I began using Paine's Celery Compound my dyspepsia is gone, and I do not have any more headaches. I feel better than I have for years."

REPUBLICANS MAY HAVE FULL TICKET

Committee Thinks Time Ripe for Putting Out Candidates.

NO NOMINATIONS WERE MADE

Harmony Prevailed at Meeting Yesterday—Subcommittee Appointed To Consider Question of Candidates and Report to Adjourned Meeting.

It now seems probable that the republicans will place candidates in the field for congress from this district, for representatives of Fulton county in the state legislature, and for all county offices.

A meeting of the Fulton county executive committee was held in the Odd Fellows hall on Piedmont avenue yesterday morning, at which a resolution was passed stating that it was the sense of the committee that candidates be put in the field for all offices.

Twenty-two of the thirty-seven members of the committee were present, and the meeting is described as having been a love feast of harmony and good feeling. A number of short talks were made by different members of the committee. H. L. Johnson, the well-known negro lawyer, who is chairman of the committee, presided.

After the passage of the resolution a subcommittee was appointed to make investigations as to suitable candidates. This subcommittee will report to an adjourned meeting of the executive committee next Friday, at which time the matter will be fully considered.

If the subcommittee reports that it considers the time ripe for the launching of a republican ticket, and that it has secured a full list of acceptable nominees, a mass meeting or county convention of republicans will be called, at which the candidates for the various offices will be formally nominated and the campaign inaugurated.

The subcommittee which is to have charge of the selection of candidates is composed of District Attorney E. A. Angier, Postmaster E. L. Blodgett, L. J. Price, Dr. William A. Auten and Collector of Internal Revenues H. A. Rucker. All the members of the subcommittee, with the exception of Dr. Auten, were present at the meeting.

WILL NOT CALL A MEETING.

Councilman Key Wanted Council To Consider Crematory Matter—Called Meeting Not Necessary.

Councilman James L. Key yesterday morning held a conference with Mayor Mims and requested the mayor to call a special meeting of the city council to sift the crematory matter, the councilman being under the impression that the board of health would let the contract on September 10 for the disposition of the city's garbage.

Mayor Mims stated yesterday afternoon that he would not call a special meeting, as it was unnecessary; that the board of health has postponed the letting of the contract until October 10. Both the city council and the board of health meet before that date, and for this reason the mayor considered it useless for him to call an earlier session of council.

Councilman Key states that he is of the opinion there should be a more definite verdict rendered as to the crematory, as there seems to be some dissatisfaction in certain quarters. He is, therefore, in favor of another investigation. He says that if the crematory people are not complying with their contract it should not be given them again.

Electric Bitters are the surprise of all for their wonderful work in Liver, Kidney and Stomach troubles. Don't fail to try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction is guaranteed by all druggists.

WERE SECRETLY MARRIED.

West End Couple Gave Their Friends Great Surprise by Announcement Yesterday.

Announcement was made yesterday of the secret marriage of Howard L. Waters and Miss Rosalee Cherry, both of West End. The marriage took place in College Park on March 7, 1902, and has been kept a profound secret until yesterday.

Neither the parents nor the closest friends of the contracting parties had the slightest suspicion that they were married, and the greatest surprise was created yesterday when they decided to make public the fact that they are man and wife.

Mr. Waters is an employee of the Woodward Lumber Company. Both he and Mrs. Waters have lived in West End for a number of years and are well known in that part of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Waters will be at home to their friends at 122 Park street.

FASTER TIME TO SOUTH GEORGIA

New Mail Train Will Benefit Southwestern Section of State.

TRAIN VIA MONTGOMERY TO BEAT PRESENT SCHEDULE

Brunswick and Birmingham Buying Equipment — Passenger Men Here Yesterday—Other News Concerning Railways and Railway Men.

One result of the inauguration of the new fast mail train between New York and New Orleans that will mean much to Atlanta will be the quickened service between Atlanta and Bainbridge, Thomasville and other southwestern Georgia points via Montgomery.

It will then be possible for Atlantans to reach these points within twelve hours and with only one change of cars, at Montgomery, while at the present time the trip requires fifteen hours and involves changes of cars at Macon, Smithville and Albany for Thomasville, and changes at Macon, Smithville, Albany and Thomasville for Bainbridge.

This improvement in service will mean much to Atlanta merchants and will doubtless enable them to regain much of the trade that has been diverted to Montgomery and New Orleans on account of the inconvenient schedules maintained between Atlanta and southwest Georgia points by the Central of Georgia.

It will in all probability result in much better service over the Central, as that road will have to do something to maintain this traffic. After the inauguration of this train, passengers for points in the extreme southwestern section of the state will not be long in learning the difference between a ride on a limited train to Montgomery and a daylight change to another limited, and the present service involving midnight changes at Macon and Smithville, together with the three hours' wait at Macon at the unusually interesting period between 12 o'clock and 3 in the morning.

A prominent railroad man, in speaking yesterday of the fight being made by the chamber of commerce for better service to southwest Georgia, said:

"I am glad that the chamber of commerce has taken this matter up, and I certainly hope that they will succeed in their efforts. Only a man who has to visit these points frequently can appreciate the difficulties that beset travel to southwest Georgia.

"If a man wishes to visit a point below Columbus and west of the Georgia Southern and Florida, he has to take his choice between an all-day ride on trains that below Macon stop at every flag station and a night ride without the accommodation of through sleepers and the necessity of frequent changes at very uncanny hours.

"If the chamber of commerce succeeds in winning its fight it will receive the thanks of every man who has to travel to southwest Georgia from Atlanta. In that section of the state there are many growing cities whose people recognize their natural relation to Atlanta and desire convenient schedules to this city. They will join Atlanta in the effort to get them."

Spikes and Cinders.

The Brunswick and Birmingham railroad on yesterday had shipped from Atlanta forty of its new flat cars recently purchased from the American Equipment Company at Atlanta. This is a part of an order for 400 cars recently purchased by the Brunswick and Birmingham. The remainder of the order will be shipped at the rate of fifty cars per month.

General Passenger Agent W. L. Danley, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis; General Passenger Agent J. C. Haile, of the Central of Georgia, and General Passenger Agent W. J. Craig, of the Atlantic Coast Line, were in Atlanta yesterday attending a committee meeting in the offices of the Southeastern Passenger Association.

The general freight offices of the Southern will in all probability be opened in Atlanta on September 28. Work will be begun Monday in tearing down the partitions and arranging the offices that the department will occupy on the third floor of the Equitable building.

H. F. Cary, of Jacksonville, district passenger agent for the Southern in charge of its Florida business, was in Atlanta yesterday.

G. F. Fletcher has been appointed soliciting freight agent for the Seaboard Air Line, with headquarters at Wilmington, N. C. The appointment was effective September 1.

J. G. Worrall, of Cincinnati, commercial agent at that point for the International and Great Northern, was in the city yesterday.

The Southeastern Passenger Association has announced a rate of one fare for the round trip from all points in the association's territory to Macon on account of the annual meeting of the farmers' national congress, October 7-10.

A special return trip rate of $22.95 has been announced from Atlanta to New York, to be effective during the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Washington. Tickets will be sold October 3-6, with October 15 final limit for return.

E. M. Bronson, of Cincinnati, general southern passenger agent for the Pennsylvania lines, was in Atlanta yesterday.

W. B. Terhune has arrived in the city from Houston and will at once take up his duties as soliciting freight agent for the West Point Route.

W. B. Tucker, of Orlando, Fla., general manager of the Tavares and Gulf, was in Atlanta yesterday.

The following comparative statement as to earnings has been issued by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis:

For month of August, 1902	$735,408.77
Corresponding month last year	651,019.13
Increase	$84,389.64
July 1, 1901, to September 1, 1902	$1,471,655.89
Corresponding period last year	1,276,224.28
Increase	$195,431.61

Philadelphia, September 5.—The annual report of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company for the year ended June 30, 1902, which will be submitted to the meeting of the stockholders at Roanoke, Va., on October 9, was made public today. The total earnings for the year were $17,552,204, an increase of $1,373,136. The operating expenses were $10,136,227; increase $550,470; net $7,415,977; increase $1,022,665. The surplus over fixed charges is $5,123,094; increase $929,216.

To pay the dividend of 4 per cent on the preferred stock $916,014 was used and $1,289,384 was disbursed to pay the dividend of 2 per cent on the common. The sum of $2,500,000 was devoted to the betterment fund, and the deficiency of interest on the Pocahontas bonds amounted to $161,229. There was added to the credit of the profit and loss account $182,075.

Louisville, Ky., September 5.—The investigation of the alleged merger of the Southern and the Louisville and Nashville, which was begun the first of this week by the Kentucky railroad commission, was continued today. President Milton H. Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, was called upon to give testimony. He occupied the entire morning session and a greater portion of the afternoon, but the members of the commission refused to give out any statement regarding the nature of his evidence.

Attilla Cox, president of the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis and a director in the Louisville and Nashville, was also summoned before the committee this afternoon. State Attorney General Pratt was present at the sessions of the board and assisted in questioning the witnesses.

Edward McClannahan, of San Antonio, Tex., city ticket agent at that point for the Southern Pacific, passed through Atlanta yesterday en route to Washington, where he will spend a vacation of several weeks.

Louisville, Ky., September 5.—E. W. Porter, F. M. Crump and I. A. Post, members of the Memphis cotton exchange, who were in conference here today with the representatives of several railways in the south regarding the routing of cotton out of the Memphis territory, left for home tonight. While none of those present at the meeting would talk, it is known that the Memphis shippers gained concessions. One of the Memphis committee said they would make a report to the exchange, but it would not be ready for several days. The committee was evidently pleased at the outcome of the meeting.

Macon, Ga., September 5.—The Southeastern Passenger Association has granted an extension of ten days to delegates to the Farmers' National Congress, to be held in Macon next October, so that the tickets will be good until October 20, thus enabling the delegates to make excursions in Georgia.

DETECTIVES FIND MISSING LAUNCH

Boat Mysteriously Disappeared from East Lake a Month Ago.

DENNIS BOUGHT IT FOR $2

Said He Bought It from a Man Named Howard—Had a Regular Bill of Sale—Street Car Company Will Try To Recover It.

When the city detectives have to investigate the alleged stealing of a whole steamboat they have a pretty big job on their hands, and yet that is what Detective Steint and Detective Simpson have had to do, and what is more, they have found the steamboat.

A month ago the steam launch in East Lake mysteriously disappeared. It was floating gracefully in the lake one evening and the next evening it was gone.

A quiet search was made for the launch but it was not found. It was thought that the person who took it would have a hard time concealing such a large, heavy and cumbersome piece of booty, but he did so very successfully.

The matter was reported to the city detectives and Simpson and Steint worked on the case several days. Yesterday morning they found the missing launch and the man who had taken it from East Lake.

Virgil Dennis, a mechanic, had the launch safely stored away. He admitted having it when approached by the officers, and said he had bought it and paid for it. The amount paid was only $2, rather a small price for a steam launch.

But Dennis showed a receipt from Charlie Howard, a young man who had had charge of East Lake, and it called for $2, and stated that it was the price paid for the steam launch.

Howard, however, had no right to dispose of the launch, so the street car company, which claims to own it, states.

The detectives say that Dennis cannot be prosecuted, as his bill of sale is regular and they believe he bought the launch in good faith, although the small price paid for it might have roused his suspicions.

Howard, who sold the launch, is out of the city and cannot be located.

The street car company will take steps to recover the launch and it may soon again be riding pleasure seekers across the lake.

CLUB HOUSE NEARLY READY.

New Quarters of the Atlanta Athletic Club Will Be Occupied October 1.

The house committee of the Atlanta Athletic Club yesterday announced that the new club house being erected on Auburn avenue would be ready for occupancy on October 1.

The new quarters of the club will afford space for a bowling alley, a billiard and pool room, reading and smoking rooms, a large gymnasium and a swimming pool. The Athletic club is in a prosperous condition and had outgrown the Edgewood avenue house. A large number of names is on the waiting list and the membership will approach the 500 mark by November.

The usual indoor winter sports will be continued at the club and it is probable that the success of the baseball team this summer will result in a crack football team this fall. There is a wealth of fine material in the club for a team.

FOR SALE--No. 403 FRASER ST.

PRICE $1,600.

This is a neat, nearly new, two story 6-room house, just beyond the Fraser Street school. The lot is 36x160, fronting east and running back to an alley.

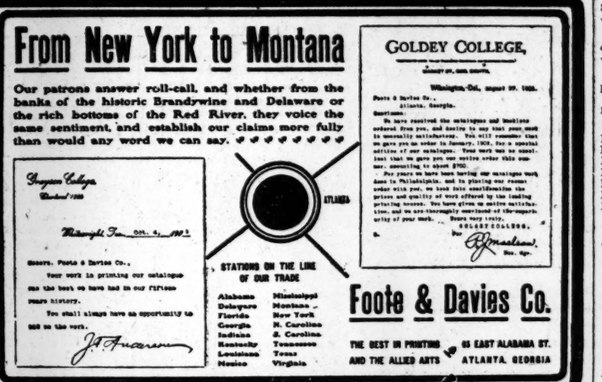

The property is clean and attractive; in strictly white neighborhood; it has been occupied by one tenant for five years and is in perfect order and repair.

We can sell the property for $1,600, payable $100 cash and $15 a month with 7 per cent interest. The titles are perfect, being a mortgage foreclosure.

PRINCE ALERT THE WINNER.

He Defeats Anaconda in the Special at Cheerter Oak.

Hartford, Conn., September 5.—The grand circuit races at Charter Oak park ended today, the postponed events of Thursday being embodied in today's programme, making six races.

The feature of the day was the special race between Prince Alert and Anaconda for a purse of $3,000, winner to take all. It was contested in three heats, Prince Alert winning the first and third heats and the money. In the first heat Anaconda was headed all the way around the ring, Dickerson making a bid for the heat in the last quarter, but without avail. The second heat was a big surprise to the betting fraternity. The horses got away after scoring twice, and when half way up the stretch Dickerson began driving with Anaconda and he quickly passed Prince Alert, winning by over a length. This performance won rounds of applause from all sides. Upon request of Mr. Demerst, Curry was placed behind Prince Alert in the third heat. Soon after the horses got away Anaconda went to the front and maintained this position all the way around until the stretch was reached, when Prince Alert let out a kink and came up even. Then for a time the horses traveled as if being driven as a pair. Inch by inch Prince Alert gained on his plucky rival and when the wire was Prince Alert's sulky. This race was one of the best of the week. Prince was the reached Anaconda's nose was lapping favorite in the betting. The time for the first heat was 2:03 1-4; second, 2:04; third, 2:04 1-2.

In the 2:16 pace Dandy Chimes was the favorite and took the first two heats in easy fashion, but Schley Pointer took the three remaining heats.

First race, 2:14 pace, purse $1,500: Bedworth won three straight heats and race; Junius second; Little Sphynx third. Best time, 2:07 3-4.

2:22 trot, purse $1,500: Wilton Boy won three straight heats and race; Saytell second; Daisy third. Best time, 2:16 3-4.

2:09 pace, purse $1,500: Major Delmar won three straight heats and race; Lord Vincent second; Border third. Best time, 2:09 3-4.

2:13 pace, purse $1,500: Prince Direct won three straight heats and race; Olive Wood second; Home Circle third. Best time, 2:08.

2:16 pace, purse $3,000: Schley Pointer won third, fourth and fifth heats and race; Dandy Chimes second, taking first and second heats; Miss Wilamont third. Best time, 2:08 1-2.

FAMOUS BLACK IMP IS SOLD.

She Is Knocked Down to F. A. Tipton for $4,100.

New York, September 5.—The estate of D. H. Harness, which includes Imp and several yearlings, the property of various owners, were sold at Sheepshead Bay today. The black mare Imp, by Imp. Wagner-Fondling, of course, was the star, and after some lively bidding was knocked down to F. A. Tipton for $4,100. The half brother to Imp, a bay colt by Imp, Top Gallant-Fondling, was sold to S. S. Brown for $3,200. Imp's dam, Fondling, by Fonso-Kitty Herron, brought $1,700. Captain S. S. Brown was the purchaser. Imp will be shipped to J. E. Madden's Hamburg place in Kentucky to be bred to Mirthful. The other sales were:

B. c. by Imp. Wagner-Linnia, J. A. Drake, $1,000; ch. c. by Falsetto or Henry Young-Sunshade, Newton stable, $760; b. c. by Imp. Top Gallant-Occula, P. Belmont, $1,600; b. c. by Imp Wagner-Undecided, A. Warserman, $800; ch. f. by Imp. Wagner-Little Carpenter, P. Belmont, $800; b. c. by The Pepper-Salvia, W. C. Rollins, $1,000; Petit Bleu, 2-year-old br. f. by Imp. Pontiac-Alacrity, A. Garson, $800.

TO DISCUSS FOOTBALL GAME.

Students and Residents of Sewanee Meet Tonight.

Sewanee, Tenn., September 5.—(Special.) The management of the football team announces that instead of playing the University of Mississippi here on October 10 that Sewanee will play the University of Texas at Dallas, and that Cumberland university has signed a contract to play here October 21. This gives Sewanee as hard a schedule as she has had in several years.

A mass meeting of the students and the residents of the mountain has been called for Saturday night to mark the opening of the football season and to arouse enthusiasm. From the current talk among the students the meeting will be well attended, and the evening bids fair to be successful. Several speeches will be made by speakers from among the faculty and students, including the captain, Mr. Phillips, of Atlanta.

Practice begins promptly Monday afternoon, when the team will be met by Larry W. Boynton, their coach. They will get immediately to work under this gentleman and begin to fit themselves for their work this fall.

Despite the fact that the 'varsity has lost Simkins, Cope, Watkins and Anderson, there are ten "8" men who will be out, and a promising number of new men, and the outlook is most favorable—so favorable that the team will emulate the '99 team and try to come back from the Thanksgiving game at Nashville with no games lost during the entire season.

At the regular meeting of the St. Paul's Missionary Society last night the Philippine islands were discussed. G. W. R. Cadman spoke of the political phases of the islands and T. A. Cheatham spoke on the religious side. The discussion following was of great interest.

Sanders Sold to St. Louis.

Nashville, Tenn., September 5.—Ward Sanders, the left-handed pitcher on the Nashville team, has been sold to the National League team of St. Louis. The price is conditioned upon the showing Sanders makes next season.

The Trade Situation.

New York, September 5.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

All available data confirm reports of past good trade and foreshadow as good or better yet to come. It has been essentially a week of active buying in distributive trade, and sellers have occupied an enviable position. Reports as to August trade have been almost uniformly favorable, and the records of failures show business mortality to have been confined to a low summer minimum. Prices show persistent strength despite the fact that agricultural products, except corn and prime cattle, tend lower, owing to the growing strength of raw textiles and other materials for manufacture. Corn is not yet out of danger from frost in the northern half of the belt and this, coupled with short supplies, imparts strength to cereals generally. Reports of cotton crop deterioration, caused by hot, dry weather, have scared shorts and stiffened values of raw and manufactured cotton, but there is a feeling that the crop damage talk has been overdone and that a liberal yield is still possible, though active trade is expected to demand all available supplies of the south's leading product. Rather less disturbance is noted in labor matters, some strikes having been declared off. The anthracite trouble still hangs over the situation, but the volume of coal shipments is slowly and steadily increasing. Some wage advances are noted in widely separated lines. Collections in the north and west are uniformly good, but while some improvement is noted in the south, room for betterment still exists. Jobbing activity is undiminished at the west, northwest and southwest and it is of satisfactory volume at the east. Dry goods, shoes, millinery, drugs, hardware, groceries, clothing and lumber figure actively in the demand. Leather sales are large at the west, but high hide prices discourage tanning.

At the east the advance in cotton is stimulating the cotton goods market.

Good reorders are noted in woolen goods, but spring goods are meeting most attention. Silk goods are strong and prices are very firm.

Eastern shoe factories are well employed, although the complaint of small profit continues. Wool is 3c higher and tends up, as stocks are not large.

Eastern railroads and steamships report an unprecedented business, resulting from returning summer travel.

The fuel shortage is pressing iron furnaces, and now the scarcity of cars and motive power is affecting the movement of ore from lake ports to the Pittsburg district. New demand for pig iron is, however, light, primarily because buyers have booked largely ahead. Foundry iron is $1 higher. Heavy lines of iron and steel have cut down premiums on immediate delivery business, but in the scarcity of supplies of domestic, no particular interest is taken in this. Sales of foreign make material are very large. In finished products business in rails, bars and sheets is fair and mills are heavily sold ahead. Tin plates and wire mills are quiet, but a better business is looked for soon with the growth in fall trade. Hardware is apparently as active as ever. Copper is slightly firmer, while tin is lower.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending September 4, aggregate 6,276,299 bushels, against 5,436,530 last week, 4,406,064 in this week last year and 3,373,100 in 1900. Wheat exports since July 1 aggregate 44,657,596 bushels, against 61,665,682 last season and 30,317,851 in 1900.

Corn exports aggregate 21,196 bushels, against 115,150 last week, 550,876 last year and 3,162,271 in 1900. For the fiscal year exports are 839,839 bushels, against 10,743,845 last season and 35,254,250 in 1900.

Business failures for the week ending September 4 number 133, as against 140 last week, 169 in this week last year, and in Canada for the week 14, as against 20 last week.

Dun's Review.

New York, September 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Steady progress is reported in trade and industry. Distribution of merchandise is heavy and a healthy tone is evident. Prices are well maintained by liberal consumption, which more than neutralizes the effect of enlarged facilities for production. Domestic conditions continue much better than those existing abroad and home trade received more attention than foreign commerce. Farm products have appreciated in value owing to less favorable weather, and producers will be fully compensated for any decrease in quantity by their quotations. Earnings of railways during August were 3.6 per cent larger than a year ago and 18.9 per cent in excess of 1900.

Better deliveries of coke and liberal receipts of foreign material have lessened the pressure in the iron and steel industry, and the situation is a little less congested, while quotations in a few lines have weakened. Domestic demands are not decreasing, much new business having been placed and home consumption will continue to call for imports on a large scale. Each week brings out new records of coke output, the upper and lower Connelsville regions together having surpassed 300,000 tons, and the holidays gave the railroads an opportunity to relieve the congestion. Unless rapid progress is made before the close of lake navigation, less than two months hence, the situation will become serious. New plants are being added to the productive capacity as rapidly as possible, but in railroad equipment, especially steel rails, orders are already placed for much of next year.

Quotations of footwear are fully maintained at the recent advance. It is noteworthy that buying has been heaviest in the finer grades and sample lines of spring styles are also most sought in the good qualities. A good feature is the urgency for quick shipments, indicating that stocks are low. Leather sells freely at the recent advance in quotations, but hides appear to have risen above the views of tanners, resulting in a quiet market.

Advancing raw material aroused much anxiety among purchasers of cotton goods, and there were numerous inquiries for forward contracts, but the volume of business is not materially increased.

Agricultural conditions are less satisfactory, and if the official estimate as to cotton is not exaggerated the yield will not be large enough to sustain consumption at the present rate.

Wheat is coming forward freely, though receipts do not equal the abnormally heavy movement a year ago.

Corn developed strength because of fears that injury would be done by frost, and the movement is very slow compared with last year's figures.
